Suspect Held In Bombing Try At Sheriff Substation

Device Burns, Explodes, In A Marin City Grove

A time bomb apparently intended for the nearly-completed Marin City fire house and sheriff's substation exploded harmlessly last night after a deputy sheriff captured a man allegedly attempting to bring the device into the station.

The bomb, moved to a grove of eucalyptus trees about 30 yards from the building, went off about 10:45 p.m. in a series of about 40 pistol-like reports. It was later found to contain a battery, clock parts and .38-calibre pistol shells.

Approximately 70 families were evacuated from two nearby apartment buildings for two hours by sheriff's deputies and California Highway Patrolmen who also set up roadblocks to keep persons away from the bomb location.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of attempting to bomb a public building with an explosive device, armed burglary and possessing a stolen gun was Eddie Lee Griffin, 21, of San Francisco. He was held in lieu of $25,000 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

San Francisco police said that the gun Griffin had was stolen from special policeman Franklin Bartagliotti, who was slugged by two men near Franklin Hospital in San Francisco last Sept. 9.

Police said Griffin matched the description of one of the men who took the gun from Bartagliotti.

Sheriff's officials said the bomb attempt was thwarted by deputy Raymond T. Rhia, who has acted as night security officer for the unoccupied substation since February when county supervisors ordered it guarded in response to a rumor the building would be burned.

Rhia said he was on duty in the unlighted station about 9 p.m. when he heard a noise at the south side of the building and then caught Griffin crawlunfinished heater vent near a unfinsihed heater vent near a door, dragging a paper sack with him.

After determining the sack contained some kind of explosive device, Rhia arrested Griffin and made him carry the bag away from the station at 850 Drake Avenue, then notified other deputies.

At approximately 10:45 p.m., as deputies and the Army's armed disposal unit from the Presidio stood by, the package ignited and began to go off in spasmodic bursts of pistol fire which lasted for about 25 minutes.

The only damage caused by the bomb was a small grass fire which Marin County firemen quickly extinguished.

The $110,000 firehouse and substation has been under construction since late February and is scheduled for completion around May 10.

San Francisco police said Griffin has an arrest record in that city, but refused to give details of that record.

N. Viet Troops Nearing Quang Tri

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese troops drove government defenders out of the northernmost outpost of Dong Ha today and pushed their offensive toward the city of Quang Tri, eight miles to the south. Field reports said more than 100 North Vietnamese tanks were seen in the Quang Tri area, 10 miles below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

The Communist troops reported on all sides of Quang Tri eased their stranglehold on the city enough today so tens of thousands of refugees could head southward along Highway 1 toward Hue, 35 miles to the south. Scores of the refugees were killed by landmines along the way.

Heavy clouds and rain allowed some of the tanks to move openly, free of attack by U.S. fighter-bombers. But B52s dropped tons of bombs on the troop concentrations and U.S. Cobra helicopter gunships fought air-to-ground duels with tanks which infiltrated southeast of Quang Tri.

Cobras of the 4th Cavalry Regiment have reported knocking out four Soviet-built PT76 amphibious tanks southeast of Quang Tri, but two Cobras were shot down today and three others were damaged. Two Americans were killed in one of the crashes.

The pilots reported tanks four miles southeast of Quang Tri, which meant the North Vietnamese had been able to breach the Cua Viet River defense line which runs eastward from Dong Ha to the South China Sea. They did once before when they launched their offensive on March 30.

Four U.S. destroyers offshore were firing at the Communists at the rate of 60 rounds of fire per hour per ship. Reports in Hue said they had fired 10,000 rounds, but the U.S. Navy said that was an "ureasonable number."

Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan La, commander of South Vietnamese troops in the northern provinces, told newsmen today the Communist threat to Quang Tri was "serious" but that "we can handle it." He conferred in Da Nang today with Gen. William B. Rosson, former deputy U.S. commander in Vietnam and now the U.S. Army commander in the Pacific.

Dong Ha, reduced to rubble by four weeks of fighting, was declared a free fire zone which meant both planes and ships could pound it at will, trying to slow the flow of North Vietnamese troops through the town. The South Vietnamese meanwhile abandoned fire bases Pedro five hiles west of Quang Tri but heavy fighting was reported at Nancy, eight miles to the south.

There were these other major developments in the Indochina War:

The Communist offensive in the Kontum area of the Central Highlands slowed but UPI Correspondent Matt Franjola reported that thousands of refugees were fleeing southward from both Kontum and Pleiku in expectation of heavy attacks there. He said South Vietnamese air force transports were jammed with wives and children of air force dependents. Others fled by foot.

Radio Hanoi reported more U.S. air raids over North Vietnam today and claimed at least Four F4 Phantoms were shot down in the Vinh Linh district just above the DMZ.

Heavy fighting was reported today at the district capital of Dau Ting, 40 miles northwest of Saigon and that 92 Communists were slain. The government said 133 North Vietnamese were killed there Thursday at a cost of 13 South Vietnamese dead.

UPI correspondent Leon Daniel reported from Highway 13 leading from Saigon northward to An Loc, 60 miles away, that a truck convoy of ammunition was stalled for the fifth day and that North Vietnamese had attacked lead elements of the government troops 38 miles north of Saigon.

Unofficial figures showed today that at least 10 U.S. planes and 40 helicopters have been lost since start of the Communist offensive, six of them today. Conservative casualty figures showed 38 Americans killed, 119 wounded and 48 missing in the first four weeks of the drive.

In Cambodia, the high command said in Phnom Penh that the situation was "still serious" along Highway 1 near the South Vietnamese border where Communist tanks were reported 40 miles northwest of Saigon.

The U.S. Navy said American ships sank seven North Vietnamese supply boats this month between ports in North Vietnam.

Hesitant Return To Paris Table

By COURTNEY R. SHELDON
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON — U.S. officials return hesitantly to the knotted Paris peace talks. They want a pause in the propaganda, but most of all on the South Vietnam battlefield.

The prospect for a permanent Vietnam settlement is still so far away, observers generally believe, that the jockeying over the Paris talks seems mostly atmospherics.

The Paris talks will be watched closely for any impact from the Kissinger-Brezhnev consultations.

The swift journey of Henry Kissinger to the Kremlin was the result of Soviet initiative, diplomatic sources in Moscow report. This disclosure fits into what can be learned here.

In any event, it is evident that the first action which President Nixon took on Kissinger's return was to abruptly change tactics in respect to the Paris negotiations.

Also, the President did suspend further provocative air raids on Hanoi and Haiphong in the period of immediately preceding Kissinger's departure for Moscow.

The accompanying of Kissinger by the Soviet ambassador to the U.S., Anatoly Dobyrynin, on the plane is something the Soviet would be more likely to do if it were the host rather than being asked to be the host.

It has been an everlasting hope of the administration that the Soviet Union would be the leavening force in "promoting an acceptable Vietnam solution — or at least enable the U.S. to withdraw its forces without a Dunkirk.

Convinced anew by the calm response of the Soviets to the damage to Soviet ships in the Haiphong raids, U.S. officials accepted an opportunity to probe how much the Soviet Union wants a big-power detente.

That the May Moscow summit planning continues and Moscow remains quiet in the wake of the Kissinger visit are indications that the Kissinger-

First-Timers Could Be Spared Under Reagan Drug Proposal

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan, in an apparent relaxation of his hard line on drugs, has proposed reform legislation to spare the first-time narcotics offender from jail and give him a second chance.

The provision is a key feature of a massive $14 million program the Republican chief executive sent to the Legislature yesterday. It is designed to roll back the California drug crisis through intensified prevention, treatment and rehabilitation.

"This does not mean we are becoming soft on drug offenders," the governor said. "We will continue to exert every effort to punish the pusher and take the profit out of drugs."

"But we must prevent addiction whenever possible and this can't be done simply by sending the first offender to jail or putting him on probation and allowing him to go back on the streets again with no community help."

Reagan announced his "Comprehensive Narcotics and Drug Abuse Program of 1972" in a special nine-page message to the Legislature and in a privately-financed statewide broadcast carried by 38 television and radio stations.

Under the proposal, the first-time user or possessor of narcotics would be "diverted" out of the criminal justice system by a judge prior to court arraignment and into a community operated drug abuse education, information, treatment or rehabilitation program.

To be eligible, the offender must not have had any prior drug record and must have been "nonviolent." With the prosecutor's consent, the judge could sentence the first-time offender to a local program for six to 24 moths and his criminal record would be wiped clean.

"If he is rearrested, he has blown his second chance," remarked Edwin Meese, the governor's executive secretary.

Reagan's legal adviser, Herb Ellingwood, told newsmen, "What we are doing is showing compassion where we believe there is a chance for success."

Meese denied there was any connection between submission now of the governor's program and a proposed ballot initiative that would remove all criminal penalties and civil liabilities from the personal use of marijuana.

The first offender provision was regarded by some as Reagan's compromise offer to legislation pending on the Assem-

Child-Proof Drug Packages Ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration has ordered 4,300 types of narcotic, depressant and stimulant drugs to be contained in child-proof packages effective six months from now and proposed similar regulations for all other oral prescription drugs.

Earlier this year the agency issued child-proof packaging rules for aspirin, furniture polish containing 10 per cent or more petroleum distillates, and wintergreen liniments.

Rogers To Confer With West Allies

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers will travel to Europe May 2 for meetings with West German Chancellor Willy Brandt, French President Georges Pompidou, British Prime Minster Edward Heath and Pope Paul VI.

Rogers said his talks will be intended to explain to Western allies that President Nixon will be discussing with Soviet leaders during the Moscow summit meetings begining May 22.

Agnew Says Anti-Nixon Un-American

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew Friday labelled Democratic senators who have criticized President Nixon as "defamers of America."

In a speech prepared for the Maine Republican convention, the vice president declared: "Vicious attacks on America have become standard items in the campaign kits of men who aspire —or have aspired —to our nation's highest office."

Among those Agnew placed in this category were Sens. George S. McGovern, Edmund S. Muskie, Edward M. Kennedy and J. William Fulbright.

Of the President's Senate critics, he commented: "They vilify and harass the leaders of the United States, but they can find nothing wrong with the leadership of this country's enemies.

"They have taken the old Stephen Decatur line and twisted it into a grotesque parody of itself. No longer is it 'our country, right or wrong.' To them, it is 'our country, always wrong.'"

Agnew again took issue with Democrats who have assailed Nixon's bombing response to the North Vietnam invasion.

"To the Democrats," he said, "this was a serious escalation

Nixon Reports 105 Women In Top Policy-Making Positions

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon announced today his administration has placed 105 women in policy-making positions in the federal government —the largest number in history.

In a statement, Nixon said the number of women recruited for $28,000 and up posts nearly tripled since April 1971 and added that more than half of the appointees hold positions previously held only by men.

"We reached another milestone with the employment and or advancement of more than 1,000 women in middle-management positions during the past year," Nixon said. "This is particularly noteworthy because it occurred during a time when budget policy required a 5 per cent reduction in the federal work force."

The Chief Executive said "now we must do even better in giving women the equal opportunity they have so long deserved."

He called on private business and state and local governments to follow the administration's lead by taking a close look at employment practices that may be discriminatory against women.

Nixon commented: "In this era of great challenges and potentials, the nation —in the private sector as well as in government at all levels — needs the capabilities and brainpower of every single American. The full and equal participation of women is crucial to the strength of our country."

The statement was issued at a joint press conference at the White House held by Jayne Baker Spain, vice chairman of the Civil Service Commission, and Nixon's chief female recruiter Barbara Franklin. It also was issued at the Florida White House by Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

Mrs. Franklin said that 27 women were appointed to high level positions during the Johnson administration and 18 in the Kennedy administration.

She also said that Nixon had seriously considered a woman for appointment to the Supreme Court during its last vacancy. She acknowledged that "we would like to see a breakthrough" in the appointment of a woman to the Cabinet if Nixon is re-elected. Women served in the Cabinet in the Roosevelt and Eisenhower administrations.

First Woman Admiral Named

HOLGATE, Ohio (UPI)— Navy nurse Alene Bertha Duerk was driving along the Ohio Turnpike listening to a radio newscast Thursday.

"The announcer said: 'The first woman admiral...' and I thought,'This is it,'" she said. Then she learned that President Nixon had nominated her to be the first Navy woman of klag rank.

"I just kept right on driving," Miss Duerk, 52, and a 29-year veteran of the Navy, said Thursday. "If someone would have been there, I probably would have gotten excited, but you just can't get excited by yourself."

The brown-haired captain, one of 47 women of that rank who were under consideration for promotion to rear admiral, was named head of the Navy Nurse corps in 1970. Confirmation by the Senate will make her the highest ranking woman in the armed forces.

General Motors Says Profits Are In Step

DETROIT (UPI)—Although first-quarter profits soared to the highest level in any quarter in its 64-year history and a major competitor has announced substantial price reductions, General Motors Thursday said profits were within government guidelines and no price reductions would be made on 1972 model vehicles.

GM Chairman Richard C. Gerstenberg and President Edward N. Cole said first-quarter earnings totaled $651 million, up 6.7 per cent from the same period last year. The $2.26-a-share earnings also topped the old record of $638 million, or $2.23 per share, set in the second quarter of 1965.

However, the nation's largest automaker said worldwide factory sales were down 8.5 per cent during this year's period compared with the first three months of last year when production was increased to replenish dealer inventories depleted or Co., which reported a record-breaking first-quarter profit of $252 million Wednesday and said it would cut prices from $16 to $50 on some of its cars and trucks to stay within profit guidelines set by the Federal Price Commission, GM announced no similar move.

Bobby Baker To Leave Prison

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, who as a former protege of Lyndon B. Johnson used his influential Senate staff position to become a millionaire, will be released from federal prison June 1.

Baker

The U.S. Parole Board approved Baker's parole application yesterday. He will have served almost 18 months in the Lewisburg, Pa., penitentiary when he is released.

Baker, 43, was sentenced to three years after he was convicted of attempting to evade taxes, grand larceny, interstate transportation of stolen money and fraud.

When Johnson was Senate Democratic leader, Baker held the job as secretary to Senate Democrats.

Peace Proposal

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Romanian leaders will inform Prime Minister Golda Meir in her visit to Bucharest that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat is prepared to meet Israel in direct peace negotiations, the newspaper Maariv said today.

Mrs. Meir will visit Bucharest in the beginning of May at the invitation of her Romanian counterpart, Ion Gheorge Maurer. Romanian diplomats said today in Vienna she will leave next Wednesday for Bucharest.

Quoting sources "close to the Romanian Government," Maariv said President Nicolae Ceausescu will tell Mrs. Meir that Sadat asked the Romanian leader to inform her that the Egyptians are ready for direct talks on a peaceful settlement of the Middle East dispute.

Brandt Fails

BONN (UPI) — Chancellor Willy Brandt failed to muster a parliamentary majority on a test of his budget today, renewing the possibility of general parliamentary elections to break the deadlock.

Brandt won a vote of confidence by only two votes Thursday. Today the vote on a second reading of the budget for the chancellor's own office was a tie. 247 to 247, with one abstention.

The opposition Social Democrats called for new elections as the only way to break the tie, but Brandt rushed to the rostrum and said he still hoped to squeak through without dissolving Parliament.

Belfast Booming

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Bombs exploded in booby-trapped autos in shopping areas of Belfast and Newry today, sending crowds fleeing and hospitalizing several persons for shock.

In Belfast, a bomb-laden car blew up and ripped paint and decorator shops and smashed the facades of a two-block stretch of stores and offices in the Roman Catholic Lower Falls district.

A bomb blast in a car parked outside a pub in Newry injured a civilian and a policeman.

Racism Ended

ATLANTA (UPI) — The United Methodist General Conference voted Thursday to end racially structured regional conferences, taking a stand it had avoided in past years, and approved a $191.2 million budget over the next four years.

A mandatory date of July 1, 1973, was set for the remaining four all-black conferences with seven geographically overlapping all-white conferences in Mississippi, Alabama, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

MOSCOW (UPI) — President Anwar Sadat of Egypt today began Kremlin talks on the Soviet role in his new timetable for reclaiming Israeli-occupied land, Arab sources said.

Stores Get Price Board Cut Orders

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Price Commission has ordered four more companies—all in the supermarket and drug store fields—to cut back prices because their profit margins have risen past government standards.

The rollbacks brought to 13 the number of firms the commission has directed to turn down their prices because of excess profits or because they raised their prices without permission.

The four involved in Thursday's action included Scrivner-Boogaart Inc., an Oklahoma City wholesale grocery firm; Bruno's Food Stores, Birmingham, Ala.; Godfrey Co., Waukesha, Wis., a wholesale and retail food company; and Eckerd Drugs Inc., Charlotte, N.C., which has 123 stores in the South.

The commission also turned down two price increase requests, for air pumps and other equipment from Studebaker-Worthington Inc., Pyroyl Co. Inc., Master Specialty Division, and for cotton fibre and air dried paper produced by Nekoosa Edwards Paper Co., a part of the Great Northern Nekoosa Corp.

The Pay Board meanwhile announced it will hold a public hearing May 9 on whether professional athletes should be granted an exemption from its pay increase guidelines. Pay Board Chairman George H. Boldt, in announcing the hearings, indicated such an exemption might be possible, saying:

"Even though the field of professional sports is already covered by our pay guidelines, it may be necessary to make some changes because of the unique nature of payments to athletes for their services."

Apollo 16 Steaming Towards Honolulu

ABOARD USS TICONDEROGA (UPI)—Three Apollo adventurers and a spacecraft jammed with treasures steamed at full speed toward Hawaii today, their lunar mission perhaps signaling the start of a new era of moon science.

Apollo 16 astronauts John W. Young, Thomas K. Mattingly and Charles M. Duke, in excellent shape after 11 days in space, are due to reach Honolulu Saturday afternoon and fly on to the Manned Spacecaft Center in Houston late that day.

Their record 245-pound haul of moon samples and mapping pictures will be divided and flown to Houston on two planes Saturday. Impatient scientists at the Lunar Receiving Laboratory expect to open the first rock box Monday in a sterile, nitrogen-filled cabinet.

The astronauts Thursday made one of the smoothest and most accurate landings of the Apollo series, and cleared the way for the flight of Apollo 17 on Dec. 6, the final expedition of the $25.5 billion U. S. lunar exploration program.

They received a telephone call of congratulations from President Nixon in Key Biscayne, Fla. The President promoted Mattingly to commander and Duke to colonel. Navy regulations fixing promotions prevent Young from being an admiral for awhile. Nixon invited the astronauts to dinner at the White House in mid-June, and said he would use the occasion to present some moon rocks to Mexico's president, Luis Echeverria.

"Apollo 16 has written another glorious chapter in the history of man's exploration of the unknown," said Apollo program director Rocco Petrone, who watched Thursday's televised splashdown at the Mission Control Center in Houston.

Despite its close brush with failure just before the moon landing and several minor but irritating problems, Petrone predicted the mission "will go down in history as one of man's greatest moments in exploration."

Young, four times in space, was unusually talkative when he stepped on the deck of this fighting ship Thursday and called the flight "a mission of discovery."

"There are secrets in that vehicle right now," he said, referring to the command module which still was bobbing in the Pacific 1,519 miles south of Honolulu. "There's some basic knowledge and understanding in that vehicle right now.

Growing Beard No Reason For Cutting Benefits

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A man fired because he grew a beard is still eligible for unemployment benefits, an appellate court ruled Thursday.

The State Court of Appeal said the wearing of whiskers is "personal action which is constitutionally protected" by the First and Fourteenth Amendments of the U.S. Constitution.

The ruling was in the case of Hugh King, an office-machine service technician employed by Dictaphone Corp. He was fired after refusing to shave off a beard the company considered offensive to its customers.

Consumer Credit Bill Is Passed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate has passed legislaton designed to help consumers resolve credit billing disputes and protect them against unfair interest charges.

The bill, which passed 51 to 15 Thursday, would require creditors to acknowledge customer billing disputes within 30 days and settle the matter witnin 90 days.

Under its terms, creditors who failed to meet the time requirements in any credit dispute with a customer would have to forfeit the amount up to $50, regardless of whether the bill was in error.

Moreover, the measure would prohibit creditors from sending dunning letters, taking other collection action, or reporting the amount delinquent to a credit agency, before satisfactorily explaining to the customer why the bill is correct.

Also, before reporting the disputed amount to a credit reporting agency, the creditor would be first required to notify the consumer of the dispute and the agency to which the report was being sent. The creditor must also report to the agency when the question involved is settled.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chief sponsor of the original bill, which now faces House action, said the measure had been "radically weakened" in committee.

Harris Edits Angela 'Diary'

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—An 18-page "diary" Angela Davis sent to "Soledad Brother" George Jackson was edited down to seven pages Thursday by the prosecutor, who said it was vital to the state's case in the murder, kidnap and conspiracy trial.

Judge Richard E. Arnason, who on Tuesday ruled the document inadmissible as evidence on grounds much of it was "irrelevant," said he would spend the three-day weekend studying the pared-down version.

He met behind closed doors for three hours Thursday with attorneys for both sides after dismissing the jury for the week on Wednesday. The panel was excused after Assistant State Attorney General Albert W. Harris Jr. reopened arguments on having the diary-type communication entered as evidence.

Harris said the document was of "critical importance" in proving the state's contention that Miss Davis was so in love with the black revolutionaryauthor that she helped plot the Marin County shootings of 1970.

The 28-year-old former UCLA philosophy instructor and avowed Communist is specifically charged with supplying some of the guns used by Jackson's younger brother, Jonathan, when he entered the courtroom of Superior Judge Harold J. Haley, released three convicts, and took the judge and four others hostage. Jackson, the judge and two kidnapers died in an escape van outside the courthouse.

The state claims the hostages were taken to gain release of George Jackson and two other "Soledad Brothers" charged with the killing of a prison guard. The elder Jackson was killed last August during an alleged escape attempt from San Quentin prison in which five others died.

Judge Arnason was expected to rule on the "diary," found in George Jackson's bloody cell after he was killed, on Monday or Tuesday.

He will also rule next week on the legality of attorney John Thorne's refusal to answer questions concerning Jackson, who was his client.

Newton Is Arrested For Assault

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Black Panther leader Huey P. Newton was arrested with his bodyguard late Thursday on misdemeanor charges involving assault.

The 30-year-old Panther party co-founder was arrested along with Robert L. Bay, 28, in the garage at Newton's plush apartment building overlooking Lake Merritt.

They were arrested on a warrant sworn out by Marlon Scott, a disc jockey for radio station KDIA. Scott said Newton and Bay beat him April 16 during an argument at the Rainbow Lounge.

Newton, leaving the city jail after posting $750 bail, said 15 policemen "pushed me around," when the arrest was made. He said he was "outraged" at the Police Department, which he said had a "personal vendetta" against him. Bay was released on $1,250 bail.

"None of this was necessary," said Newton, who was tried three times for the slaying of Oakland policeman John Frey in 1967.

Two Men Arrested In High-Speed Chase

Two men were arrested yesterday after a chase with speeds up to 100 miles per hour on Highway 101 and 80 miles per hour on streets through Petaluma.

Jack Virgil Almquist, 30, of 61 Straub Lane, Petaluma, was arrested on suspicion of felony hit and run driving and assault with a deadly weapon. His passenger, Ned Harold Coffee, 31, of San Francisco, was arrested on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. Both posted $2,500 bail to appear May 8 in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Police said the chase began at 2:49 a.m. when the car was stopped for speeding at East Washington and Edith Streets. Before officers could reach the car it sped onto the freeway southbound and was chased at speeds up to 110 miles per hour.

Officers said the driver swerved off and on Frontage roads and at one point attempted to force the patrol car into the path of an on-coming truck. After serveral U-turns on the freeway, officers said the car exited at Petaluma Boulevard South to Mountain View Avenue.

The car eluded roadblocks at Grant and I streets and at Sixth Street. Speeds around residential streets on the southside of Petaluma were clocked at 80 miles per hour.

Officers said that at one point the driver stopped suddenly forcing the patrol car to strike the rear of the car. Damage to the three-week-old patrol car was estimated at $700.

Finally the car under pursuit went out of control on a small crest in the road on Mountain View Avenue, struck a parked pickup truck and several trees and rolled into the porch of a house at 88 Sixth Street.

The driver fled on foot, but passenger Coffee was apprehended. He was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for a forehead cut.

The car was later traced to Almquist and he was arrested at his home.

Panthers In Support Of Shirley Chisholm

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Standing behind a "Chisholm for President" poster, the Black Panther party Thursday moved into "establishment" politics by saying they have "one of the best machines in the country" for getting out the black vote.

The party, in a statement read for co-founder Huey P. Newton, endorsed New York Rep. Shirley Chisholm's candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination and called on "every black, poor and progressive" person to help elect her.

Rep. Chisholm issued a statement in Los Angeles saying the Panthers "apparently came to the conclusion that in terms of their own hopes and aspirations I could be the best candidate."

"What has happened to them as an oppressed group in America, being used to the meaningless platforms and empty promises, has led them to come to the conclusion that perhaps with me there is hope," she said.

Bobby Seale, national chairman of the Panther Party, issued a statement by Newton at a news conference and added, "We have one of the best machines in the country and some people just might get the win fever."

Cycle Stolen

20-Year-Old Cotati Girl Is Missing

A 20-year-old Cotati girl has been missing since Tuesday when she hitchhiked to classes at Santaosa Junior College.

The Sonoma County sheriff's department said Jeannette Kamahele left her home at 951 Sierra Avenue, Cotati, at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday and has not been seen since.

Her roommate, Nora Morales, said the girl normally hitchhiked at the Cotati entrance to Highway 101.

Deputies said the co-ed was described as very stable and rarely missed classes.

She was described as five feet, five inches tall, 120 pounds with black hair and brown eyes. She was last seen wearing blue denim pants, a dark sweater or blouse and sandals.

Inormation about the girl should be reported to the sheriff's department.

Two-Week Freeze On Taxes Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., has introduced legislation which would direct the government to stop withholding income taxes from everyone's paycheck for two weeks this summer to correct the overwithholding problem.

The Treasury has urged wage earners to file for extra exemptions so less money will be taken out, but Allen said that tactic is not working. He said overwithholding, caused by changes in the tax laws, is hurting the economy.

Overseas Offices Of Investment Firm Shut

The overseas offices of five firms operated by United Financial Group Inc., a Novato-based international investment firm charged with violating federal securities laws, have been closed.

Shut are offices of United Investment Services Ltd., United States Investment Plan Ltd., United Growth Fund Inc., USI Management Ltd. and United Income and Growth Fund Inc., according to Lee Rashedi, local representative for Portland attorney William E. Tassock, court-appointed receiver.

"The intent was to advise all investors to stop communicating with these offices," Rashedi said. "Nothing can be done there."

The firm headed by Robert W. Pollock of Black Point was charged by the Securities Exchange Commission in January with deceit and fraud, an injunction to halt operations was granted in February and it was placed in receivership.

Pollock, seeking to keep the companies operating, is appealing the injunction.

Pollock also faces suits totaling $1.5 million filed by European investors who claim their investments weren't handled properly.

TALKS

Brezhnev conversations were "satisfactory" as Kissinger says.

Until the White House announced its latest decision, American officials had said that North Vietnam was interested in negotiating only if it thought it had a pistol at the backs of the U.S. and South Vietnam.

That Washington conclusion has not changed. Nevertheless, President Nixon, although he felt amply justified in being suspicious of Communist efforts to renew the talks, was beginning to be placed more on the defensive. The French government, abandoning its neutrality on questions concerning the talks, urged they be resumed.

There was increasing talk by war critics and political opponents of Mr. Nixon that it was his desire for a military solution in Vietnam, a victory, that prevented sober negotiations.

The public attitude of U.S. officials is that if the North Vietnamese have something more to say at Paris than abusive propaganda, they must demonstrate it quickly.

Well before the surprise Kissinger maneuver, the North Vietnamese had indicated a willingness to resume the Paris talks. They were apparently not radically upset by the Hanoi-Haiphong raid or by the continued raids on other parts of the north.

There also had been an expressed willingness by the North Vietnamese negotiators to talk in private.

During the Johnson administration they declined to start any negotiations until after all bombing of the north ceased.

That they take an opposite position now could be mostly a sign that they feel they have a stronger military and political club (in view of the coming U.S. elections) than they had then.

Or they may have some new offers in mind which they hope could lead to fresh and larger concessions on the part of the U.S.and South Vietnam.

Despite all this there seems little visible that changes the overall judgments here that the U.S. eventually will have to get out of Vietnam by strengthening the South Vietnamese and not by the negotiating process.

Publication of the confidential survey of opinion of government officials in early 1969 sheds some light on official attitudes toward the Soviet role in the Vietnam war.

At that time, Nixon was trying to develop a policy — eventually called Vietnamization. In a summary of the memorandum, published in the Washington Post, it was stated:

"Peking opposes negotiations while Moscow prefers an early negotiated settlement on terms as favorable as possible to Hanoi."

Neither Peking nor Moscow has exerted heavy pressure on Hanoi and for various reasons they are unlikely to do so.

Development Information Is Sought

The Fairfax Planning Commission last night asked the Gentry Development Co. for more details before giving approval to a master plan for a 19-unit apartment project to be known as Village West No. 2.

The project is planned for two acres adjacent to the company's 68-unit apartment complex, Village West No. 1, now under construction in west Fairfax between Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Olema Road.

The commission asked the company to furnish a survey, show where sewer lines are to be located, provide information about the effect of the project on a natural mound off Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and present legal documents in connection with dedication of open space.

Commission Secretary Ernestine Healy said that the company has volunteered to dedicate as open space about a quarter-acre next to a creek.

The commission postponed further discussion of the project to the May 25 meeting.

Also put off to that meeting was discussion of a resolution concerning preservation of ridge tops in Central Marin as open space. The town of Corte Madera and the City of Larkspur already have adopted such resolutions, and Hugh O. Winn, elected last night as planning commission chairman, plans to combine the two municipalities' resolutions for presentation to the Fairfax City Council, Mrs. Healy said.

In other action last night, the commission approved a conditional zoning permit for Mary Unanawich to allow her to conduct a palm reading business at 17 Bolinas Road.

REAGAN

bly floor that would reduce the penalty for possession of marijuana from a felony to a misdemeanor. Reagan opposes both the initiative and the bill.

"Of all the categories of people who engage in drug abuse, our chance for successful rehabilitation is the best with the first-time drug abusers," Reagan said.

Reagan submitted the massive plan as the lawmakers rushed toward a proposed June 30 adjournment and long after the March 15 deadline for unrestricted introduction of bills. Its chances for swift enactment were rated at less than good.

The program took the form of amendments to a bill carried by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach.

The legislation proposes spending $2.5 million in federal funds and $11.5 million in state funds, most of which would be funneled to communities through the Short-Doyle local mental health program for drug abuse projects. Officials said the state funds resulted from savings made by reforms in welfare and Medi-Cal programs.

Other features of the legislation, to be formally presented to the legislature Monday, included these:

Installation of "drug specialists" in every county welfare department to refer addicts seeking aid to proper agencies.

Requiring teachers to enroll in drug abuse education programs before they could be licensed to teach.

of the war and in their Alice in Wonderland world, it was not the attackers who escalated the war but the defenders. It was not the invaders, but those who tried to stop the invasion. It was not the armored columns from North Vietnam rolling into South Vietnam, but the American airplanes sent out to halt those columns."

Agnew told his audience "we now live in a curious era when the national spotlight is forever focused on the paranoid and the masochist and the smear-America cheap shot artist. We live in an era that panders to those darlings of the left who delight in denouncing this country ...

He described the latter as "cicerones of self-hate" and added: "It isn't just the hard-core left that shrills the refrain. You find condemnations of America on the editorial pages of some of our most influential newspapers and magazines. You hear diatribes against America on nationally broadcast TV and radio programs. You encounter anti-American philippics in our classrooms and our churches and our corporate board rooms —even in the halls of Congress."

Hayakawa On Speaking Tour

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—S. I. Hayakawa, president of San Francisco State College, is off on a speaking tour that will take him to Florida and then to Wisconsin and other Midwestern points.

The semantics expert has been a popular speaker on the lecture circuit since he took the helm of the 18,000-student college during the height of 1969 disorders with a "no-nonsense" approach.

A college spokesman said Hayakawa left Wednesday and would return to the West Coast about next Thursday for a meeting in Los Angeles. He returns to San Francisco on Friday before leaving that weekend on a 10-day visit to Monrovia, the capital of Liberia in Africa.

Trustees Seek Budget Balance

Trustees of the Bolinas-Stinson School District last night studied the district's preliminary budget and tried to find ways to pare an estimated $258,000 in expenditures to meet $246,500 in expected revenue.

The board took no action, said Supt. Lester M. Horning, but he said at the May 8 meeting he would deliver recommendations on how to balance the budget. Some cutbacks in the classroom aide program appeared to be the most likely way to save money, he said.

The district has a tax rate of $2.115 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Charges For Oakland Man

An Oakland man and woman were arrested by California Highway Patrol officers early today and booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of a variety of offenses ranging from lane straddling, a traffic violation, to possession of a loaded concealed weapon.

The woman was also held for the Federal Bureau of Investigation on a warrant charging her with parole violation, agents said.

Officers said the car was stopped while traveling northbound on Highway 101 near Lucas Valley Road about 3:30 a.m. because it was weaving.

While questioning the driver, Donald F. Stumpf, and Sylvia J. Nielsen, both 22, officers said they discovered the loaded pistol, a packet of ammunition, and some drugs.

Stumpf was held to appear in Marin Municipal Court today on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs, carrying a loaded weapon, lane straddling, possession of stolen property (the pistol), having an open container of an alcoholic beverage and possession of dangerous drugs for sale.

Miss Nielsen, also set to appear in court today, was booked on suspicion of being incapable of caring for herself due to the influence of a drug and possession of dangerous drugs for sale.

Outstanding Teacher From San Anselmo

Christine Anderson of San Anselmo, mathematics and English teacher at Sir Francis Drake High School, was named last night as Central Marin's outstanding young high school teacher.

The award was made at a San Rafael Jaycees dinner at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, honoring two teachers from each of four high schools in the Jaycee chapter's area who were chosen at their schools as nominees for the award.

CHRISTINE ANDERSON
Outstanding teacher

Mrs. Anderson, who has taught at Drake since 1965, this year heads the "school within a school" conducted as an alternative program. Last year she was head of the mathematics department. She also is a Young Men's Christian Association teen-age group adviser.

Judges for the award were Margaret Greene of College of Marin, John S. Hadsel of San Francisco Theological Seminary, and Charles Lavaroni of Dominican College.

Nominees, besides Mrs. Anderson, were Susan Dohrman of Drake High, Donald Ritchie and William C. Ciabattari of Marin Catholic High School, Arnold Risen and Sally Markey of San Rafael High School, and Berth Clawson and Sister M. Dorothea O'Donnell of San Domenico School. Redwood High School declined to participate, and Terra Linda High School failed to submit a nomination.

Marin Audience Advised Literacy Deteriorating

"A progressively deteriorating condition of literacy in or society" threatens the civilization that man has striven so long to create, Prof. John H. Edwards of San Francisco State College told a Marin audience last night.

Edwards, professor of English and executive vice president of the college, was speaker at the San Rafael Jaycees' awards dinner honoring outstanding young high school teachers at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant. He titled his talk, "The Literate Man and the Naked Emperor."

"The 'now generation,'" said Edwards, "has firmly proclaimed its discovery that the emperor has no clothes." But "they have not learned — and they appear not to wish to learn — that the emperor has always been naked."

For "the emperor," he went on, is mankind: a poor, almost helpless creature who has battled through the ages, often repeating his mistakes — but with moments of lasting accomplishment.

"The emperor is not naked to those whose care has clothed man in those gowns of dignity in which he has walked through all his history," concluded the speaker.

Essential to that dignity, he held, is literacy, for "the essence of self is bound up in the language one uses," and "we are in very many ways the exact consequence of ... our mastery of language."

It is here, said Edwards, that the "now generation, a product of imagery — not words" symbolized by the television tube and the violence of rock music, has lost its way.

"Imagery cannot replace the word as a tribal structure of sufficient precision," he contended.

"Without language we are inhuman ... Without literacy, we are literally on the road to ruin ... Without language you cannot have law ... Without law you are not free ... Without literacy we are reduced to the barbaric grunts of the brute fact that we have abandoned our civilization."

Citing the signs that literacy is deteriorating at the same time education, so called, is proliferating, he declared:

"If this is true, we are in a state of severe decadence and you might as well kiss this civilization goodbye."

Crafty Fish

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)— The American Fisheries Society says largemouth bass are among the craftiest of fish when it comes to avoiding a fisherman's lure.

Prop. 9 Challenge To Sierra Club

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, today challenged the Sierra Club to take a stand against Proposition 9, the Environment Initiative on the June ballot.

"Every responsilble group every responsible newspaper, every responsible office holder has expressed opposition to this deceptive and destructive proposition," Bagley declared.

"But the Sierra Club, otherwise responsible, has not taken a position. It is time they joined in the fight against the environmental idiocy proposed by Proposition 9, to help defeat it and also, frankly, to maintain their own credibility in this field," the assemblyman said.

Environmental control, he said in a speech prepared for delivery at a lunch meeting of the Marin Property Owners Association at Dominic's in San Rafael, "is a delicate field requiring finely-honed governmental tools and not the meat-axe and torture-rack instruments contained in Proposition 9."

Bagley said the proposition's "unworkable and unchangeable restrictions" would cause the loss of 150,000 jobs and the immediate shutdown of major industries, cut tax revenues by $1 billion a year, cause power shortages, create chaos in the transportation network and hamstring progress in "real pollution prevention."

Its passage also would force construction of more power plants using polluting fossil fuels instead of nuclear fuel, as well as force construction of more river-damming power plants, Bagley said.

He contrasted the proposition with the Legislature's record of adopting what he termed "the most rigid antismog standards in the nation and the most far-reaching water quality control system."

(Marin's other state legislator, Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, also has condemned Proposition 9, and urged its defeat on June 6.)

The proposition sharply limits polluting elements in fuel, authorizes shutting down polluting industry, bars new oil and gas drilling in stage tidelands, prohibits construction of nuclear power plants for five years, restricts the use of pesticides and prohibits pollution enforcement officials from having conflicting private financial interests.

Chou In Pledge

HONG KONG (UPI)—Chinese Premier Chou En-lai Thursday reassured North Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos that China will support their war against U.S. "aggression," the New China News Agency said today.

FIRST LADY'S EMBLEM

The Congressional Club, made up of wives of members of Congress, has presented this emblem to Mrs. Richard Nixon. It is to be used by her and future first ladies. The emblem includes the head of the American Eagle turned toward peace and plenty. Below the eagle is the first lady's star of leadership. The star is enclosed by a circle of C's showing the club's support. It was presented yesterday at a breakfast meeting of the club.

'No Interest' In Conventions

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The president of the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau says he isn't interested in having either major political party hold their 1972 conventions in his city.

"We just wanted them one time to show that San Diego is a major convention city," Robert N. Gadbois said Thursday.

"And 84 per cent of that objective has been reached," he said.

He said publicity has made the people realize that San Diego is a big city with a lot of modern motels.

Laser Beam Is Put To Key Medical Test

CINCINNATI (UPI) — A University of Cincinnati researcher revealed Thursday he burned one of his own eyes 30 times with laser beams to determine how safely the rays can be used for medical purposes.

Dr. Kenneth Rowe Jr. said he suffered no loss of vision and had no sight complications as a result.

Rowe, an associate professor of ophthalmology at the UC Medical Center, pursued the unusual research in a study on treating diabetics with lasers.

He placed the beam on a minute area of his right eye 30 times, with varying intensity for one-tenth of a second.

Some diabetics develop abnormal blood vessels, susceptible to hemorrhage, in the retinas of their eyes, and the laser has been used to prevent hemorrhaging.

Heroin Charges Are Dismissed

A charge of possessing heroin against David Charles McReynolds, 21, of San Rafael, has been dismissed by Marin Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire.

The judge dismissed the charge after ruling he had been illegally arrested on private property for what appeared to be an instance of drunkenness in public.

After he was led off the Fairfax hill Sept. 24 by an off-duty policeman, nine balloons of heroin allegedly fell from his clothing. He was arrested on a warrant after the contents of the balloons were tested.

The payments aren't very big, either.

Just a $294. cash down payment and $62.06 a month for 36 months. (If you're not too good at math, that works out to a deferred payment price of $2528.16 which includes a finance charge at an ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE of 9.31%)

Along the way, you get a little financial help from the car.

It uses about 5 pints of oil instead of 5 quarts.

It doesn't need antifreeze because the engine's air-cooled.

And although it does need gas, it doesn't need much of it 'usually a gallon every 25 miles or so.

Of course, you might be the kind that likes to pay cash for everything. In that case, the cash price is $2236.70.

WORD-A-DAY

Tentative Budget By Fire Board

A tentative budget of $780,817 for 1972-73 has been submitted to the Novato Fire Protection District board for review at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the main fire station.

The tentative budget, up $166,172 from the current budget, probably will increase the tax rate, now 48 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Fire Chief Jack Kidder said that since figures on assessed valuation aren't yet "sound," he couldn't estimate the tax rate increase.

The major budget categories are salaries, $562,589; maintenance, $103,728, and capital outlay, $114,500.

The salary costs have increased since the department hired four additional men as the result of negotiations with the Novato Professional Firemen's Association, the chief said.

The capital outlay budget includes $50,000 in the building fund toward a fire station at the Atherton Avenue drill tower, which would b the fourth station in the district, replacement of a fire engine and purchase of two four-wheel drive vehicles for grass fires, the chief said.

Directors, meeting Wednesday night, also authorized Capt. James Berthinier and Capt. Walter J. Nolan to attend a fire training workshop in Fresno, May 1-5, at a cost of $360.

Baroque Consort Will Perform In Sunday Concert

The Baroque Consort, directed by Dr. S. Drummond Wolff, will present its last recital Sunday at 4 p.m. at the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

This is the final program in a series of recitals performed over the last four years. Wolff is returning to England after two College of Marin concerts, one on May 20 and the last on June 4.

Guest artist Sunday will be guitarist Anthony Kaye. Members of the consort are Michael Gerling and Harris Elvebak, violins; Joan Lundblac, viola; Patricia Elvebak, cello; Douglas Delaney, flute, and Wolff, harpsichord.

The program will include works by Vivaldi, Faure, Ibert, Matiegka, Kreutzer, Albinoni and Handel.

Flood Control Plan Disfavored

A major flood control project which would increase taxes in Rafael Meadows flood control zone was largely ruled out Wednesday night during a meeting of concerned residents and their county supervisor.

That consensus was reached by 89 residents and Supervisor John F. McInnis, according to James R. Blum, zone advisory board chairman.

Worrying 156 signers of a petition suggesting the dissolution of the district was a $700,000 estimate for flood control work to alleviate rain runoff problems.

Whether or not the district is dissolved now rests with supervisors, "who will act on what McInnis suggests to them," Blum said.

Kleindienst Is Finally Cleared By Senate Panel

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Richard G. Kleindienst has finally cleared the hurdle of the Senate Judiciary Committee in his attempt to win confirmation as attorney general, but a bitter debate on the Senate floor may delay final approval for weeks.

The Judiciary Committee approved the nomination in an 11-4 vote Thursday, designating Kleindienst as the replacement for former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, who resigned to run President Nixon's reelection campaign.

The committee action followed one of the longest confirmation hearings in history. The nomination originally was approved Feb. 29 after two days of perfunctory hearings, but it was reopened after printed allegations that Kleindienst was involved in settlement of an antitrust case against the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. There also were charges the settlement was linked to a pledge of financial support for the Republican National Convention.

Kleindienst insisted he was innocent of exerting any undue influence in settling the $1 billion suit. But he acknowledged he "set in motion" a series of meetings that led the antitrust division to change its mind and settle the case out of court.

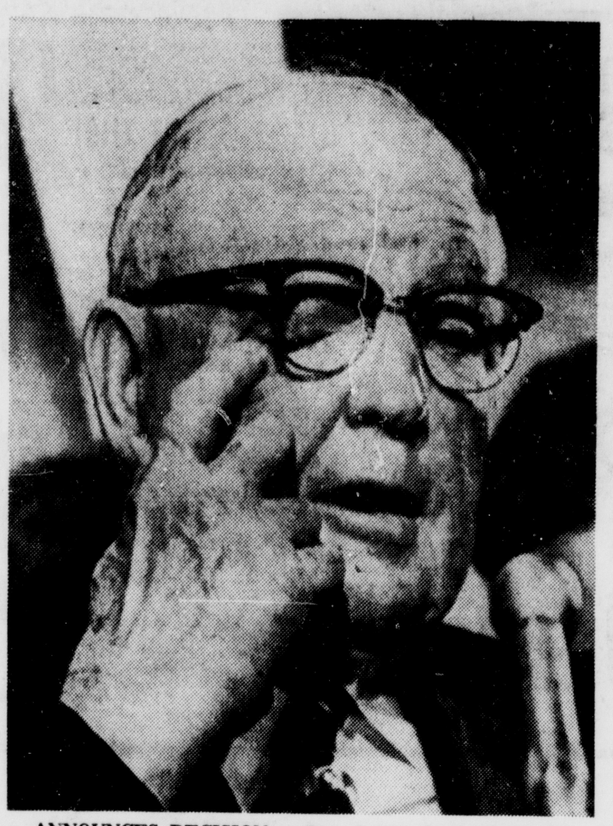
Voting against Kleindienst's confirmation in the committee were Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; John V. Tunney, D-Calif.; Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D.

Kennedy and Tunney predicted that when the nomination reaches the Senate floor there will be a long debate, a term which often is a euphemism for a filibuster.

But Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., predicted Kleindienst would be confirmed. He said if necessary he would vote for cloture—a parliamentary device requiring a two-thirds majority to shut off debate and bring an issue to a vote.

The nomination is not expected to come up for debate before May 15. It may be later, because Senate leaders may want to schedule other business ahead of the Kleindienst appointment, including debates on end-the-war resolutions.

Some Republicans have suggested that the Democrats might purposely delay the Senate debate on the nomination to make political mileage in the presidential election by rehashing the entire ITT affair on the Senate floor.



ANNOUNCES DECISION — Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, announces to the press that his panel has confirmed Richard G. Kleindienst to be attorney general. The vote came yesterday afternoon.

Now Miami Uncertain About GOP

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—When Miami Beach last year sought the Republican National Convention, city fathers had a hard time even talking to top GOP officials.

Now the Republicans want Miami Beach but the city is not so sure it wants the convention.

Miami Beach already is committed to hosting the Democrats in July and community leaders have expressed reluctance to have another political convention the following month.

BID ASKED

"I openly ask the City Council to tender the Republican party a bid for the Republican National Convention," said Richard Herman, vice chairman of the convention arrangements committee, at a gathering Thursday of about 200 officials from city and county agencies.

Herman, seeking a substitute site for San Diego, asked the City Council to make its bid for the convention by 5 p.m. today to permit the party to proceed with its plans. He assured council members the GOP would work to overcome any problems and help the city host two successful conventions.

Mayor Chuck Hall did not jump to meet the deadline.

"Last year when we were trying to get the convention, we had difficulty even seeing the top Republicans," Hall said. "Now, they are on their knees begging."

Hall said the City Council would not meet until it got answers to some questions about federal help with law enforcement. That probably would take several days, he said.

SECURITY

The main obstacle cited at Thursday's 3½-hour meeting was whether Miami Beach, with the help from Dade County and other communities, is ready to provide the necessary security. The meeting was called by Gov. Reubin Askew, a Democrat.

Speakers were particularly concerned about the five-week period between conventions when antiestablishment demonstrators might remain in town.

The Democratic national convention opens July 10 and the GOP is scheduled to open its convention Aug. 21.

Ribicoff Joins McGovern

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Sen. George S. McGovern collected an early political dividend from the withdrawal of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie today when Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., endorsed him for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"Once Muskie's campaign collapsed, there was no question for me but that George McGovern was the man," Ribicoff told a news conference.

In addition, Julian Bond, the first black to be elected to the Georgia state legislature, announced for McGovern.

Ribicoff said he no longer believes that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., can emerge as a compromise presidential nominee from a deadlocked convention. Ribicoff said he informed Kennedy of his decision to back McGovern and the younger brother of President John F. Kennedy commented "that's fine."

"I would hope that he also would see that McGovern is the best candidate for the Democratic party and would endorse him," said Ribicoff, the Kennedy administration's secretary of health, education and welfare.

The Connecticut senator said McGovern's present chief rival, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, was overly "past oriented" and predicted McGovern would win key primaries in New York and California.

Muskie, who announced Thursday he was withdrawing from all of the remaining primaries but would continue as a candidate at the convention, said he felt he still would be the nominee.

In an interview on public television Thursday night, he smmarized: "The point is that the battle is going to be won for the nomination in the convention in July ... I intend to fight until I get to July and I think Ed Muskie's going to win the nomination."

Kennedy's name figured in revived speculation that he might be drafted by the delegates at the convention at Miami Beach in July. But he again promptly discounted it.

After speaking to a steelworkers meeting, Kennnedy told newsmen that he would not be available for the nomination. "Absolutely no change," Kennedy said. "I am not a candidate and I am not available.'

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., an early Muskie backer, said he believed that Kennedy did not want the nomination "and would not lift a finger to get it."

But Eagleton said he would not rule out the possibility that Kennedy could be the choice of the delegates at Miami Beach if none of the eclared candidates wins in the early balloting at the convention.

Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago was more direct. He said that Muskie had apparently "gotten the message" and suggested that Kennedy would find it difficult to refuse a draft.

Daley, leader of the powerful Illinois Democratic organization, had earlier praised Muskie's candidacy without endorsing it. Thursday he called a news conference in Chicago to express his views only three hours after Muskie announced in Washington that he would not continue and freed the delegates committed to him.

Daley disclosed that Kennedy would be the speaker at the May 24 Cook County Democratic dinner. Last week ennedy was warmly greeted by Democrats in Indiana at a fundraising dinner.

As Muskie withdrew from the primaries, Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, George S. McGovern and Henry M. Jackson each said it would help their campaigns. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace said Muskie's withdrawl should be a warning to the Democratic leadership.

"We are tired of some of your leadership and we're tired of you telling us how to vote," said Wallace in Winston-Salem, N.C.

Heart Attack Solution Working, Mexicans Say

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mexican cardiologists reported today that their controversial "polarization treatment" of a kind of heart attack has cut the fatality rate in half. The kind—myocardial infarction — kills 600,000 annually in the United States.

The treatment has been developed over the last 12 years at the Mexican National Institute of Cardiology. The research had been done largely on dogs, and only recently has the treatment been given to a large number of humans.

In the United States, the method has been criticized as unproven, although some Americans have been experimenting with it. The Mexican conclusions were reported at the Interamerican Congress of Cardiology.

Myocardial infarction — the main cause of coronary death—is the death or damaging of a part of the heart muscle caused by a reduction in the blood supply to the area. An abnormal heart beat can result, and then death is swift.

Dr. Abdo Bisteni of the Mexican Institute said that of those with infarction who reach a coronary care unit, 12 to 15 per cent die. The number who die of this cause without reaching a hospital is unknown.

The Mexicans, who have tried their treatment on 2,000 dogs, announced that in the last two years it has been given to 250 patients. Only 6 per cent died.

What the Mexicans do is to restore injured heart tissue to health with "a polarization solution" injected in the patient inlravenously.

Man Is Facing Only Pot Count

Only a misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana has been filed in Marin Municipal Court against Charles M. Tackett, 24, of San Rafael, who was arrested a week ago on suspicion of having stolen property as well as marijuana.

The district attorney's office said the stolen property aspect is still under investigation.

Tackett was arrested after a meter maid in San Rafael noticed a license plate that had been reported stolen on his car and called officers. Tackett told police he had borrowed the plates from a friend.

University Of Kansas Students Boo Dole's Vietnam Reasoning

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI)—GOP National Chairman Robert Dole, who was booed, jeered and laughed at last week at Tulane University when he defended the stepped-up bombing in Vietnam, gave the same speech Thursday night at Kansas University and got the same response.

Students on the front rows greeted Dole, the Republican senator from Kansas, with Nazi salutes and shouts of "Sieg Heil!"

When he tried to give the Nixon logic on bombing, the students laughed and hooted.

"If you want to stand their laughing, I'm leaving," Dole said at one point. But he did not leave. He stayed and engaged in a shouting exchange with the heckling students among the audience of 1,000.

Fifty of the students attended the speech with their faces painted blue on one side. They said it was their way to make a "visual protest" of the bombing.

"I don't have to be defensive about Mr. Nixon," Dole said. "He is winding down the war, casualties are down, costs are down."

"But what about the bombing!" students shouted.

Dole said that without the bombing, invading North Vietnamese divisions could have "slaughtered" the remaining American troops.

The crowd responded with catcalls and shouts for complete withdrawal.

Dole shouted back, "Sure, we could accept the North Vietnamese peace proposal. We could watch the south defeated. We could lose credibility in the face of the world."

The students answered with cheers and mock laughter.

Although Dole halted at times, waiting for a break in the steady flow of heckling, only once did he threaten t leave.

One conspicuous sign of Republican support appeared in the center of the crowd. A girl held up a printed sign: "Reelect the President."

Nixon's Arrival In Texas Private

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Randolph Air Force Base will be closed to the public for the arrival Sunday of President Nixon, who plans to attend a dinner and spend the night at Treasury Secretary John Connally's Texas ranch.

Base officials said only military personnel, their dependents and reporters would be allowed on the installation.

Fair Queen Selected In Novato

The queen of the 1972 Novato Rodeo and Western Weekend Country Fair has been selected by a panel of judges, but she won't be identified until fair opening ceremonies May 25, according to Carol Loftus of the Novato Horsemen, co-chairman of the contest.

The queen is among the following seven entrants, who recently competed for the title on the basis of horsemanship, appearance, poise and neatness of horse, tack and rider:

Lois Jones, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Jones, 607 McClay Road.

Bambi Anderson, 16, last year's queen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, 680 McClay Road.

Jill Kimbell, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Kimbell, 588 Atherton Avenue.

Jean Robb, 16, daughter of Rhea Robb of San Rafael.

Nancy Bulfinch, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kent R. Bulfinch, 3 Carmel Drive.

Binky Pinckney, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pinckney, 664 Hancock Street.

Karen Middendorf, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Middendorf, 2557 Topaz Drive.

In past years the contest was announced in advance, but this year because the fair is being held earlier than usual, the contest had to be held hurriedly, Mrs. Loftus explained. This year, the country fair is being held several weeks before the rodeo.

McGovern Rally Will Be Sunday

The Marin McGovern for President Committee erred in a press release when it announced a rally this weekend at Olney Hall, College of Marin.

The rally will be held at 1 p.m. Sunday, not Saturday, as the press release said.

Committee Suggests Child's Bus Fare Cut

Children's fares aboard buses between Marin or Sonoma and San Francisco should be cut to 25 cents, a committee of Golden Gate Bridge District directors recommended by split vote yesterday.

Children ages 6 through 12 now pay half the one-way cash fares, rounded up to the nearest nickel, thus paying 40, 50, 65 and 75 cents for the various transbay routes.

The finance-auditing committee also recommended that children under 6 years of age ride free on the Sausalito ferry as they already do on district buses. Each adult is allowed a maximum of two free riders in this age group.

The staff initially had recommended a standard 50-cent intercounty fare, but Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring then said either proposal would meet the aim of simplifying fare structures to speed ticket sales, transfers and information service.

The cut to the 25-cent fare — approved by a 5-3 vote — was led by Marin County Supervisor Michael Wornum. District staff said the fare reduction would reduce annual revenues by $27,000, according to staff estimates. Eliminating fares for children under 6 would cut revenues by $15,000 a year, they estimated.

The fare cuts, which would be effective June 1, were set for ratification today by the full board of directors.

The cut was resisted by director E. J. Guidotti of Sonoma County, who argued the aim of transit was to reduce the number of motorists on the congested bridge. "How many 12-year-olds drive?" he asked.

The committee postponed action on a $910,600 budget for the Sausalito ferry next fiscal year, up from $865,000 this year, largely for payroll increases. The budget showed a net deficit of $133,600 before depreciation and overhead, and $397,000 after depreciation and overhead.

Several directors objected that the budget unfairly included $188,000 for overhead that would be incurred even if the district had no ferry. The staff was asked to draft two budgets, one for the Sausalito ferry and one for future expanded ferry operations that could account for special expenses such as legal fees in applying for a federal grant for the expanded operations.

Park Dedication Buses Planned

Bus transportation will be available to transport persons to dedication ceremonies at Stafford Lake Park, west of Novato, tomorrow, according to Marin Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste.

Golden Gate Bridge District buses will provide hourly service from Southern Marin to San Marin High School from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., and a shuttle service from the high school to the park, he said.

The dedication program will start at 12:30 p.m.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Despite Rising Costs, Sabella's Has Dinners At Nominal Tab

It is hardly a very startling discovery that the cost of eating out has gone up considerably in the past 10 years.

Everything else has, including eating at home. You have only to look at the price of meat and produce in your supermarket to realize that you are living in 1972 — not 1962 — and will have to pay for the privilege. Don't blame the restaurateur for changing the figures on his menu. He is faced with the same problem you have.

There is no exemption for seafood. Lobster, crab and abalone command wholesale prices you wouldn't have believed possible a few years ago. These are now luxury seafoods. And now salmon may go the same route.

But you can still get a fine seafood dinner at nominal cost if you choose the right items. Witness the menu at Sabella's in Mill Valley.

This restaurant has a terrific amount of buying power because of its size and food consumption. But Lou Sabella admits he is caught in the same spiraling squeeze like anyone else.

His introduction of a family dinner at $3.95 about a year ago was a good move. Very popular during the week, it includes both choices of seafoods and fowl. But look also at the upper left hand corner of the menu at the shore dinners at $3.95. Choices are sanddabs, filet of sole, rex sole, Farallon Island rock bass — all appetizing foods and in the moderate range. Have you ever ordered sand dabs? Delicious.

Read the menu a little further and you'll discover in the $3.95 a la carte range both turbot and mahi mahi and for even less such items as red snapper, rock cod and halibut — all fresh. If in doubt as to the best catch of the day, ask any one of Sabella family who may be on duty or the waitress.

Bob Stewart, the organist at Sabella's, celebrated a birthday this week. I don't know if Lou had this in mind when he brought in a new Baldwin "Phantom Fingers" console for him to play — but I do know that Bob has to be one of the best liked cocktail lounge musicians in the county.

The lounge was crowded to the gunwales by fans to help him celebrate last Tuesday night. It was a beautiful testimony of affection for a fine entertainer — now in his eighth year at Sabella's.

SOMETIME IN JUNE you can look for a new restaurant and billiards operation in San Rafael.

This will be the Jess Coleman Restaurant and Recreation Center to be located in the 6,400-square foot building at the southwest corner of Third Street and Lincoln Avenue formerly occupied by National Auto Parts.

Principals are Donald de Surville, who has operated Town and Country Billiards in Kentfield for the past six years, and Jess Coleman, who opened the Charcoal Pit in Kentfield five years ago. The same business names will be used in San Rafael.

The recreation center will have 16 tables and will be partitioned from the restaurant which will feature "open exhibition cooking" and offer such viands as a $2 steak, along with Jess' famous steakburgers, cheeseburgers and pineapple burgers. Beers and wines will be served.

Hours will be from 11 a.m. to 3 a.m. seven days a week.

AND PERHAPS even before that, another food operation may open across the street at the northwest corner of Third and Lincoln — Jack's Hof Brau, which got bogged down several months ago before it started. As I understand it, there is some fine equipment there.

There are two new principals involved — John Kelly and Robert Muldoon. I hope they will be successful in going ahead with their plans.

FRED ZELINSKY, who owns tha properties of several Tiburon restaurants, has contended for years that this community can support at least one additional food establishment — perhaps more. So far, I haven't heard of anyone arguing the point, for Main Street has become a rather successful restaurant row.

Apparently the time is getting close — Fred now has his architect, Mario Gaidano, working on it.

I HAVE IT on the authority of Newton Gregg of Kentfield that one of the best purveyors of North China cuisine around here is the Hsin Hsin Restaurant at 1559 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Gregg and his wife, who have traveled extensively in the Orient, hold that North China cooking is different from the usual Cantonese cooking and more varied. They credit the Hsin Hsin brother and sister team, illiam Duann and Esther Wu, with several exceptional dishes. Among them are listed Three Ingredient Soup, hot spiced bean curd, tan tan noodles and fish flavored pork — also a fine braised cabbage (which isn't on the menu, so you'll have to ask for it).

Hsin Hsin also offers Cantonese cooking, but according to Gregg, even this has North China overtones. Open for both lunches and dinners. Closed Mondays.

THE BARBECUE SECRET of Chris Gartman at the Hick'ry Pit in Strawberry Town and Country Village is said to have originated as a result of the discovery of the New World by Columbus.

According to Chris (Gartman — not Columbus), the explorer introduced a number of young pigs in the Western Hemisphere. Early settlers did the same and eventually many of the pigs escaped and became wild. Then the American Indians discovered them. They developed their own system of barbecuing, which gave the meat a distinctive flavor. The Hick'ry Pit basting formula and open fire barbecue are claimed to follow closely the Indian procedure of cooking.

NEXT DINNER CONCERT of the Kensington Trio and Tamal Food Service, closing the present spring season, will be held Saturday, May 13, at 7:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall, 48 Kensington Road, San Anselmo.

Price is $4.75 per person. Stephen Golden, John Bodo and Wilbur Russell provide the music and Tamal provides the food. Reservations must be made in advance with Tamal Food Service.

ON A TRIP to the Mendocino coast last weekend I found former Corte Madera restaurateur Gregory Seubert more serious than ever about opening his own place at Albion.

This is where he and his wife Mary Alyce live — on about 13 acres on the bluff overlooking the ocean. There is a magnificent view. Though Greg is manager and a co-owner in the Noyo River Inn at Fort Bragg, he has never given up his dream of locating a small restaurant on his own property at Albion.

Now he has jumped one hurdle — the property has been rezoned for this purpose. I don't say that anything is going to happen here soon, but one day you may find another Gregory's on the north coast.

And now I know why he still drives that same paneled van with Gregory's on it that he had in Corte Madera. All he will need to do is change the telephone number.

IT SEEMS that my recent statement that the only exclusively Persian restaurant in the Bay Area could be the newly opened Persian Room on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile already has an exception.

This is Zand's Persian Room at 442 Geary Street, San Francisco. However, it opened for business only a few days before the San Anselmo spot. Anyway, owner Michael Bey is open seven days a week from 4 to 11 p.m. (11 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Sundays). Dinners are under $4.

Just thought I'd set the records straight.

Gallinas CSD Renting Vans For Summer Rec

In an effort to "be more mobile," the Gallinas Village Community Services District board has decided to rent a pair of 10-passenger vans for the district's two-month summer recreation program.

The vans, each renting for $200 a month, will be used instead of charter buses, which cost up to $80 a day, according to Marguerite F. Clark, board secretary.

"This way we can take the kids on swimming and camping excursions on a daily basis," Mrs. Clark said. "We'll be more mobile."

The board also met with new summer recreation director Carolyn E. Jauch at its Wednesday night meeting and held preliminary discussions about the program. Further talks are scheduled at the board's May 4 meeting, Mrs. Clark said.

The board hired Diane Belben on a part-time basis to assist Mrs. Jauch, and announced it it seeking a male to round out the three-member recreation staff, Mrs. Clark said.

Miss Belben's pay was not established by the board, the secretary said.

Innocent Plea To Bad Check

Reed John Murphy, 58, of San Francisco, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of passing a bad check drawn on the account of a defunct lodge near Donner Lake.

A preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday.

Murphy is charged with writing a $750 check Jan. 4 on the account of the Ram's Head Lodge, which was torn down last year. The check disappeared during the demolition, according to the district attorney's officer.

Hospital Is Previewed In Petaluma

Plans for a new hospital received a generally favorable response last night at the Petaluma Hospital District board meeting.

Board president Dr. Frederick K. Groverman reviewed studies indicating it would be more practical to build a new hospital than to enlarge Hillcrest Hospital where hilly topography would greatly increase costs.

He said the board has received offers of two free sites for the hospital. Qantas Development Corp. has offered 20 acres on North McDowell Boulevard near Lucchesi Park and Land Investors Research has offered 20 acres on West Washington Street at Adobe Road.

District Administrator Joseph Horner said that Hillcrest will not be abandoned when the new hospital is built. He said its future use has not been decided, but that it will not be closed as some have suggested.

Horner also showed slides on changes that have been made to make Hillcrest more efficient and also showed crowded conditions. He said that in the past 21 months, out-patient emergency services have increased by 90 per cent; out-patient X-ray services by 81 per cent and out-patient laboratory services by 237 per cent.

Representatives of the Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association endorsed the building plans.

The board approved the purchase of $4,050 in new laboratory equipment, and heard that a public hearing on the new hospital application will be held May 31 at 7:30 p.m. at Kenilworth Junior High School by the Bay Area Comprehensive Health Facilities Planning Council.

Drawing May Decide Deadlocked Election

Unless another recount changes the outcome of the Corte Madera Town Council election, the matter of who gets the second council seat will be decided by lot, according to Town Atty. Albert Bianchi.

A recount completed Wednesday left a tie between incumbent Robert P. Simmons and Herber C. Leney, with 833 votes for each.

In the original count, Simmons polled 833 to Leney's 829, and Simmons was seated for his second term on the council April 18. A recount was requested by Leney, however, which produced the tie result.

Bianchi said that Simmons now has until Monday to ask for another recount if he wishes.

If he does not, according to the attorney, the law provides that lots be cast to determine the winner. He said the law does specify what type of a gamble be used —flipping a coin, drawing straws or other such methods may be chosen.

If the loser is still not satisfied, Bianchi said, he may appeal to the superior court for a ruling.

In the April 11 election, two council seats were up for grabs. The top vote getter was Robert J. Flahive, a newcomer who unseated incumbent Byron D. White. Flahive received 923 votes.

Assembly Lowers Voter Residency

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly has unanimously passed legislation reducing the state voter residency requirement from one year to 90 days.

The measure by Assemblyman Henry Waxman, D-Los Angeles, was sent to the Senate Thursday on a 64-0 vote.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled all lengthy state and local residency requirements unconstitutional and suggested that 30 days should be enough.

Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. has urged the legislature to adopt 30-day requirements to prevent "possible election chaos."

Rohnert Park Planners Approve Housing Units

Plans for four four-unit apartments were approved last night by the Rohnert Park Planning Commission after neighboring homes were assured privacy.

Young America Homes Inc. received approval for the development on Bridgit Drive. Previous plans were rejected when residents on Adrian Drive complained they would lose the privacy of their backyards.

Commission secretary Sandra Nelson said the homeowners and commission were satisfied that the new plan would assure them privacy.

Rohnert Park Planning Commission Also:

APARTMENTS — Approved plans by Patrick Taylor and Olaf Gross for a 36-unit apartment on Avram Avenue.

INDUSTRY — Asked Codding Enterprises to redraw plans for a 36,000 square foot industrial building to assemble modular and mobile homes on five acres on the westside of South Santa Rosa Avenue. The commission said it hoped a more attractive design could be submitted.

STORE — Approved plans for a three-phase addition to the Home Appliance Co. on south Santa Rosa Avenue as submitted by Norman Francisco.

APARTMENTS — Approved plans by the Nelson Construction Co. for two four-unit apartments on the northwest corner of Beverly Drive and East Cotati Avenue.

Cartagena, once completely walled and a gathering point for Spanish treasure, was founded in Colombia by Pedro de Hereda Heredia in 1533.

Trio Held On Stolen Property

Three young Petaluma men were arrested yesterday on suspicion of possession of stolen property.

Booked into city jail were Stanley Louis DeMartinis, 23, of 15 Seventh Street; Paul Gary Chaney, 22, of 328 Post Street, and Victor N. Fenske, 20, of 15 Seventh Street. They were scheduled for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Fenske was also charged with carrying a concealed weapon. Officers said a loaded .32-caliber pistol was found in one of his boots.

Police said the car driven by DeMartinis was stopped and items found that had been reported stolen from the home of Stanley Mitchell, 416 Petaluma Boulevard South, Petaluma.

New Label Put On Marijuana

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly has approved legislation classifying marijuana as a drug rather than a narcotic.

The bill by Assemblyman William Campbell, R-Hacienda Heights, was passed Thursday on a 44-9 vote and sent to the Senate. The measure would conform California's definitions of drugs and narcotics to present federal law.

Assemblyman Henry Waxman, D-Los Angeles, opposed the bill on the grounds it retained the present penalty provisions for possession of the weed.

Waxman, who unsuccessfully carried a bill to remove all penalties for possession of pot, said the current law is not "rational."

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREBE

Try this quiz on the April 28 94th birthday of the late Lionel Barrymore (1878-1954), American actor:

T F 1. This blue-eyed baby boy, who was born into a theatrical family at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, made his debut on stage with his parents as an infant.

T F 2. Educated in New York schools, Lionel joined a road company as a young actor but left the stage for three years to try the life of an artist in Paris.

T F 3. When he finally tried out for the movies, director D. W. Griffith laughed at his inept performance, saying, "You'll never become an actor, young man. Try something else."

T F 4. Barrymore, who became a great stage, screen, and radio star, was one of the first to win an Academy Award, being honored in 1931 for his role in "A Free Soul."

ANSWERS

1. TRUE — Barrymore's father was an actor and his mother, a comedienne.
2. TRUE — His many talents included being a pianist, comic, poser, and painter.
3. FALSE — D. W. Griffith urged Lionel to become a film actor.
4. TRUE — Barrymore won his Oscar playing a role opposite Norma Shearer.

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Look For Happy Endings In These Daily Tragic Reports

If you want stories with happy endings, don't look for them in bridge columns. In these daily tragic reports, suits never break and finesses never work. The hero of a bridge column wears not only suspenders and a belt but also two pairs of pants.

TYPICAL PESSIMIST

The average player would go down at four spades on this hand. Only the typical pessimistic bridge hero would make the contract.

South's only problem is to limit the trump loss to two tricks. He ruffs the second diamond and leads a trump. Which trump?

The average player would lead the king of spades from force of habit. West would capture the king of spades with the ace. East would later get two additional trump tricks.

LOW LEAD WORKS

The correct play is to begin the trumps by leading a low card. As it happens, this knocks out the singleton ace. South can later draw two more trumps with the king and queen, after which his contract is safe.

South doesn't know that his first low trump will knock out the ace. If a low trump wins the trick, South expects to regain the lead and return the king of spades. This will work whenever the trumps break 3-2 (with one unlikely exception).

WORRY LATER

The only 4-1 break South can provide against is that in which an opponent has the singleton ace. South should provide for that first and worry later about the 3-2 breaks.

If you're wondering about the exception, here it is: West has three trumps. When South leads a low trump, West wins and leads a low diamond for his partner to ruff. This "uppercut" play defeats South. However, this type of play would defeat South even if he led the king or queen of spades first.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with two no-trumps, and the next player passes. You hold:
♠ - J 10 9 8
♥ - J 10 5 4
♦ - 7 2
♣ - J 10 7.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to bid a major suit of four or more cards.

You plan to raise to four if partner bids three spades or three hearts. If he bids three diamonds, you will go to three no-trump. It is unusual to be so ambitious with only three points, but your three tens should also be very useful.

Old-Time Comedies Planned Today

Series Of Nature Walks Scheduled

A series of guided nature walks will be offered by Point Reyes National Seashore rangers.

The first walk will start at 9 a.m. tomorrow at the amphitheater near the seashore information center at Bear Valley and will take in the ecology of Inverness Ridge. It will take hikers to elevations of 1,400 feet.

Good walking shoes and a canteen are suggested. The walk will be over by noon, so lunch is not necessary. Walkers may return on the same route or continue on their own.

The number of guided walks — planned each Saturday indefinitely — will depend on attendance.

Marin County Pair Elected By ACLU

Richard W. Beban of Mill Valley, maverick member of the Marin County Grand Jury, and Virginia T. Franklin, who teaches American Government at San Rafael High School, have been elected directors of the American Civil Liberties Union of Northern California.

Beban, 23, has been under fire for his conduct as a juror, and Mrs. Franklin, has been the center of controversy over teaching materials she has used.

$2.6 Million Increase In Retirement Unit's Assets

An audit of the Marin County Employees' Retirement Association shows its assets grew more than $2.6 million during 1971 to a total of $16.8 million.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said yesterday the association's liabilities, meantime, totaled $6.3 million, an increase of $1.2 million from the previous year.

As a result, he said, members' equity totals $10.5 million which is up $1.4 million from 1970.

During 1971, Mitchell continued, more than $525,000 was paid in retirement, survivors' and deceased members' benefits.

"From a fiscal standpoint the retirement system is in an excellent fiscal status," he said.

The county's retirement association has 1,595 members, most of whom are still working. About 219 are receiving benefits.

Hilen To Head Nixon's Drive

Sterling L. Hilen of Novato has been named chairman of President Richard M. Nixon's Marin County reelection campaign.

His appointment was announced by former Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard, Bay Area chairman for the Nixon campaign. Hilen is senior vice president of a San Francisco-based insurance company.

He is a past president and a director of the Marin Republican Council and former member of the Marin County Republican Central Committee.

Novato Nurses Are Magazine Authors

CLETING DOWN a sheet, top racing-crew member Anne Elder prepares for a pleasure cruise on a Cal 20 at San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere. SAILING RACES

Lifetime Chance For Miss Elder

By PAT BALMES

A summer of sailboat racing to Bermuda, across the Atlantic Ocean and in a regatta in Norway is ahead for Anne Elder.

A systems analyst for the Naval Air Station in Alameda, Miss Elder lives in San Francisco and sails her Rhodes 19 out of San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere.

The young woman has been invited to crew aboard the 68-foot schooner New World in the Bermuda Race and the Trans-Atlantic Race. She will leave the ocean racer in Spain and travel to Norway to participate in the International Knarr Regatta.

"I'm going as crew on New World, not cook," said Anne. "I'll stand a watch."

The schooner, owned by George Kiskaddon of San Francisco, has just been built in New Zealand and is now on a freighter bound for Baltimore, Md.

"It was designed with the idea that there would be girls in the crew," said Anne, mentioning that the skipper's wife, Lillian, will crew with her on the Bermuda Race and his daughter, Ruth, will crew on the Trans-Atlantic Race.

Starting point on June 16 for the Bermuda Race is Newport, R.I., Anne's native state.

"WHEN I was growing up I hoped someday I would sail in it, but I did not expect to go 3,000 miles to be invited. I never raced in big boats until I got out here; I did not know people who owned them," said Anne.

She'll have a week's vacation in Bermuda before embarking on the Trans-Atlantic Race aboard New World on June 26.

The schooner will be the third largest yacht in the Trans-Atlantic Race, exceeded only by Black Finn out of St. Francis Yacht Club and Windward Passage from Honolulu.

Anne anticipates continuous hard work, but fun besides, on the 21-day race to the northern coast of Spain. The crew is 10 plus the cook. Five yachtsmen will stand each watch. On one day Anne will stand a six-hour daylight watch and two four-hour night watches. On the alternate day she will have a six-hour daylight watch and one four-hour night watch.

Asked what she will do in a heavy wind, Anne said, "I do not have the strength for heavy work. But I can furl or stop sails and lead sheets (put ropes through winches to pulleys).

"I will get to steer some and I can let off sheets in light air."

HER LONGEST ocean race to date was the four-day San Francisco to Newport Beach Race. She has never been across the ocean before, "sailing or any other way either."

"It's an opportunity of a lifetime," said Anne. "Nobody could talk me out of it."

Depending on wind, New World will finish in Spain about July 15. Anne plans to stay a week and visit Madrid. Then she will travel through Europe, visiting Paris and London, on her way to Bergen, Norway, where the International Knarr Regatta will be held from Aug. 7 to 12.

There she will be the house-guest of Knarr yachtsmen who were housed by San Francisco Yacht Club members last summer when the Knarr regatta was held on San Francisco Bay. She plans to tour Scandinavian countries for several weeks and return home on Sept. 11.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Don't Take The Attitude That A 'Bigot' Can Never Reform

DEAR HELEN:

My doctors says that when married people grow in different directions, sometimes divorce is the only answer. After 20 year invested, surely there must be a better solution than this!

Helen, I'm married to a bigot! My husband is a hard-hat, rightwing, back-to-the-good-old-dayser. He watches "All in the Family" and cheers for Archie. What's more, half of his friends agree with him.

They feel threatened when I don't get upset by 1. "Modern depravity" (vastly exaggerated, say I). 2. The new morality (no worse than the "old," but considerably more honest and with fewer hang-ups). 3. Homosexuality between consenting adults (whose business is it but theirs?) 4. Sex education in schools (much needed!) 5. Long-haired boys. 6. Interracial friendships.

It's got so I clam up and seldom express an opinion because I know it will be the opposite of what my husband thinks. . .which is exactly what he thought 25 years ago. The children and I don't argue with him — he may even believe he's convinced us.

But what does a wife do when she is ready to explode because she's — MARRIED TO A "RIGHT" WHO IS WRONG

DEAR MARRIED:

Un-stifle yourself, for heaven's sake!

You'd be surprised how many "good old daysers" have turned middle-of-the-road-liberal just through the clever ministrations of a wife and kids. This doesn't mean pistols at 20 paces, but a gradual education process, backed by the realization that men feel more threatened by change than do women.

I've an idea that even Archie Bunker might dip his toes into the 20th Century if Edith unwrapped her brains. (But then we'd lose a great TV show.)

Anyhow, don't clam up at home on the supposition that "bigots never reform." Look back 25 years and remember that you felt then as your husband feels now. But you moved with the times. Give him a hand and perhaps he'll catch up with you. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

We women work in an office with a fellow who we hear is a homosexual, though he doesn't look it or act it. He's very interesting and intelligent. The young attractive married girls don't have to fight him off.

Because of the (probably authentic) rumor, he's not exactly an eligible bachelor. Yet he's been hanging around with us, just like "one of the gals."

Granted, he's good company, but we're a little afraid to associate with him. Should we avoid him in the lunchroom and otherwise get him to flake off? — APPREHENSIVE

DEAR AP:

Why not judge this man on his obvious merits: He's interesting, intelligent, good company, and no threat to husbands.

You can't "catch" homosexuality like the measles, so I'd guess your only fear is "office gossip." Don't you think he's been hurt by this enough already? Accept him as a friend. — H.

The Daring Dresser

Some fashion authorities say that wearing something daring —at least, every so often—helps one get rid of pent-up feelings. Others say such clothes are designed for play-acting. Either way, what happens sounds beneficial, doesn't it?

ON BEING BLACK

The Strong Sisterhood Bond In Today's Society

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
Los Angeles Times Syndicate

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This first installment of a weekly four-part series by noted black columnist Sandra Haggerty examines the strong undercurrent of sisterhood that has always united black women and which manifests itself today in strong social, religious and community bonds.)

"I don't hestitate even a minute to go out of my way to help a sister. Why? Because I understand. To bring it on down home, I ain't no virgin. I've been there. I'm 78 years old — got seven children, 18 grandchildren and a slew of great grandchildren. So you see where I'm comin' from. I know the pain, the use and misues that's been heaped upon her over the years."

This was Miss Lulu talking a kindly grandmother type to look at her, but sharp as a tack as she made her feelings known to an audience of smart, sophisticated black women.

"Now don't misunderstand me. I don't see black women as long and on-suffering martyrs. Heaven knows we ain't got no time to beat a dead horse. But because the black woman has suffered great injustices and survived, she simply represents a very special woman.

"Our ability to keep on moving and growing will determine our success. We all know growing pains hurt, so we've gotta support one another during these trying periods. And we have to be careful not to come down with a bad case of the timmes. There are many things we blacks must do ourselves.

"I'm an old, old woman, arthritis and all, but I'm pleased to walk with you in today's black sisterhood.

"We always existed, you know, but today you young people are able to speak up about what's going on. You are using the sisterhood in positive ways — ways that are making important changes in our communities."

Miss Lulu's words left the group of black women — younger, better educated and more articulate than herself — speechless.

History is filled with accounts of famous and infamous sisterhoods. The term generally signifies a group of women joined together in a co-operative effort and/or ideology. It's nothing new, nothing to fear.

Religious orders — Catholics, for example — have their nuns, women united in a spiritual sisterhood.

The black church sisters of the Southern Baptists and other Protestant faiths are joined together in an effort to "live good Christian lives and herald the praises of God."

How well I remember religious services in the country school house that doubled as a church on Sundays:

"Sister Lawrence is ailing today. Pray for her."

"Sister Washington will now read the 23rd Psalm."

"Sister Thomas, our own, who speaks in tongues, is today sharing her gift with the church folks over at Nicodemus."

"Sister Holly has lost her dear, devoted husband of 35 years. Pray for her that she has plenty of home cookin' to see her through these difficult days."

"Amen, Sister, Amen!"

The college sisterhoods of the Greek sororities have traditionally assisted their new members in all campus endeavors.

But this is one sisterhood we black women were initially excluded from, discriminated against. So we formed our own fraternities and sororities. In my college days, the AKAs and the Deltas were THE black sororities.

It's not chic to say so, but I remember how we discriminated against each other. The local AKAs rushed the lighter and brighter black girls, and the Deltas rushed the darker girls. Such nonsensical distinctions have since been laid to rest.

A very personal sisterhood is the real sisterhood of a large or poor family. Under adverse conditions, the older sister becomes responsible for the well-being of the entire family.

Within the black society, the word sister is often used jokingly, but simultaneously with love and respect.

Most black women like being referred to as sisters and take their membership in the black sisterhood seriously.

Black sisterhood indicates that we have in common our black ethnic heritage and the resultant effects — a fact that ideally should not exist but does.

In addition to our common denominator of blackness, we are united in our contemporary attitudes toward helping and liking one another. We are united in an illumination and, more than that, a celebration of our likenesses and differences.. (NEXT: SOM and The Panther Women.)

Straight Skirts With Sweaters On Fall Scene

Straight skirts for fall will be worn with sweaters, soft shirt jackets or heavier jackets to make a suit, according to Women's Wear Daily.

Betsey Johnson, who designs for Alley Cat, had done a straight skirt in pastel striped wool, flecked to make it tweedy. She topped it with a matching shirt that doubles as jacket in the same salmon, light blue, natural, lilac and pale turquoise striped tweed.

Mary Alice Orito, Hang Ups' designer, has revived the classic front-pleated straight skirt and teamed it with a matching boat neck cardigan in angora mixed with wool ribs for her fall collection.

"How else will they know we're not boys?"

Fitzgerald Scholarship For Nursing

A scholarship, named for singer Ella Fitzgerald, has been started at Redwood High School in Larkspur for licensed vocational nurses training by the College of California Medical Affiliates in San Francisco.

The scholarship amounts to $2,500 in tuition and expenses at the college, said Richard Frakes, vice president of the school's scholarship foundation. A committee from the foundation will select the scholarship winner, he said.

The singer, in addition to lending her name to the scholarship, will visit the student and attend her graduation, Sims said.

Costs Of Crime On The Society

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. said Thursday that the gross national product would increase by $50 billion if it included the market value of goods and services such as heroin, marijuana and illegal gambling.

"It is becoming increasingly difficult for anyone to ignore the fact that crime is imposing heavy costs on U.S. society," the bank said in its monthly survey.

However, it said state lotteries, legal off-track betting and the Nixon's administration's declared fight on drug traffic were having their effect.

Heath To Host Without Hostess

LONDON (UPI)—There will be no official hostess for Britain's bachelor prime minister.

Alternative Urges Park District

Formation of a countywide park district run by a directly elected board, with a moratorium on construction in open areas targeted for possible preservation, has been urged by Marin Alternative.

The organization also endorsed the proposed Golden Gate National Recreation Area, which would link the Golden Gate Headlands and Point Reyes National Seashore. The recreation area should include the Olema Valley, Tiburon Net Depot and open space on Wolfback Ridge and in Tamalpais Valley, the organization agreed.

The building moratorium should be imposed until it can be determined whether open spaces somehow can be acquired, according to the position adopted by the organization.

About 50 members attended the Wednesday night meeting in the Corte Madera Library, reported chairman Thomas Thorner of Kentfield.

The organization also took a position on Proposition 9, the Environment Initiative on the June ballot, but Thorner refused to disclose the position until reasons for the stand can be drafted. The measure is "too complex" for a stand to be taken on it unless the reasons are clearly stated, he said.

The organization also endorsed Dr. Ronald T. Stafford, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 5 seat, and Joan Seminario and Roger Bockrath, candidates in the Ross Valley Sanitary District. Mrs. Seminario is chairman of Marin Alternative's water task force.

The next membership meeting was set on May 10 to consider endorsements of supervisorial and presidential candidates. The meeting will be held after the supervisorial candidates forum to be held the same night at 8 p.m. at the College of Marin.

Youth To Aid Cancer Drive

Youth Against Cancer, a group with aims of helping the American Cancer Society, will stage a 24-mile "bike-a-thon" May 20 from Terra Linda High School to Rancho Nicasio and back.

Registration at Terra Linda will be at 8:30 a.m., according to Pamela Jean Lister, Youth Against Cancer spokesman. A brown1-bag picnic lunch i planned at Rancho Nicasio.

Ride cards can be obtained at high schools or at the American Cancer Society office, 18 Mary Street, San Rafael. Riders will be sponsored on a money-per-mile-traveled basis. Funds collected will be donated to the society, Miss Lister said.

Bay Crusade Distributes $15.1 Million—12% Cut

Distribution to member agencies, including those in Marin, of $15,182,607 by the United Bay Area Crusade for the groups' 1972 operations has been announced.

Crusade Pres. Peter E. Haas said that the amounts represented a 12 per cent decrease from last year, because the Crusade raised $16,095,000 for 1972 as compared to $17,038,000 for 1971.

Although the Crusade itself took a 12 per cent cut in its operating budget, officials still were forced to "overallocate in excess of $87,000 to the agencies."

The deficit will be covered by interest earnings.

Marin agencies sharing in the distribution include:

Marin City Boys' Club, $19,500; Family Service Agency of Marin County, $53,000; Legal Aid Society of Marin County, $3,000; St. Vincent's School for Boys, $40,000 for 1972 and $11,500 since reinstatement in October 1971, and Sunny Hills, $55,000.

In addition a number of agencies which have branches or chapters in Bay Area counties were given amounts of money, some of which will be allocated to Marin.

These include:

American National Red Cross, $2,077,839 to be divided among seven chapters; Boy Scouts of America, $578,110, to be divided among five counties; Camp Fire Girls Golden Gate Council (including Marin), $70,400; Catholic Social Service of the Archdiocese of San Francisco, $531,500 to be divided among three counties; Girl Scouts — San Francisco Bay Council (includes Marin), $378,300; Jewish Welfare Federation of San Francisco, Marin County and the Peninsula, $385,440; Mental Health associations, $217,829, to be divided among five counties.

Salvation Army, $386,668, to be divided among five counties Volunteer Bureaus, $118,680, to be divided among five counties, and Young Men's Christian Association, $628,350, to be divided among five counties.

In addition, several other agencies received allocations.

Woman Sentenced In Court On Monday Returns On Thursday

A Fairfax woman — who on Monday had been granted a stay of execution from jail in a forgery conviction — was arraigned yesterday with her husband on a charge of possessing stolen property.

Pamela M. Wilson, 20, of 145 Domingo Avenue, was scheduled to plead next Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court and her husband, Charles A. Wilson, 22, to plead Thursday. Bail was set at $5,000 for Mrs. Wilson, $10,000 for her husband.

They were arrested at 9:06 a.m. Wednesday on suspicion of possession of property stolen the day before from a home in San Anselmo.

Fairfax police stopped the couple's car on Tuesday at about noon after an informant had given police "probable cause to believe" there was stolen property inside the Wilsons' car. Officers confiscated a stereo system and color television set, valued at $580, and later identified them as taken from the Spruce Street home of George K. Norman in San Anselmo. Police arrested the Wilsons the following morning at their home.

Mrs. Wilson, believed to be a heroin addict, was sentenced Monday in Marin Superior Court to stay in county jail until she is old enough to begin methadone treatment. She also was placed on two years probation for two felony counts of forging checks and a misdemeanor count of forging a signature of a credit card slip.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, however, allowed a two-day stay of execution in the sentence so that Mrs. Wilson might help move furniture in the family home to another residence.

The Only Part

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI)—Puerto Rico is the only part of the United States on which Christopher Columbus set foot. He landed here on his second voyage in 1493. Aboard his ship was Juan Ponce de Leon, who became the island's first governor and later searched for the fountain of youth in Florida, where he died.

Stamps Are More Than Just Pretty

By Lucia Johnson Leith
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — You don't have to be a collector to appreciate a pretty stamp. But there is more to stamps than that important facet, beauty.

"Stamps are a powerful communications tool," says Gordon C. Morison, manager of the U.S. Postal Service's philatelic affairs division.

"The subjects stamps portray contribute significantly to telling about a country's culture, history, and achievements, and stamps like ours portraying planned parenthood and drug abuse alert the country to matters of national interest." He adds: "Overseas, stamps are kind of ambassadors."

Choosing stamp subjects which will help portray the U.S. at home and abroad can be a weighty and delicate business.

The postmaster general, by law, has final say on stamp subject and design. He is advised by a Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee, appointed by him and serving at his pleasure.

Anyone can send an idea for a stamp to the postmaster general. Postal Service files bulge with 4,000 such suggestions. Some 500 different stamp ideas pour into the service from individuals and organizations every year.

Yet only about 15 commemorative issues — honoring individuals and historic anniversaries, for instance — appear each year. The Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee culls the piles of suggestions and recommends what those 15 issues should be. A commemorative issue can be one stamp or a set of stamps on one theme. And usually 130 million of each commemorative stamp are issued.

Philatelists (stamp collectors), artists, and those connected with museums — and men (currently only one woman is a member) — make up the bulk of the present 13-member committee. Historians and the director of the U.S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing which produces the country's stamps (27 billion) last year are also members.

Connecticut artist Stevan Dohanos, present committee chairman, explains: "The philatelists are watchdogs to keep us from repeating what we've done in the past. The historians are watchdogs on what is important historically and what isn't.

Dohanos has designed some 15 stamps, including the eight-cent flag stamp.

Art members keep tabs on artists familiar with the demanding skill of designing for the small stamp size or artists who may be especially equipped to do a particular subject.

The committee meets privately in Washington, generally four times a year for one or two days. Members who are not federal employees are paid $98 a day during meetings. Artists, except when serving as committee members, receive $1,000 for accepted work.

Commemoratives consume most of the time of the committee, which is already looking ahead to the 1973 and 1974 commemorative programs. (Ideas should be submitted 18 months ahead of the event to be commemorated.)

But the committee advises on regular stamps too. Unlike commemoratives issued for limited periods of time, regular stamps — like the 8-cent Eisenhower and 25-cent Frederick Douglas — are kept in constant supply in post offices across the country. Subjects for regular issues are usually changed every 10 years. We'll probably have a new regular-issue series for the U.S. bicentennial celebration.

Commemorative standards were set by the first Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee about 15 years ago. No living person is honored on a stamp. Historical events honored must usually have attained at least the 50th anniversary.

Individual towns, cities, schools, colleges are not honored, since there are so many of them. But a statehood anniversary automatically becomes a part of the year's commemorative program.

"In reaching a decision, the committee is not above going outside its own group for opinion," says Franklin R. Bruns Jr., associate curator of the Smithsonian Institution's division of postal history. A current committee member, avid collector, and author of a weekly stamp column, Bruns was the first Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee chairman.

"Suppose it came to a choice between two poets," he continues. "If we were divided on which was greater and no specific anniversary dates were involved, we would go out and seek the opinion of people acknowledged as authorities in poetry."

The committee must weigh whether stamp subjects could be considered controversial or as propaganda. It took some time, for instance, before English-born American revolutionary patriot Thomas Paine (now on the 40c regular stamp) made it to stamphood. He was considered too controversial.

Sets and series of stamps — like the American painting, folklore, and poet series — which have been increasing during recent years, will continue.

"We're trying to make our stamps tell a story," explains Morison. "Once, we would have issued a single stamp for Yellowstone National Park, for instance — 100 years old this year. Instead, we're issuing a set of eight National Park stamps to show the diversity of the parks."

The coming look for stamps also includes even more multicolored ones. The Bureau of Engraving and Printing has four types of stamp presses, one capable of printing up to nine colors at a time.

On the tiny stamp size, color alignment is critical.

"The more colors you use, the more carefully you have to align them to avoid overlap," says Robert R. Rausch, the bureau's superintendent of product control. "And the alignment has to be achieved when paper is running through the presses at high speed."

The bureau's highly skilled engravers transform original stamp artwork into engravings from which press plates or cylinders are made.

Commemoratives cost more to produce than regular issues. The 8c regular issue flat stamp costs 36c per 1,000 stamps to produce. The 11c stamp commemorating Hawaii's City of Refuge National Park costs $1.42 per 1,000.

But when a stamp is saved by philatelists and not used to pay for mail delivery, the Postal Service makes money. And the public collects and saves enough stamps each year to pay for the cost of manufacturing all postage stamps for a year, the service feels.

"Why not have a single stamp design?" some sugges.

"It would have to be awfully good to stand up under the monotony," comments Dohanos.

The Postal Service and its advisory committee hope people notice stamps and learn from them.

Says Dohanos: "They're looking at a showcase of accomplishments, struggles, and goals."

Hub School Panel Takes Budget Look

The San Anselmo School District board last night reviewed a preliminary 1972-73 budget calling for a cutback in 11 staff positions and elimination of transportation for pupils in kindergarten through third grades.

Board member Eugene E. Jacks said the board scheduled further discussion of the budget for next Tuesday's regular meeting.

The budget, showing income of $1,972,309 and expenditures of $1,952,837, calls for reductions in teaching staff amounting to $88,000, Jacks said. A $9,000 contract for two buses used for transporting students also would be eliminated, but the district "will retain its own 25-passenger bus for transportation of educationally handicapped and some kindergarten through third-grade students," Jacks said.

The 11 staff positions would include the head librarian and 10 teachers in kindergarten through eighth grade, he said.

In explaining the proposed cutbacks, Jacks cited "inflation and the rise of many school costs," and $45,000 in teacher salary step increase scheduled for next year.

Jacks said six teachers in kindergarten through sixth grades and four in seventh and eighth grades would be those eliminated by the new budget. He said the average salary of the 11 positions is $8,000.

The 1971-72 budget showed income of $2,009,116 and expenditures of $1,982,798, he said.

Pay Increase Is Sought By Hospital Workers

A salary increase asked by 12 Marin Hospital District employees would cost $3,000 if granted next year, according to Ray K. Bolinger, district administrator.

He said members of Stationary Engineers Union Local 39 have requested a 2.7 per cent increase, and if the salary hike is granted to all 12 engineering department members, the district would pay out an additional $3,000.

The request has been referred to the federal wage and price board.

Details of the pay request's impact on the district were not available to the Independent-Journal after the board's Tuesday night meeting.

Tam District Hit On Hiring Decision

A state hearing officer found yesterday that Tamalpais High School District officials didn't give proper grounds in notifying a group of teachers that it might not be rehired for next year.

Hearing officer Harold Furst said the district failed to show in tentative layoff notices to the equivalent of 39 full-time teachers that either the district had undergone an enrollment drop over a two-year period or that specific program cuts had necessitated the action.

Of the original 39, Dist. Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins said today, all but 18 have been assured jobs for next year because of resignations and leaves. And most of the 18, he said, are expected to be taken on for the 1972-73 school year as permanent substitutes.

Hawkins said Furst's finding was in the form of a proposed decision to the district board of trustees.

Affected teachers had asked for a hearing, conducted last Friday by Furst, after notices of possible layoff went out in March. The district maintained it was attempting to fix a certain teacher-pupil ratio through the cutbacks.

Winners In Sausalito List Funds

The candidate who captured the most votes in the April 11 Sausalito City Council election has reported he spent less than half the amount of campaign costs reported by the two other winners in the 10-man contest.

And an unsuccessful candidate spent more than any of the successful contenders.

City Clerk Miriam K. Ansell said Evert H. Heynneman, who received 913 votes, reported expenditures and contributions totalling $400. Councilman Robin Sweeny, reelected in the race with 759 ballots, received and spent $1,134 during the campaign. Councilman Sally Stanford, who ran second with 810 votes, reported $1,250 in campaign donations (including a $1,000 anonymous contribution) and $1,458 in campaign costs.

Robert D. Bauerle, unsuccessful in his second bid for the council, listed expenses of $1,752 and contributions of $1,456.

Six other candidates — W. Daniel O'Connor, Howard Chadd, Robert C. Martin, Leonard F. Rappa, Serge Trubach and Helen K. Armstrong — have not yet filed expense and donation reports, Mrs. Ansell said.

Candidates for public office are required by law to file declarations of expense and donations within 35 days after an election or they become ineligible to run again for public office, according to the county elections office.

Ruins Believed To Be Russian

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The possible remains of a Russian colonist dating back to an 1812 settlement has been discovered in Sonoma County.

Officials of the state Department of Parks and Recreation said Thursday archeologists found what may be an early Russian structure and a grave with the possible remains of the colonist during excavations by the department along the new right-of-way of California 1 near Fort Ross State Park.

The highway is being rerouted around the fort.

The find could date to the period of an original Russian settlement in the county, officials said. A University of California anthropologist and a department archeologist will study the remains.

FAMILY

"Song of the South" — Reissue of Disney's 1946 rendition of the Uncle Remus tales.

"Wild Country" — Pleasantly familiar formula of pioneer family's move to the West. A Disney film with plenty of action.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Airport" — Absorbing and gripping drama of action in a blizzard paralyzed airport with a huge plane blocking a runway and another passenger loaded jet with a bomb aboard is trying to land.

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" — A legendary pair of bank robbers that never shot anyone and steal only from those that can afford it are forced to flee to Bolivia where they continue their trade till recognized. Very violent ending.

"Concert For Bangladesh" — Filmed at Madison Square Garden this documentary of the benefit rock concert has George Harrison, Ravi Shankar, Ringo Starr, Bob Dylan to mention just a few stars. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"Hot Rock" — Set in Brooklyn the hilarious experiences of four accident prone thieves who steal a fabulous diamond from a museum provides many laughs.

"Mary, Queen of Scots" — Mary Stuart's ill-fated struggle to remain queen of Scotland while pressing her claim to succeed Elizabeth on the throne of England is theme of this opulent production. For the most part picture is historically correct and sites authentically reproduced. Costuming is elaborate.

"The Omega Man" — The omega man is supposed to be the last man to survive a world bacteriological war (1975), but a group of ghoulish psychotics outwit and thus outlive him.

"Red Sky at Morning" — A compassionate, engrossing study of a family's struggle to build a life in new surroundings when the father goes off to war. The cursing, sex and nudity are handled tastefully within the context of the story.

"They Might Be Giants" — A chaotic tragic-comic fantasy about a former judge turned paranoic and believes he is Sherlock Holmes. His psychiatrist, Dr. Mildred Watson, instead of curing him, joins him in his search for Prof. Moriarty.

borderline

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Fist Full of Dollars" — Two powerful families are carrying on a deadly feud when a stranger appears who plays off one family against the other, deceiving both and getting his toll from each of them. Unusual amount of raw brutality and carnage.

"French Connection" — An exciting suspense thriller about two relentless narcotics detectives trying to crack an international heroin smuggling ring. Extremely violent and bloody.

"Hang 'em High" — A western story of vengeance, morbid sadism and explicit violence.

ADULTS ONLY

"Blood and Lace" — Another zealous exploitation of gore. A pretty teen-ager is sent to an orphanage after her mother was killed by an axe wielder. Punishment a the orphanage for attempting to run away is to be frozen to death in a freezer. Need more be said.

"Dirty Harry" — Police thriller is an exercise in violence. A case against the pampering of criminals and justification of sadistic, illegal police techniques. Tension is excruciating and violence is shocking.

"For a Few Dollars More" — A savage, Italian made western very violent and bloody about a bounty hunter who shoots or stabs anyone with a price on his head.

"Fritz, The Cat" — A tasteless and vulgar X-rated full length feature cartoon about a cat who by fadeout has used up eight of his nine lives investigating the drug scene, radical politics and experimenting with sex. A potpourri of soul, rock and pop music provides an audio backdrop.

"The Godfather" — Gripping epic gangster film filled with excessive violence. Head of Mafia leads two lives, as a kindly head of a family and then as leader of a mob whose business is killing.

"Good, Bad and the Ugly" — Another Italian made western, this time set at the time of the Civil War. A gunfighter, a Mexican outlaw and a homicidal criminal are all in search of the hiding place of a stolen army cash box. A succession of tortures, killings and sadistic incidents are part of the struggle to outwit each other. Unsparing photographs accentuates brutality.

"Hospital" — An aging doctor who postpones his suicide in order to investigate the mysterious deaths of two interns and a nurse. Scathing episodes are sometimes humorously presented. Strong language, sex, excellent acting and cast.

"Last Picture Show" — The moral degeneration of a small Texas town is graphically shown through the eyes of an 18-year-old boy. The pattern of life seems to evolve around nudity, sex and cursing, all explicitly shown.

"Mark of the Devil" — Set in Austria in 1700 at a time when superstition and religious persecution runs high, a peasant-turned-witchfinder terrorizes the countryside by raping, burning and killing until the townspeople rebel. For those who enjoy violence enough to make you ill. (Boxoffice Magazine)

Supervisor Hopefuls Eye Issues

By DICK SMULLEN

Eight of nine supervisorial candidates in the June 6 election, but only one incumbent, discussed issues last night at a candidate forum sponsored by the Irate Taxpayers of Marin.

Included were Second District candidates William J. Filante, 42, a Greenbrae eye specialist and Barbara Boxer, 31, a former stock broker.

Second District incumbent Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., a 40-year-old stockbroker, was absent. Winifred S. Frederick, program chairman of the taxpayers group, said he canceled to go to another meeting.

Both Third District opponents appeared, incumbent Michael Wornum, 47, an architect-city planner and challenger Rev. Samuel J. Banks Jr., 44, pastor of the Village Baptist Church in Marin City.

All four candidates for the Fourth District seat to be vacated by Louis H. Baar were also present, including Gary T. Giacomini, 32, an attorney; Patricia T. Maginnis, 43, a laboratory technician; James Dougan, 49, an insurance agent, and Michael R. Peevey, 34, research director for the California Labor Federation and a Sacramento lobbyist.

The candidates were asked to give their opinions on five issues — reducing security at the Marin County Civic Center, the proposed countywide general plan, agricultural preserves being created in west Marin, the countywide park district and participation in regional governmental bodies — and for suggestions on cutting county taxes.

Mrs. Boxer and Filante agreed that security should be cut back at the Civic Center, backed regional governmental bodies and favored the proposed countywide general plan, although noting it was weak and without guarantee that development would follow that course.

They differed on the open space questions, agricultural preserves and the countywide park district.

Mrs. Boxer said she was in favor of the agricultural zoning in West Marin calling for 60-acre minimum lots, but Filante said it would have the effect of raising the price of all other land in the county.

Where Mrs. Boxer favored the park district as "a priority" Filante said it presented "great problems" and would create another layer of government.

Mrs. Boxer made these suggestions for cutting taxes: putting surplus funds from any account back into the general fund, instead ofwtransferring and spending the money; exercising more control over departmental spending.

Filante recommended the supervisors save money by bypassing the county administrator's department "whenever possible" and dealing directly with department heads.

He also suggested cutting down on travel and convention expenses, and avoiding state and federal funding of projects.

Both Third District incumbent Wornum and challenger Banks expressed support for the five issues, differing mainly in degree.

Where Wornum favored the proposed countywide general plan, but said it needed teeth for implementation, Banks said he "encouraged" people to look into it.

Banks said agricultural preserves should be "retained and expanded," and Wornum pointed out the economic advantages of such an arrangement, that the land costs little in services for the tax revenues t generates.

Both favored the county park district, Banks pointing out the "rape of Shelter Ridge" as a situation to avoid. Wornum said parks were needed "where the people live", in the eastern section.

Wornum opposed purchase of open space by bond issue, because too much money goes into interest payments, and said parks district control should remain with the board of supervisors, where zoning and condemnation powers are concentrated.

Both advocated participation in regional governmental bodies.

On cutting taxes, Wornum pleaded the supervisors' case to the taxpayers group. He said they try to cut every year, and at present Marin has the second lowest tax rate in the Bay Area, above only San Mateo County.

Banks suggested forming a budget advisory group to make recommendations and suggest redirection of priorities.

Among Fourth District candidates Dougan represented the opposition, criticizing the countywide general plan as "too restrictive", opposing agricultural preserves by zoning "without the property owner's permission", rejecting the park district because "these bureaus have a way of spending money we don't have to spend" and opposing regional governmental bodies as "a firm believer in home rule."

Dougan prefaced his remarks by saying he was seeking office because "no conservative has decided to run."

He did join his three opponents in favoring a reduction in security at the Civic Center.

For saving tax dollars, Dougan suggested abolishing the county administrator's office, to make the supervisors more responsive to the people.

Giacomini, Miss Maginnis and Peevey united in favoring the proposed countywide general plan, creation of agricultural preserves and involvement in regional government.

Giacomini said initiatives may be needed in some cities, specificially mentioning San Rafael, to force implementation of the proposed countywide plan.

To save tax money, he suggested full-time supervisors, or the creation of "very well paid administrative assistants" who, he said, could save "tenfold" what they were paid.

Miss Maginnis said the proposed countywide plan was a "good start" but should provide for solid waste disposal. She said West Marin has serious problems now, and "is not going to be that way forever," while supporting the agriculture preservation zoning.

She recommended child care centers for cutting taxes, citing a Campbell, Santa Clara County, study showing $100 saved in welfare for each $10 spent on child care centers.

Peevey recounted what he said was his "strong" interest in preserving open space, and differed with Dougan in the inclusion of the Olema Valley as open space. Dougan had said the area could be developed without danger to the ecology.

Peevey recommended state legislation as the best way to alleviate property taxes, through implementation of the state Supreme Court's ruling that education should not be funded from property taxes. Miss Fredericks pointed out that the county has nothing to do with that school funding, but Peevey replied the supervisors could go to Sacramento and make their wishes known.

No Solutions Reached At Second Session On Water

By DAVID DIETZ

The audience was larger and the proceedings were livelier last night as Marin Municipal Water District officials conducted the second in a series of community meetings on the agency's water supply dilemma.

About 60 persons turned out for the nearly four-hour session at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley, and antigrowth sentiment ran high.

As at the first meeting held last week in San Anselmo, numerous remedial proposals were made. And, as at San Anselmo, no simple solution was found.

With charts, maps and diagrams, district officials outlined the problem: Present water sources are inadequate to meet future demands, B. G. Grant, special studies engineer for the district, said that because of low rainfall this season, the total reservoir level is expected to plummet to 16,000-acre feet by fall, far below the 52,000 capacity.

The officials listed water requirements until 1985, based on varying growth rate and conslumption. They also offerec new supply choices, ranging from a $300,000 program to raise the level of Kent and Nicasio lakes to construction of a dam on Upper Walker Creek that would cost $18.7 million.

Cost estimates and expected yield of a system for reclaimed water also were noted, and desalinization was touched on, though it was deemed too costly.

Except for a plea by Mill Valley City Councilman Robert E. Burton that serious consideration be given to the reclaimed water concept,there was little discussion of the alternate plans themselves. Speakers instead took the opportunity to criticize indiscriminate use of water and to remind district officials that their first obligation was to current users, not future developments.

One member of the audience wondered whether the district, as a supplier of water, wasn't, in effect, a planning agency.

Robert G. Anderson, chairman of the district board, believed that "natural resources never should be a controlling factor. . .in the level of population. That should be in the hands of the county and city planning commissions."

Board member John M. MacPhail Jr. said district officials have told the county board of supervisors that the district would develop supply for whatever growth rate the county planning commission adopts. (The countywide master plan under consideration envisions an annual Marin growth of 3,300 persons.)

As for water conservation, William R. Seeger, district manager and chief engineer, said a recommendation for a voluntary rationing program this summer would be offered to the board at its next meeting.

The audience had its own water-saving suggestions, ranging from "going back to the rain barrel" to increased reliance by gardeners on organic growing methods.

Many seemed in favor of a change in the district rate structure, which entitles large consumers to lower fees, but virtually no one thought a 25 per cent across-the-board boost in residential rates would discourage poor consumer habits.

However, it was pointed out, stoppage of leaks in the system could save up to a million gallons a day.

The next meeting in the series of four sessions will be at 8 p.m. Thursday at San Rafael High School.

Salvation Army's Drive Starts May 7

The annual drive for funds will be held during Salvation Army week, May 7 through 13, according to Barbara Henderson, Marin county treasurer for the Salvation Army.

Donations to the organization may be made to Mrs. Henderson at the Crocker-Citizens bank in San Rafael.

Beer, Wine License Appeal Hearing Ends

A state hearing officer took under submission yesterday an appeal of the state Alcoholic Beverage Control's refusal to grant a beer and wine license to operators of the Civic Center cafeteria.

Paul A. Winton, who has presided over four all-day hearings on the appeal, will announce his decision within 30 days. The ABC board will then have 60 days to either accept or reject the decision.

During yesterday's session at the Civic Center, two key county officials testified before Winton, but differed sharply over whether a beer and wine license should be issued.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos questioned the propriety of serving alcohol in the Hall of Justice where the cafeteria is located.

He said he would have no objection to serving wine and beer if the cafeteria were located in the administration wing but not where the "sanctity and dignity of the courts" would be violated.

Mountanos was one of about 20 witnesses called by the ABC to testify during the four hearings against the appeal which was requested by Civic Center Caterers, operators of the cafeteria.

The appeal stems from an administrative decision by the ABC staff denying the license because the cafeteria is too close to the courts and county jail.

The sheriff was followed on the stand by Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste who noted that twice the board of supervisors had approved selling wine and beer with meals.

(The board's approval came on 4-1 votes with Supervisor Louis H. Baar dissenting both times.)

Baptiste said he could foresee no law enforcement problems with the sale of liquor at the cafeteria despite the ABC's concern.

In fact, said Baptiste, it might even reduce law enforcement problems since it would enable employees and visitors to enjoy a glass of wine with lunch rather than driving to nearby restaurants.

Others testifying yesterday included Donald A. Giovanoni, a partner in the cafeteria operation; Robert A. Danse of Kentfield, who spoke against the license, and Mario Balestrieri, deputy director of public works, who gave technical information on the layout of the civic center.

Hongisto Stands By His Guns Despite Grumblings

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Richard D. Hongisto may be the nearest thing to a "counter-culture" sheriff any big American city has ever seen.

Last November, he tacked up election posters showing a peace sign inside a sheriff's star and was elected San Francisco County sheriff on a tide of votes from those normally most hostile to law enforcement-blacks, activists, homosexuals and "street people."

Since then, the 35-year-old Hongisto has had his setbacks but his moments of triumph, too. Despite an almost constant underculrrent of controversy some of it from his own deputies, the professorial, pipe-smoking former policeman feels he is on his way toward helping make law enforcement more humane and understanding.

Hongisto concedes that his innovations are made easier by the fact that his 182 deputy sheriffs do not patrol the streets. Under San Francisco's city-county setup, the police department does that. The sheriff'u main concern is operation of the county jails and furnishing bailiffs for the courts.

"I'm different from the conventional people in law enforcement who consistently villainize, stereotype, label and stigmatize inmates," he says.

"The difference between me and them is something more than the fact that I'm twice as imaginative and twice as energetic and a lot smarter.

"It goes back to the fact that really I'm operating from a different political position."

NEW SHERIFF — Richard D. Hongisto, who used a campaign poster with a peace sign within a sheriff's star, scored a victory as sheriff of San Francisco County last November. Since his election he has been the center of many controversies, but he claims he is on his way toward helping make law enforcement more humane and understanding.

(UPI Telephoto)

Hongisto has had a varied career in which to sort out a "different political position."

A graduate of San Francisco State College, he is presently working on a doctorate in criminology at the University of California at Berkeley. He served 10 years on the San Francisco police force before resigning to become an television newsman.

What makes his political position different, Hongisto says, is that he believes there should be a "more equal distribution of wealth" in this country.

Hongisto doesn't advocate any "isms" but he does say the distribution of wealth is the central problem.

"Never in this country have I read or heard said by any law enforcement official the phrase, 'distribution of wealth'." Nor have I heard anyone get down to the fundamental problems of the economics of this society and the role they play in aggravating problems of social justice - which is the same as criminal justice."

Hongisto said he would like his deputies to show more "understanding" and a larger perspective of the reasons inmates are in jail. "The inmates have very real complaints. If they know you're trying to help solve the problems . . . that you're concerned about their welfare, their humanity, the way they're treated, then you're not going to have a lot of problems."

What about the four messy food protests that have occurred recently at the jails? "As soon as I walk in, they stop because they know that I'm doing everything I can to deal with the problems" he said. "And they appreciate it. If you let the inmates know you understand their problems and are pushing for the kinds of activities they themselves are pushing for, you will go a long way towards turning a violent demonstration into a peaceful one."

Hongisto feels he and his staff have "done a great deal" in the three and a half months he's been in office. He named some of his accomplishments:

A rock music concert which netted $14,000 to go towards inmate projects.

Increasing in jail class hours from eight to 75.

Instituting four doctors and five dentists for what they used to pay one of each.

Establishing a volunteer center partially funded by the $750 a month Hongisto says he is taking out of his salary to give to endeavors such as this.

Instituting state-funded training for sheriff's deputies.

Instituting venereal disease and tuberculosis checkups.

Hongisto remains a controversial figure to many.

His deputies have criticized him for subjecting them to ridicule by his public appearances with members of the gay community. "They're just doing a little crying," the sheriff responded.

Others have been surprised by his outspoken views favoring the abolition of laws against "non-victim" crimes. "There is some slight deterrent value to incarceration," Hongisto said, "probably in the case that it has a little slowdown effect. But it is not effective for rehabilitating alcoholics, prostitutes, drug addicts and so on. In the area of non-victim crimes we shouldn't bother - we should think of something else."

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Assembly Stalls Highway Fund Bill

SACRAMENTO (QUPI) — With an Assemblyman declaring it was "one of the most dangerous pieces of legislation ever to come out on this floor," a bill giving the legislature control over the $900 million state highway construction budget has stalled in the Assembly.

The measure by Assemblyman Wadie P. Deddeh, D-Chula Vista, would require that money in the state highway account would be available for highway purposes only when the legislature specifically appropriates the funds.

Currently, the budget of the Department of Public Works is continuously appropriated and is not subject to annual appropriation and legislative review. The state Highway Commission determines how much will be spent on highways and where they will be located.

After heated opposition to the bill, Deddeh put off a vote on the measure Thursday but later told newsmen not enough of his supporters were on the floor and expressed confidence it would be passed later.

Assemblyman Gordon W. Duffy, R-Hanford, declared the measure was "one of the most dangerous pieces of legislation ever to come out on this floor.

Warning that it was a "pork barrel," Duffy said the bill would mean "legislators who have the most political muscle will get highways in their districts."

Another opponent of the measure, Assemblyman Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento, told his colleagues, "If it's not a pork barrel, it's sure as hell one long-handled fork."

Assemblywoman Pauline Davis, D-Portola, also warned the bill was a "very clever attempt to come through the back door" and give Southern California a greater share of highway funds.

Deddeh said the proposal would insure that highway funds are "wisely spent."

However, opponents of the measure by Assemblyman Bob Wood, R-Greenfield, said it would not benefit farmworkers because it would leave the enforcement up to the Department of Agriculture, which they say is industry oriented.

The bill was sent to the Senate Thursday on a 49-11 vote.

VENUE STUDY

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly Rules Committee has approved legislation requiring an investigation into the court-ordered decision to change the location of the Juan Corona trial and other similar change of venue rulings.

The resolution was unanimously approved Thursday and sent to the floor after its author, Assemblyman Ray Johnson, R-Chico, told the panel it was becoming so that "even a drunk could ask for a change of trial."

Johnson introduced the measure earlier this week, sharply criticizing a ruling by the 3rd District Court of Appeal ordering Corona's trial moved out of Sutter County.

ANTI-OBSCENITY

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A Republican senator has proposed legislation designed to tighten the state's anti-obscenity laws and to protect young persons from smut merchants.

Sen. John Harmer of Glendale proposed the package Thursday and said enactment of one bill "would go a long way toward protecting our youth from the dangers of the porno-peddler."

He was referring to a measure making it a public nuisance to distribute material which may be harmful to minors within a one-mile radius of a school or public park.

Another Harmer bill eliminates the "social value test for obscenity and replaces it with a standard stating that a material is obscene if to an average person, "applying contemporary community standards, the dominant theme of the material taken as a whole appeals to the prurient interest."

PESTICIDES

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill supporters say would provide "maximum safe working conditions" for farmworkers in fields where pesticides had been used has been passed by the Assembly.

Hearing Set In Drug Case

A preliminary hearing has been set for Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court for Connie Lucilee Fitzpatrick, 22, who is charged with possessing four different drugs.

She was originally arrested by Sausalito police March 9, 1971, but failed to appear for further proceedings after pleading innocent to possessing heroin, cocaine, marijuana and LSD.

She was rearrested by Sausalito police April 6.

She was originally arrested along with Dana William Hope, 23, when police went to a residence at 216 Glen Drive looking for another person and saw what they thought were drugs.

A warrant is out for the arrest of Hope, who reportedly went to Oregon instead of making court appearances.

A Woman's Backache Often Gets Start During Pregnancy

Backache, a common complaint among women, often begins during pregnancy. The weight of the enlarging uterus weakens the spinal ligaments and back muscles. Care of the young baby often creates fatigue which in time aggravates the distress. Back pain may also stem from kidney disease, inflammation of the pancreas, or disorders of the genital or pelvic organs.

EXERCISES that strengthen the muscles of the trunk are the best preventive. Studies show that women who were active in physical education or sports during their high school or college days are less likely to develop backache during or after pregnancy. This is not true of women who avoided exercises during their teens.

Exercise is a must for the mother-to-be. Not only does it help the back, but improves the circulation, digestion, and elimination. It promotes restful sleep and peace of mind. Women with other children and many household duties do not require as much exercise as those leading a "sit down" life. Athletic types accustomed to strenuous sports, such as swimming, riding horseback, tennis, or golfing may continue unless the exertion causes discomfort.

WALKING is one of the best forms of exercise for most pregnant women. High-heeled shoes should not be worn because they create additional strain on the back and make the woman more susceptible to falls. A mile or two is ample, except on a hot, humid day. Avoid crowds and take it easy. Never push yourself when tired.

Continue to take walks on returning home with the new baby. For the next six weeks, it is well to avoid strenous exercise. The same time limit applies to exercises to restore the tone of the abdominal muscles.

CAUSES OF HEART ATTACK

W. L. writes: Are there any other causes of heart attack besides hardening of the arteries?

REPLY

Yes, but less than one per cent stem from causes other than arteriosclerosis of the coronary arteries. In children and young adults, fibrous changes in the arteries lead to coronary thrombosis. A sudden heart attack with collapse is frequently caused by an irregularity of the beat or failure of the heart to contract. The victim has arteriosclerosis, but there is no blockage of the coronary artery. In the remainder, an occlusion of the artery is noted.

ERSATZ DESSERTS

A. B. writes: I have developed a heart ailment. Will I have to give up whole milk and ice cream, of which I am most fond?

REPLY

There are two schools of thought on this subject. The answer is no, if life is not worth living without milk and ice cream. Yes, if your blood cholesterol is high and your physician believes lowering the level will improve the heart condition. There are many substitutes for milk and ice cream. Among these are skim milk, ice milk, sherbets, gelatin desserts, and dozens of fruit beverages.

OUTLOOK IN LEUKEMIA

L. K. writes: Has a cure been found for leukemia?

REPLY

No, but life has been extended by the use of chemotherapeutic drugs.

FBI Chief Sees No End To Violence

WASHINGTON (UPI) —FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says disorders in public schools indicate racial discord continues despite a decline in mob violence in the streets.

Hoover also reported in congressional testimony released Thursday that the number of assaults on police was swollen to 6,000 a month with 126 officers killed in the line of duty during 1971.

There were 109 incidents involving mob violence in the streets in 1971 compared with 159 in 1970, Hoover said. But the FBI chief said, "Disorders in the nation's secondary schools continue to provide strong evidence that racial discord is far from being at an end.

Hoover told a House Appropriations subcommittee that he believed there were hopeful signs for crime fighters.

"Basically I think there is a general improvement in the country as a whole. I think our present Supreme Court shows some indication of a change in its philosophy. I'm glad to see it," he said.

Troubled Giants Lose, 7-6; Little Help In Sight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)-- The San Francisco Giants are in trouble and there is no forseeable help in sight.

Thursday's 7-6 loss to the light-hitting Philadelphia Phillies served to illustrate the Giants' problems — basically lack of pitching.

The 1947 Giants, then based in New York, hit a record 221 homers and finished fifth in an eight-team league. The 1972 Giants won't even come close to hitting 200 homers and with a similar lack of pitching, it's almost sure they won't be a factor in the National League West race, unless there is a sudden turnabout in their pitching or they pick up a helpful hand or two by trade.

John Cumberland, counted on as the club's No. 3 pitcher behind Juan Marichal and Sam McDowell, can't seem to go much beyond five innings. Thursday the Giants staked him to a 3-1 lead and he frittered it away by the middle of the sixth. A three-run homer by Deron Johnson and a pair of bases-empty blasts by Don Money—one off reliever Don McMahon—did the damage.

Ron Byrant, who has been trying to prove himself a big league pitcher for four years, was given a chance to get the six final outs after the Giants got up off the floor to tie the score at 6-6 in the seventh, but he didn't measure up as Greg Luzinski reached him for a 420-foot homer leading off the ninth. That turned out to be the winning run.

"You've got to win when you get six runs," moaned Giants skipper Charlie Fox. "The name of the game still is pitching."

Asked if there was anyone in Phoenix who could help, Fox shook his head sadly.

"Frank Reberger pitched a shutout the other day for Phoenix," Fox said, "but he gave up 11 hits and walked nine guys. He's never get a shutout in the big leagues by giving up 11 hits. No, we don't have a guy in Phoenix who can help us."

Fox added the club is still trying to swing a trade but he has little hope of success.

"No one gives away a pitcher and everybody we talk with wants more than we can afford to give up," he said.

Thus, as things stand now, if the Giants are to gain any success the present 10-man pitching staff is going to have to produce.

Wednesday, Giants pitching gave up 15 hits but the team beat the Phillies on extra base hits and five double plays. In Thursday's loss, Dave Kingman and Tito Fuentes continued their hot hitting but it wasn't enough.

Young Kingman drove in three runs with a single, his fifth homer and an infield out while Fuentes banged out four singles in five at bats. The three RBI's gave Kingman a major league leading total of 15, but since he's been hitting the Giants have won only five and lost seven. They already have fallen quite a ways behind the Los Angeles Dodgers and

SPORT NOTES

Quiet Scoreboard At Candlestick

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Keeping pace with the Giants' pitching staff, the million dollar scoreboard at Candlestick Park broke down yesterday and in terms of witty messages it was speechless. Oh, it let you know who was at bat and balls and strikes, the basic things, but the OLD scoreboard did that.

Art Santo Domingo, Giants' press relations director, has been given the extra duty of coming up with the messages for the scoreboard, but the actual operation of it is being carried out by Joe Agnese of Petaluma and Roberto Heckscher of Daly City. They were trying to get the thing fixed yesterday but no luck — no messages.

"I've got 36 letters per line and six lines to work with," said Santo Domingo. "We'll have it fixed in no time." I waited, but no luck. It remained speechless. There was no "Bye, Bye, Baby!" in remembrance of the late Russ Hodges when Dave Kingman blasted a home run far over the left field screen. But then again, there as nothing to say when the Philadelphia Phillies crashed four home runs, the last one by left fielder Greg Luzinski winning the game in the ninth inning, 7-6.

The Giants' pitching staff has given up a horrible total of 16 home runs in 12 games. It's dreadful. Despite the power being displayed by big Dave Kingman, without pitching help the Giants are going to be in serious trouble. Yesterday southpaw John Cumberland came apart at the seams in the sixth inning, after going into it with a 3-2 lead.

With two runners on base in that ugly inning, Cumberland put one right down the pipe to first baseman Deron Johnson and he hit it about 400 feet but luckily for John, Johnson pulled it foul. Two pitches later another one came down the middle and this time Johnson hit it fair and one of the fans in the left field bleachers had himself a souvenir.

It is sad to see Willie Mays slowing down after so many great years in baseball, but at 40 how many more games can he be expected to play? In the first inning, with Tito Fuentes on first base, Mays hit a ground ball to Phil shortstop Larry Bowa who fielded the ball, fell down, got up and threw to second baseman Terry Harmon for the force on Fuentes. And then Harmon's relay throw to first got Mays by a step. It was a slow double play, and wouldn't have had a chance in Mays' younger days. He's lost that extra step.

Well, such is life. The weather was fine at Candlestick, the completed rim around the stadium cut down the wind, and with only 3,671 spectators present, there was enough leg room for all. And heck, I went to see the scoreboard, not the game.

WELL DESERVED honors will go to Vernon (Lefty) Gomez of Fairfax, new member of the Hall of Fame, tonight when he and Joe DiMaggio are feted by the San Francisco Press Club. The two baseball greats were on the same Yankee teams in six of their baseball years.

THREE MEMBERS of the Katharine Branson School (Ross) tennis team are competing in what is billed as the world's largest tennis tournament, the Ojai Invitational in Southern California this weekend. Randi Strong will be entered in the girls 16 singles and Jane Maushardt and Susan Phelps will team in the girls 16 doubles. The Ojai is the largest and oldest amateur tennis tourney in the world, drawing a thousand players in its 73rd year.

LEE WORKS OUT — Golfer Lee Trevino lifted weights at the President's Spa in Dallas yesterday after rain washed out the opening round of the $125,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic. Trevino was one of the favorites as the tourney was set to begin today with a double round in making up for the day lost from rain. (UPI Telephoto)

Tars Wipe Out 9-Run Deficit

The way things have been going lately, nobody would have blamed the College of Marin Tars baseball team if it had turned around and gone home after the first inning against Solano College in Suisun yesterday.

The Tars gave up nine runs to trail, 9-0, and appeared well on their way to their fifth straight loss and 13th in 17 Camino Norte Conference games. Instead, they rallied dramatically and pulled out a 12-10 victory.

"Everybody had a little piece of the pie," said elated coach John Panagakis. "I've got to give credit to the bench. It was a real team victory."

Tom Olson, who was stationed in right field and had not pitched in more than a month because of a sore shoulder, was summoned to the mound in the first inning. He gave up only one unearned run the rest of the way, and won his own game with a two-run homer in the sixth.

The Tars picked up six runs in that frame. Mike Dito knocked in one with a single, then Bob Sutherland plated two more with a pinch-hit triple, and Olson followed with his homer.

Larry Brazda drove in four runs with a double and single for the Tars, while Jim Thompson went two for four with one RBI in a substitute role.

VIOLENT RAINS STOP

Play Finally Begins In Nelson Golf Tournament

DALLAS (UPI)—The $125,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic, plagued for the seventh straight year by violent spring rains, finally began its first round today, a full 24 hours behind schedule.

Skies were partly cloudy as golfers took to the tees. The weather bureau predicted mild temperatures, clearing skies and light winds, conditions not expected to fully dry soggy greens.

The heavy rains stopped Thursday but the normally long and tortuous Preston Trail Golf Club's 7,086-yard, par 35-35—70 layout remained soggy and its lightning fast greens were braked down to a walk by a 12-hour, 2.5-inch rain, more than the course had received for the past four months.

But, that was nothing new for this tournament, which has had four postponements and been the target of numerous storms over the last seven of its 17 previous starts.

With clear crisp weather forecast, however, there was high hope the $125,000 affair could wind up on schedule by playing 36 holes Sunday, just as it was forced to do in 1970 when Jack Nicklaus started his current string of Nelson triumphs by beating Arnold Palmer in a sudden death playoff after the two had staged a 36-hole battle.

That was the same year a windstorm ripped up the course and left it littered with trees, tents and televsiion towers, torrential rains left the course in such sorry shape the par-4 479-yard 10th hole had to be played at par-5 and the 357-yard, par 4 17th hole was shortened to a par-3 by moving the tee forward to dry, playable ground.

But, back when the rain streak started — in 1966 when it was still known as the Dallas Open and played at Oak Cliff Country Club — the rains came and came until the tournament wasn't completed until a Tuesday — two days late — with Roberto Devicenzo's 276 earning him the first prize of $15,000 or 2,850,000 Argentine pesos.

The following year, still at the Oak Cliff layout, it took the field until Monday for Bert Yancey to post a 274 winning score.

Then, the tourney moved to Preston Trail and the rains followed. They held off that first year, despite threats, until 30 minutes after Miller Barber won with a record 10-under-par 270 that barely squeezed him home in front of Kermit Zarleys tremendous final round 62.

A rainout marred 1969 play when Bruce Devlin's 277 took it all, then Nicklaus started his domination in the stormy 1970 event.

Nicklaus won again last year with his second six-under-par 274 when it only rained at night.

Before Thursday's downpours forced this year's delay, the Greens were slick and the fairways solid — just to Nicklaus' taste. But Nicklaus, after a practice round and eyeing the weather forecasts, had commented:

"If anyone breaks 280, they'll do it with a pencil."

Weather permitting, it remains to be determined if Nicklaus is as good a prophet as he is at playing Preston Trail.

Farrar Of San Rafael Jumps 6-4

Mark Farrar of San Rafael High School recorded the second best high jump in Marin County history yesterday when he cleared a bar set at six feet, four inches while San Rafael was losing a dual meet to visiting Drake.

Farrar's leap leaves him behind only Gerald Robertson of Tamalpais, who did 6-5¼ last year.

Blue Meets Kuhn; A's In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (UPI) —All of the Oakland Athletics, including Vida Blue, were busy today along the shores of Lake Michigan.

Blue, the team's superlative lefthanded pitcher, and his agent, attorney Robert Gerst of Los Angeles, were meeting at an undisclosed Chicago location with baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn and A's owner Charles O. Finley. They are trying to find a way that the holdout pitcher can come to terms with Finley for the 1972 season so the entire American League may benefit.

A few miles north in Milwaukee manager Dick Williams is getting his Athletics ready for tonight's opener of a three-game series with the Brewers.

Newly acquired lefty Ken Holtzman (1-1) of the A's is slated to go against righthander Jim Slaton (1-1) of the Brewers.

Staub Spoils Debut By Manager Zimmer

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Don Zimmer and Rusty Staub got pretty friendly last season when they were both with the Montreal Expos.

Staub, now with the New York Mets, spoiled Zimmer's debut as San Diego manager by hitting a homer. Jerry Grote also belted a homer, the deciding tally, and a runscoring triple in a 4-3 win by the Mets, their sixth straight including three over the Padres.

Zimmer, a third base coach with the Mets, had a similar job with the Padres until Thursday when manager Preston Gomez was fired. Zimmer moved up to headman.

"That's Staub, my buddy," said Zimmer after the loss.

Zimmer, 41, known as "Popeye" because of his forearm development when he played with the Dodgers some years back, said, "Well, you can't win 'em all."

FISH AND GAME

Long Wait Is Over For Stream Anglers

By AL GIDDINGS

Tomorrow trout season opens in many streams and rivers in the central coastal region, but anglers should check the general trout season regulations. Most of the north coastal streams will not open until May 27. The north coast streams are in parts of Mendocino County, and in Humboldt, Trinity, Siskiyou and Del Norte Counties.

The reason for the late opening on these streams is to be sure that the yearling salmon and steelhead have already migrated to sea, otherwise, these fish would be taken as trout. Instead, they go to sea and upon their return make up the adult steelhead and salmon fisheries for which these streams are noted.

I HOPE the 30,000 yearling silver salmon and the 10,000 yearling steelhead planted in Papermill Creek last month have gone to sea. If they haven't, and are caught as trout, then the real reason for the plants will be lost. If you are a steelhead or salmon fisherman you might not want to fish Papermill for fear of catching some of these plants, but let's hope they have all migrated. I plan to take a creel check in the planted areas tomorrow to see just what happens.

All the streams except Devil's Gulch Creek in Marin County will be open with the limit being 10 trout per day and 10 in possession. Devil's Gulch Creek is closed the year around as it is considered a prime nursery area for salmon and steelhead fingerlings.

ALL OF THE LAKES and reservoirs of Marin County will also remain open as now under current regulations they are open the year around. The bag limit regulations are somewhat confusing. In the planted lakes of the county which includes Lagunitas, Bon Tempe, Phoenix and Rodeo Lagoon, the trout limit stays at five. In Alpine, Kent and other lakes of the county, the limit will be 10 to coincide with the stream limits. The special limit of five on the lakes listed above is to relieve some of the heavy pressure there.

Bon Tempe, Lagunitas and Phoenix are scheduled for plants this week. Other reservoirs and lakes scheduled for plants this week include Atascadero Lake, Oceano Lagoon, Laguna Lake and Lopez Reservoir in San Luis Obispo County; Loch Lomond Reservoir in Santa Cruz County; Arroyo del Valle Reservoir in Alameda County; Lake Merced in San Francisco County; Lake Chabot in Solano County; Hennessey Lake Impoundment in Napa County; Upper Blue Lake and Pillsbury Lake in Lake County, and Cleone Lake in Mendocino County.

OTHER STATEWIDE hot spots that are now open and producing are Eagle Lake near Susanville where limits of large fish, some running to eight pounds are being taken by shore anglers. In Modoc County, Duncan, Reservoir "F" and James Reservoirs are top prospects. Outstanding waters in the northern Sierra region include Stampede, near Truckee, where limit catches are now falling to shore line bait duckers. Prosser is also producing right now. Davis Lake, near Portola and Frenchman Reservoir, near Chilcoot, are also top producers at this time. (On Davis Lake the year around trout limit is five.) Antelope Lake in Placer County will be stocked, if possible, by tomorrow. Letts Lake in Colusa County will also be planted.

Spokesmen for the California Fish and Game Commission and the Department of Fish and Game reminded anglers today that the special fly fishing season on the Trinity River will open May 27 rather than June 3. The date was fixed because of an apparent discrepancy in the 1972 sport fishing regulations booklet. As is usually the case, spokesmen said, the more liberal date is the one used. The special season, which will close Sept. 15, applies to a stretch of the river from the Old Lewiston Bridge to a point 250 feet below the Lewiston Dam. The limit is three trout.

DON'T FORGET to get your 1972 angling license and the two stamps if you haven't already done so. Kids under 16 don't need a license.

Stafford Lake near Novato opens tomorrow with 500 to 1,000 anglers expected there. Last year bluegill and black bass made up most of the catches, but catfish and even striped bass were sometimes in the overall catch. Opening day there is usually a successful affair for everyone, but you better get there early. Fishing time starts countywide at one hour before sunrise which is 4:16 a.m. It ends at one hour after sunset which is 8:01 p.m. Now aren't those nice hours for the game wardens? Poor devils! On Sunday add one hour — it's daylight saving time.

NICE GOING — Philadelphia left fielder Greg Luzinski (19) received congratulations from manager Frank Lucchesi (1) and Larry Bowa (10) after belting a game-winning home run in the ninth inning yesterday at Candlestick Park. Coach Ray Rippelmeyer (4), Roger Freed (20), and Ron Stone (21) also congratulated Luzinski who made the Phillies a 7-6 winner. (UPI Telephoto)

Qualifying Set For High School Tennis Tourney

A doubles tournament to determine the Marin County Athletic League's tennis representative to the North Coast Sectionals will be held tomorrow at 8:15 a.m. at College of Marin in Kentfield.

Each MCAL school which elects to participate will send one team.

Matches to determine the MCAL's singles representative were to be held this afternoon among Dave Bacon of San Rafael High School, Dan Tierney of Redwood and Bob Goldfien of Terra Linda, at a site which had not been determined at Independent-Journal press time. The players were to draw straws, with short straw getting a bye and eventually meeting the winner of the match between the other two.

The NCS tournament will be held next Saturday at Castro Valley High School.

Marin Car Rally Set In Corte Madera

The Marin Rally Association will present a Sagittarius Aardvark car rally Saturday, May 6, 6:15 p.m., at the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

A $3 per carload fee will be taken for this third rally in the MRA "Pot of Gold" series.

Reds Turn On Speed In Beating Pirates

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

That Big Red Machine of 1970, the National League champion Cincinnati Reds, has a new look this season, and perhaps should be renamed "The Road Runners."

The Reds, who surged to the National League title in 1970 on the strength of big bats, traded for speed and defense last winter after finishing fourth in the Western Division, 11 games behind the San Francisco Giants.

They acquired Joe Morgan and Denis Menke from the Houston Astros in exchange for home run hitter Lee May in their big winter deal and they showed Thursday night why their new look gives them new hope.

Morgan singled, stole second and third and rode home on Ted Ihlaender's single to snap a tie in the ninth inning and pave the way for the Reds' 5-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The victory was the fourth in 10 games this season for the Reds.

The Reds displayed their new kind of basebal to 12,504 fans in Pittsburgh Thursday night when Morgan stole second after leading off the ninth with his single. Morgan's steal forced the Pirates to intentionally walk Bobby Tolan and then Morgan and Tolan executed a double steal.

Johnny Bench popped out but Tony Perez was intentionally walked and Uhlaender, hitless in 11 previous appearances as a National Leaguer, delivered his key hit.

The New York Mets beat the San Diego Padres, 4-3, the Philadelphia Phillies downed the San Francisco Giants, 7-6, and the Montreal Expos topped the Los Angeles Dodgers, 7-5, in Thursday's only other major league games.

GIANTS

Houston Astros, the teams they have to beat in the N.L. West.

Thursday's loss was the fifth in the last six games for San Francisco and the Giants are closer to the N.L. West cellar than they are to first place.

The Giants begin a four-game weekend series with the Montreal Expos tonight with Don Carrithers (1-1) pitching against Steve Renko (1-1). Saturday afternoon it will be Steve Stone (0-0) against Mike Torrez (0-0) and in a doubleheader Sunday Marichal (1-2) and McDowell (2-0) will pitch against Bill Stoneman (2-1) and Carl Morton (0-1).

Ironically, Stoneman and Morton are two of the pitchers the Giants tried hard to deal for this spring.

Astro Fans Excited About Their Team

In Houston there are two kinds of Astros — the space men who fly to the moon and the baseball earthlings of the Astrodome. The space men have been performing such unbelievable feats during the past decade that it is understandable why the Astrodome's earth men have generally been ignored.

But Houston now is getting excited, very excited, about the Astrodome groundlings who are threatening to go into orbit. Never previously since they joined the National League in 1962 have the baseball Astros been flying so high.

AFTER LOSING their opening games to the Giants in the Dome, the Astros have been on a heady win streak, including their first series sweep of the Giants in Candlestick Park last weekend. It's premature, of course, but Houston is buzzing with World Series talk.

A southern gentleman from Columbus, Ga., is the one man responsible for the transformation of the Astros from an also-ran ball club into a real pennant contender. He is Spec Richardson, a genius in management, not on the ball field but behind the scenes.

Richardson was 23 when he became concessions manager of the ball club in his native Columbus in 1946. In 1948 he moved up as business manager of the Jacksonville ball club in Florida. In 1953 he became Jacksonville's general manager. In 1958 he became general manager of the Houston Buffs, a job he held until Houston joined the major leagues.

JUDGE ROY HOFHEINZ, owner of the Colt .45s as the Astros were known in their formative years, appointed Richardson as his chief aide. Five years ago Hofheinz put Richardson in complete charge of the team as vice president and general manager.

Richardson not only demanded but got results from all of his farm scouts and what his scouts couldn't produce he got from other clubs in some very shrewd trades.

Last winter Richardson made three multi-player deals. From Kansas City he got Jim York and Lance Clemons, a promising rookie southpaw, for John Mayberry and Dave Grangaard. York was Kansas City's bullpen ace last season. He throws a sidearm sinker. He struck out 103 batters in 93 innings last year. His ERA was 2.90.

THE ASTROS COULD afford to trade Mayberry's power bat because in another winter deal they got Lee May from Cincinnati along with Tommy Helms and Jim Stewart for Joe Morgan, Jack Billingham, Denis Menke, Cesar Geronimo and Ed Armbrister.

From the San Diego Padres Richardson got Dave Roberts for Derrel Thomas, Bill Greif and Mark Schaeffer. Roberts won 14 games for the lowly Padres last season with a 2.10 ERA.

Still, Richardson wasn't through dealing. During the opening series between the Giants and Astros in Houston, Richardson announced that he had acquired Jerry Reuss from the Cardinals for Scipio Spinks and Clemons.

NOW, HE HAD starting southpaws in Roberts and Reuss to complement the Astros' starting righthanders, Don Wilson and Larry Dierker. Backing them up is another most capable starter, Ken Forsch. And behind that starting five are George Culver, Wade Blasingame, Jim Ray, York and Fred Gladding.

No team in the National League this year can match the Astros' pitching depth — starters or bullpen. In addition to which they now have a potent hitting ball club and one of the best infield defenses in the league.

Dallas Cage Coach Picked—McCarthy

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

DALLAS — The dean of the American Basketball Association — James H. "Babe" McCarthy — has been named as head coach of the Dallas Chaparrals.

The 48-year-old McCarthy, head coach and general manager of the floundering Memphis Pros for the past two seasons, will succeed Tom Nissalke who resigned last week to take over the Seattle Supersonics of the rival National Basketball Association.

McCarthy said he had been released from his coaching contract with the Pros to take the new job and that the ABA league office has approved the new pact, the terms of which were not released.

In other singles action, Tom Okker, the third-seeded player, defeated Owen Davidson, 7-5, 6-7, 6-3, and John Newcombe topped Cliff Drysdale, 6-3, 6-7, 7-5.

DENVER — Claude Terry, a 6-foot-5, 195-pound guard who set season and career scoring records at Stanford, signed a contract Thursday with the Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association.

Terry, who scored 1,566 points in three years at Stanford and who averaged a school high 21.2 points per game this year, was Denver's No. 2 draft choice. The Phoenix Suns of the National Basketball Association drafted him in the third round.

Baseball

CHICAGO — Chicago Cubs manager Leo Durocher was released from Wesley Memroial Hospital Thursday after undergoing a series of tests and will resume command of the ball club today.

Dr. Jacob Suker, the Cubs' team physician, said tests performed on the 65-year-old Durocher were negative and that Durocher was feeling good.

He entered the hospital Monday after an examination.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By WAT TAKESHITA

Northgate Shopping Center Gets New Businesses In Fall

Bumbleberry Parlors restaurant, two shoe stores, a hosiery shop and a dress shop will be among the many new businesses moving into The Mall at Northgate Shopping Center this fall.

They will occupy two new buildings now under construction between the existing Mall and the new Sears store.

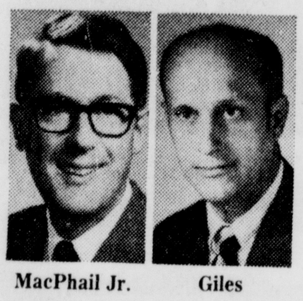
Bumbleberry Parlors is a small restaurant chain operating in the San Jose and Peninsula areas.

Walter P. Smith, manager of The Mall, has lined up other new tenants for the two new buildings, which are scheduled to be open about September:

Foxmoor Casuals dress shop, Regal Shoes, Parklane Hosiery, Kinney Shoes, Eureka Federal Savings and Loan, Eastport Imports souvenir and gift shop of San Jose, and Clyde de Barcelona's second beauty shop. Chandler's Fabrics, located in another section of The Mall, will move into the new building.

Despite this influx into The Mall, the new buildings are only half filled, leaving about 20,000 square feet still available. These buildings and the Sears-Roebuck complex will occupy the last 15 acres available at Northgate Shopping Center.

All the new stores are expected to be in full swing by Thanksgiving and Christmas.



MacPhail Jr. Giles

McPHAIL'S INC. of San Rafael announced the appointment of John MacPhail Jr. as executive vice president; Paul S. Giles as vice president and general sales manager; and Dennis Parsons as vice president, finance and administration.

McPhail was promoted from the position of vice president. Giles was merchandising manager, and Parsons the controller.

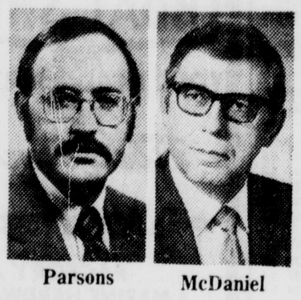
McPhail's Inc. President David G. Stephens announced that the appointments are part of a corporate reconstructing in preparation for expansion of both facilities and services.

McPhail's Inc., headquartered at 917 C Street, San Rafael, sells major household appliances, fuels, building materials, heating and air conditioning units to customers in Marin and Sonoma Counties. Chairman of the board of directors is Graham McPhail, Sr.

The firm began as a livery stable 88 years ago and became The McPhail Fuel Co. in 1922.



Parsons McDaniel

WALTER R. McDANIEL of Novato has been promoted to branch manager of Security Pacific National Bank's Serramonte Plaza branch in Daly City.

Formerly assistant manager, McDaniel now takes administrative charge of the branch, heading a staff of eight. He succeeds John Wilhelm, who is now branch manager of the bank's Palo Alto branch.

McDaniel, a 26-year veteran of the United States Air Force, joined the bank in 1969 and became assistant manager at the Serramonte Plaza branch in 1971.

BETTY'S BRIDGE CLUB, where duplicate bridge is taught and played, opened this month at 920 Sherman Avenue, Novato.

Owner is Betty Krambs, who has been playing duplicate bridge about five years. She will be assisted by life master Betty Marggraf of San Rafael, who will be instructor.

The club will have games on Thursday and Friday at 8 p.m. and Saturday at 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. The Thursday night game is for junior players; the others are open to all players.

CONCEPT OVERSOLD

Degree Not Key To Best Jobs

By LEROY POPE

NEW YORK (UPI)—For two decades it has been accepted as gospel in the United States that a person has little chance to make a good living without a college education.

Now, we are discovering the truth of what many campus rebels have been preaching the past five or six years—that a college education is no guarantee of a satisfactory job.

The U.S. Office of Education is warning young persons that within a few years only about 20 per cent of all the annual job openings will require the equivalent of a college education.

Government officials admit government bureaus seriously miscalculated the educational requirements of industry, commerce and the professions in recent years. Only a few years ago the federal labor department talked of a continuing shortage of teachers. Thousands of youngsters trained to become teachers. Now teaching is a contracting vocation and thousands of these youngsters cannot find jobs.

The St. Louis Regional Industrial Development Corp. has launched a campaign to "unsell" youth on the idea that college is absolutely necessary.

"Far more youngsters need up-to-date vocational or technical training than need college from the standpoint of job careers," said D. Reid Ross, executive vice president of the St. Louis group. "There are about 21,000 job classifications in the United States. By 1980 there will be 30,000 and comparatively few will require even a bachelor's degree."

Ross cited a relatively recent government report saying that, while 10 million American youths are enrolled in vocational or technical schools today, 25 million should be.

He conceded that in persuading young people to enroll for technical and vocational careers, the big problem is to avoid training them for jobs that already are becoming technologically obsolescent.

To avoid this, his organization works with 39,000 employers in the St. Louis metropolitan area and more than 200 private technical schools as well as the public schools to make certain the training programs are geared to the future.

The group has just held a Career Fair at the city's convention hall with more than 100 exhibitors.

The purpose was to demonstrate to youngsters and their parents the range of careers for which college is not necessary. A 125-man volunteer committee, mainly young businessmen and educators, visit public schools to talk to students and teachers.

"We expected to meet opposition from teachers who naturally are college oriented," Ross said. "To our surprise we didn't. The teachers are aware of the realities."

"We are not anti-college," Ross said. "It's fine for kids to go to college for self-fulfillment and many will find their careers there. But the notion that college automatically opens doors to careers is myth that ought to be laid to rest."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Oxford Can Hold; Spencer's Cloudy

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would like your opinion on two stocks which I have held for a few years, Oxford Industries and Spencer Companies, NYSE and ASE, respectively. — J. H.

A. Record high revenues and earnings were posted by Oxford Ind. in its 9-month fiscal 1971 February interim with volume climbing 15 per cent to $138.9 million and net per share spurting 42 per cent to $1.69 from the previous year's $1.20. Contributing to these impressive results were strong apparel orders and a pickup in business products (which the firm distributes). This combination is expected to continue to bolster results for the remainder of the current business year with earnings expected in the $2.00-$2.20 area. Undervalued on these estimates, Oxford shares may be held for additional appreciation potential.

Spencer Companies, also involved in the apparel industry (roughly 30 per cent of 1970-71 operations were derived from the manufacture of women's specialty items), reported flat year-to-year earnings results for the 9-month February interim, as sales rose 13.2 per cent and profits remained level at 71 cents a share. Being involved in the shoe industry as a retailer and manufacturer, Spencer shares are trading under a cloud due to the import competition in the low-priced shoe area — a situation which may continue over the near term.

Q. I notice that Chrysler has a new low of $28 now. Last year's low was $16. How are these lows determined and why are they changed? — R. W.

A. The low on a stock represents the lowest point at which it has traded in a given period. Thus far in 1972, $28 is the low point for Chrysler. The $16 figure was the lowest price at which shares changed hands in 1970. For a few months after the turn of the year, newspapers generally list the previous annual high and low combined with those of the current year. Daily figures are also listed for the highest and lowest trade of that session as well as the opening and closing transactions.

Offered A Hand, He Lost An Ear

LONDON (UPI)—An American had his ear bitten off when he went to the aid of Australian tourists being mugged in the London subway.

A spokesman for Westminister Hospital said John Sharkey, formerly of Philadelphia but now living in London, was resting comfortably following an operation Wednesday night which stitched his ear back on.

Police said Sharkey went to the aid of three Australians being mugged by thieves at the Victoria subway station. One of the thieves bit his ear off.

The ear was lost in the train, but police recovered it seven stations later and rushed it to Westminister hospital where doctors rejoined it to Sharkey.

Car Theft Case To Higher Court

A Marin Municipal Court judge has ruled there is enough evidence to try Charles James Gaines, 18, of San Rafael on a charge of car theft.

Judge Peter Allen Smith ordered him bound over to Marin Superior Court to appear May 11.

Gaines was arrested Feb. 13 after he allegedly abandoned a car in a left-turn lane on Second Street in San Rafael. Police arrested him shortly afterward in the Montecito Shopping Center on suspicion of stealing the vehicle.

Large Assignment Merits Broad Support

Peter C. Meyer, Marin County's elections officer, is both a man of ideas and a man of action — a happy combination too seldom found in one person.

He is also a man with deep faith in and love for his adopted country: the Unitedtates of America. This faith and love is intensified by the contrast he sees between the U.S.A. and East Germany, where he grew up, first under Hitler and then under the Communists.

IT IS EMINENTLY fitting that Meyer has undertaken on his own a project that should have (but hasn't yet) received a very high priority among educators: the education of high school youth in local government.

The need became apparent to Meyer as he began registering 18-year-olds to vote. It didn't take him long to discover that for most of them, the vote means presidential choices, election of senators and governor. While high schools all give courses in American government," these largely concern themselves with government of the United States as a whole. "Grassroots government" — county officialdom, the city council, the school board — are scarcely mentioned in most of the texts.

PERHAPS THE THEORY has been that youth would somehow become aware of and interested in local government after leaving high school — but before reaching the voting age of 21. If so, now that the voting age has been lowered to 18, such a theory no longer has any validity.

It never had much, anyhow. The decline of concern with local government is brought inot sharp focus by comparison of two sets of figures: In the 1910 municipal election in San Anselmo (as reported in the Marin Journal), 310 of 324 registered voters cast ballots. For this month's San Anselmo municipal election, there were 7,004 registered to vote, but only 3,162 of them cast ballots.

FOR PETER MEYER, to see a need is to do something about it. So, assisted by his wife, Patricia, he created an organization called the New Voter, produced the initial issue of its official publication, had articles of incorporation drawn up, and went to work on a tremendous and inspiring project.

That project is to get into California high schools a course of study in local government, to equip the soon-to-be 18-year-olds with what they need to know to exercise their right to vote where it counts most.

Others have seen the need for such a project but it took a naturalized American in the Marin County clerk's office to do something about it.

Meyer has handed himself a large assignment. He deserves full support in it from every organization and individual to whom the rights of free men in a democracy are important. As Meyer knows from experience, the responsibilities that go with those rights must be cultivated, or the rights themselves will be lost.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Stabilization? We Have It Everywhere

I would like to challenge strenuously some of the points raised by Mr. Winters in the April 20 letters to the editor column concerning the IRS scrutiny of private bank transactions.

I object to the implication that the U.S. monetary situation is unstable. The rate of inflation has been remarkably stable.

In regards to the little guy vs. big business, the President has made great efforts to influence the little guy. Look at food price stabilization, at tax stabilization, at Vietnam war stabilization. Furthermore I haven't heard of a single political contribution over $400,000 from a little guy.

Finally as regards requiring a foreign bank account for travel, you don't see Mr. Nixon resorting to foreign bank accounts when he travels outside the U.S.

I think if we all make more constructive use of our president's example everything will finally become perfectly clear despite the tricky going.

R.C. FOX

EOC Investigation Should Include Board

Your Saturday article on the misuse of EOC funds is most revealing, and a responsible journalistic service to Marin's taxpayers. However, the investigation should not be confined just to the employees of that organization, but should include the activities of the board of directors as well.

For instance, I had the White Panther Party commune as neighbors for almost two years, and their activities were periodically reported in your paper. The president of the EOC board of directors, Mr. Robert P. Simmons, is also a Corte Madera councilman and has expressed his sympathy and support of them with EOC funds. The fact that Mr. Simmons is some sort of bookkeeper makes the misplacing of these funds appear ludicrous enough, but his refusal to answer a certified letter I sent him regarding his statements gives the whole mess a new dimension of suspicion. . .

We Will Always Have Anti-Red Commitment

Readers have come to expect Detroit editor John Knight's warped Vietnam opinions reprinted regularlay in the IJ along with the daily anti-Nixon editorial cartoon. His tired analysis of April 15, as usual, conveniently leaves out many facts unfavorable to his advocacy of Communist appeasement. For example, he fails to mention that the Vietminh that fought the French included many non-Communist southerners and that these were disarmed by the communists in the closing stages of the war; that Ho Chih Minh ordered the wholesale liquidation of all non-Communists in the North that did not escape to the South. (The exchange of refugees incidentally favored the South about 8 to 1.) Partly because of these executions, it was obvious to non-Communist South Vietnamese by 1956 that Ho would not have to get many votes in the South to add to his 99 per cent in the North (the percentage Communists usually claim in "free elections") to win overall. Hence, no elections were held.

Knight cities a Cornell professor's ridiculous statement that the Geneva agreements did not leave two separate states. They were recognized diplomatically as separate states by other powers. And as for Knight's sneering reference to "dire predictions of a bloodbath" if the Communists conquered the South, one need only look at what happened during their occupation of Hue in 1968 to realize the truth of these predictions. Concluding that "we have fulfilled our 'commitment' if indeed we had any," Knight sides with the McGoverns, Humphreys, and Muskies who favor our ending all aid to South Vietnam while the USSR increases its flow of offensive arms to the northern aggressors. We will always have a commitment to support non-Communist victims of invasion and subversion as long as the Reds continue their expansionist policies. The alternative would be to face the type of world that Britain faced after the fall of France in 1940 — only without an ally like America to back us up.

Law Provides Curb On Water Shortage

As a concerned citizen, I appreciate your editorial (April 18), "Needless Confusion About Water Supply." You did an excellent job ot defusing warnings of a "water shortage."

The Marin Municipal Water District should now begin gaining public confidence by vigorously encouraging water conservation as a permanent practice-not as an interiv measure because of an "emergency" situation.

The Marin Municipal Water District and other utilities can easily abuse their power by helping create shortages which often force the public into accepting undesirable solutions (i.e. Sonoma-Marin aqueducts). Pacific Gas and Electric perpetually warns of an energy crisis and at the same time encourages customers to increase electrical consumption by buying new appliances.

In the case of water supply, we are protected by Section 356 of the State Water Code which authorizes water districts to limit new connections if a water shortage threatens. If there is any likelihood of rationing, present users are protected over the right of developers who want to make new hookups. This provision, if enforced, would never allow a water shortage to occur. Voters then would not face the spectre of dry faucets if they voted down an aqueduct.

The electorate is realizing that they do not have to subsidize unreasonable growth by providing new services (in this case, an expansion of water supply). This is illustrated by passage of initiatives against urban growth in Livermore and Pleasanton. If voters do want growth, they should be able to vote on bond issues without public agencies exerting illegal pressure tactics.

Mrs. Hoag Vs. Schools; Is Voucher Plan Answer?

By RUS WALTON

Barbara Jacqueline Hoag of Sacramento has taken on the education establishment. She refuses to send her two daughters, Sasha and Jamie, to public school.

It is no surprise that Mrs. Hoag was hauled into court and found guilty of violating California's compulsory education laws. I mean: the system is more important than what an individual parent thinks best for her children, itsn't it?

But Mrs. Hoag stands firm. She will appeal and the case will probably arrive at the doorstep of the state Supreme Court.

"Schools," says Mrs. Hoag, "are not fit places for kids to be. There is a clear and present danger to all children attending public schools. That danger is widespread drug usage and addiction. And, added to this is the danger of preadolescent sexual experimentation and promiscuity."

MRS. HOAG is no nut. She is a pleasant, quiet, self-educated black lady with an inner strength. She is not out to change the world, she is out to protect her children.

"Sending my two girls to public school today is synonymous with sending them out to play in 'Sunset Strip' or any city's red light district. With one exception: if I permitted my children to play in a red light district, I would be charged with neglect and with corrupting the morals of a minor.

"As a parent," asserts Barbara Hoag, "it is my duty and my obligation to protect my children from dangerous environs."

She says that the Sacramento Unified School District, and in particular the two schools where her daughters would be enrolled, stifle creativity. "I saw what they were doing to them. That's why I took them out."

MRS. HOAG believes in education, and in educating her children. Their father was graduated from Harvard, received his Ph.D from MIT and is a teacher at San Francisco State College.

"I'm all for education," she argues. "But, I intend to teach my children at home as long as the public schools remain the way they are."

State law says that is a no-no. It says that all children under the age of 16 must attend a school that is certified by the state — public or private. That is where the twigs will be bent.

Since Mrs. Hoag is hardly in the position to send her kids to a private school, she is attempting to bend her twigs at home.

This, she feels, is better that the "Look, Dick, See Jane" books which stifle creativity in the local public schools. She points to her 2-year-old son, Kenneth Hoag III, as an example of her own handiwork: he can already read and play the piano.

Her present husband, her third, will be graduated from Sacramento State College in June. He hopes to get a teaching credential so that, if his wife loses her battle, he can keep the children home and teach them himself.

When that day comes, I'll bet the establishment will tell Mr. Hoag that is a no-no, too.

THERE ARE THOUSANDS of parents who share Mrs. Hoag's apprehensions about what is happening in far too many schools, thousands who believe that if the state can compel them to send their offspring to public school, the state should at least be compelled to provide a safe, secure and somewhat enlightening atmosphere for the kids.

But few parents have the courage to do what Mrs. Hoag has done. And that is one of the reasons the schools got into such a mess, in the first place.

It seems to me Mrs. Hoag's case is one more argument for the educational voucher plan — under which she and other parents could "spend" their voucher at a school which meets their standards.

McGovern vs. Nixon Contest Would Offer Real Alternatives

WASHINGTON — Is the 1972 presidential election going to be a bland me-too campaign in which the oratory is sharp and the issues blurred?

Is this going to be a meaningless contest between an Establishment Democrat and an Establishment Republican which many voters feel will decide little or nothing?

If it is, it will be perilous for the democratic process because this is a time when the American voters are demanding an opportunity to affirm or change basic directions in national policy.

Don't forget that in '68, one of the widely visible automobile sticker slogans was: "Thank God Only One Can Be Elected.!"

Such a presidential confrontation just won't be good enough. That's the message of most voters in the Democratic primaries, so far.

What is imperatively needed is a contest between presidential candidates which will permit a meaningful decision, not just on personalities but on policy, purpose, priority and direction.

I AM NOT PRESUMING to say whom the Democrats will or should nominate. But by now it seems objectively evident which Democratic candidate would provide the most significant, decisive, consequential choice on basic issues in the November voting.

None of the Democratic candidates has offered as diametrically opposite positions to those the administration is pursuing as Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D.

A McGovern-Nixon confrontation would be something. It would not mean choosing to do a few things somewhat differently; it would mean doing everything radically differently.

If the message of most of the Democratic voters in the primaries is a demand for change, a protest against policies now prevailing, McGovern is the most thoroughgoing, believable advocate of change among the remaining Democratic hopefuls.

He is the antithesis of Nixon and he would certainly remain so if nominated.

He favors slashing the defense of the nation more than anyone else; at least by $33 billion. Nixon wants to see the United States remain militarily strong.

McGovern wants to withdraw America's military presence from nearly everywhere in the world, including Western Europe. Nixon doesn't.

McGovern is against any antiballistic defense, against any supersonic transport, against the space shuttle. Nixon favors all three.

Nixon wants to continue to help South Vietnam defend itself. McGovern wants to stop helping South Vietnam defend itself. Nixon was "outraged" by the massed invasion of Hanoi's army across the DMZ. McGovern was "outraged" by Nixon's decision to use air power to resist the invasion.

McGovern would carry the Nixon family assistance program to far higher levels of spending. He advocates a minimum guarantee of $4,000 a year for every family in the United States.

McGovern says that all the money needed to pay for the social programs he advocates can easily be obtained by higher taxes on the more affluent. Nixon thinks it can't.

IT SEEMS EVIDENT that McGovern is a most consistent, credible alternative to Nixon. He has been after the nomination for two years and he is expounding the same views now as he did at the beginning. He isn't shifting all over the ideological landscape. He has political staying power. The press generally, including myself, underestimated McGovern. The voters have now proved we were wrong.

George McGovern is an honest, honorable, compassionate man. He doesn't rant; he is tougher than he sounds.

It may be that the voice of protest and radical change is a minority voice among voters. It may be that the voters will want to confirm Nixon's basic policies and reject a sweeping substitution of radically different policy. We ought to find out. A McGovern-Nixon contest would be one way to find out.

Cheap Journalism's Darlings Have No Fear For Own Privacy

WASHINGTON — The justified outcries about invasion of privacy by the government, the insurance and credit companies and whoever else has the use of a computer or an electronic bug all take or a certain quaintness when you open any one of the "hot" magazines these days. Or drop into a newsstand or bookstore. Or just turn on the radio.

A stranger doing any of those things might assume that in 1972 Americans no longer have any concern at all for their privacy. They themselves are violating it voluntarily and wholesale, not just by posing innocently for the centerspread in Playboy or Cosmopolitan. Not using any cover-up, either photographically or in the form of phony names, they are both literally and literarily letting it all hang out for their neighbors and the world to see and read, using their right names and even addresses.

Life magazine, as the latest example, does a cover on marriage experiments. One story is about a collective where four men, three women and four children all play house. Another is about an unmarried couple with a year-old child. The mother is a lovely girl, literally a former homecoming queen. They seem happy without "that piece of paper."

WELL AND GOOD. It's a free country, and if two people want to live together that's their business. Go in peace, my children. But what dictates that the mother should pose for the phogographer nursing her baby? And what if the child, on growing up, has a more conventional view of things? How easy will it be for her to live with the record laid down by a four-page picture spread in a magazine which by latest available figures has a circulation of 8.5 million?

At that, the couple in Life shows more reticence than the heroes of other magazine exposes published lately. Jack Nicholson, star of "Five Easy Pieces" and other films, tells in a Playboy interview the details of all his real-life sexual problems. Cosmopolitan, which drew a lot of laughs by instituting the new institution of the foldout male nude, also runs the diary of a sexually lively reporter for another big-city publication. New York magazine prints the confessions of a Time editor who had difficulties in bed with his wife and ran off to Pago Pago. You will be encouraged to know the magazine merely uses excerpts: Unbelievably, there is still more detail in the castaway editor's book, entitled "A Letter to My Wife."

The list goes on. The New York Times prints a dignified first-person disclosure by a respected writer that he is and has been a homosexual all this time, without most people's suspecting. Late-night and early-morning radio talk shows, where the callers bat around their hang-ups with the eager hosts, enable lonely listeners to drop off to sleep with the assurance that somebody out there has problems worse than their own.

AND WHY NOT? After all, this is not the age of Victoria but of Aquarius. Maybe such confessions are good for both the soul and the body of the confessors. Maybe the actors and editors mentioned above are smarter than they seem at first non-blush; their published confessions may be more beneficial to them than a personal ad in the underground press, for it is well known that some women are irresistibly attracted to men with problems.

Maybe all this in print is a prolix epitaph for hypocrisy in human affairs. Everybody knows everybody either likes sex in some form or doesn't, and if everybody admits it to everybody else, that will make life at last as free and natural as the air used to be.

What all this is instead, however, is an updated confirmation of the old truism that cheap journalism drives out the good; that the slick magazines are having a hard time in competition with the wide-open pornography on the same newsstands, and of Mr. Agnew's favorite contention that most of tha intellectual mischief in the country is played east of 77 deg., 20 min. longitude and north of 38 deg., 50 min. latitude.

For current purposes, I will narrow that to Manhattan Island. For while the editors involved had to go to Massachusetts to find a photogenic and willing unmarried couple with child, and to Hollywood and Berkely and elsewhere for their other subjects, in most cases (Playboy excepted), the initiative to seek them out was taken right there along Madison Avenue, around Rockefeller Center, down in the Village, at a dozen or so favorite midtown waterholes.

IT IS CONCEIVABLE, of course, that those editorial decisions reflect what is really going on in the country. But more likely, they reflect a fairly inbred idea of what will sell magazines.

National Parks Loved Near Frazzle

By DAVID HOLMSTROM
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. — The U.S. National Park System, 100 years after its founding, is on the verge of being loved to a frazzle.

So many people are using and abusing unique parks such as Yosemite, Yellowstone, Lake Mead, and the Everglades that within the next decade visitors may:

1. Face a restriction on numbers that will require making reservations for visiting all parks.

2. Be forced to leave their cars at the park entrances and take alternate transport — bicycles, horses, even their own feet.

So that future generations will know how to get the most out of the parks without abusing them, park educational programs in schools may be as commonplace as basic reading courses.

Last year an understaffed, overworked National Park System — administering nearly 300 acres — staggered under the impact of 186 million visits as comapred with 121 million in 1965. Yet the park system receives less than one-tenth of one per cent of the national budget and has only 7,000 employees.

It struggles manfully to fulfill its purpose to preserve unique natural settings and at the same time provide access to these settings for all the people, who literally "own" the parks.

That takes much care and much innovation.

A hint of the future was seen in March, when Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton announced that "an experiment" to limit visitors will be conducted for the first time at three national parks. Specifically, the experiment will limit the number of backpackers going into the wilderness on foot.

A more comprehensive look at future parks policy was provided recently when more than 200 environmentalists, park officials, and citizens, gathered at Yosemite National Park under the auspices of the Conservation Foundation at a symposium.

Prompted by an invitation from the park service itself, the foundation had prepared five task-force reports dealing with the issues facing the parks. Task-force members spent five months visiting parks and formulating recommendations for action.

With Yosemite's breathtaking waterfalls and sheer canyon walls as backdrop, the discussions and meetings over the task-force reports resulted in general agreement that the unique features of parks must be preserved above all else, that citizens must be made aware of the uniqueness in order to enhance their encounters with parks, and that the park systems must be expanded, particularly in urban areas.

Several task forces wanted new emphasis on research to determine "the physical, ecological, and psychological carrying capacity" of every park. How many trails, roads, and other man-made influences can a park "absorb" and still retain its essence and uniqueness?

"When selecting a campsite becomes a matter of competition between several parties, the perception of wilderness vanishes," said the report.

Paradoxically, there's also a problem of nonuse:

In a discussion on "Who is not using the national parks and why? And what, if anything, should be done about it?" Doris Wilkerson, a sociology professor form Macalester College in Minnesota, siad that studies indicate that the national park users tend to be white suburbanites with better than a high school education and an average or better income.

In effect, low-income groups, including many blacks, seldom use the parks because they are too costly, too far away, and in general these people have a different concept of recreation or no concept at all of using park facilities.

In addition, while there are no statistics on the availability of parks to inner-city residents, only nine per cent of public recreation areas are located in urban areas, while 91 per cent are in nonurban areas.

One task-force report said: 'The urban park, by and large, is still being planned and designed for what is perceived to be recreational preferences and aesthetic tastes of middle- and upper-middle-class users."

One discussion group recommended that the National Park Service be given the responsibility of acquiring, planning, and developing a network of recreation areas within 50 miles of urban centers with more than 250,000 population. Other groups felt the park service should remain separate from federal agencies responsible for recreation in the sense of "play."

How to cope with the millions of automobiles that clog parks in the summer was a problem that was easily dealt with by reports and groups: Ban them, along with hotel-type accommodations inside park areas.

"The objective," said one report, "would be to make it easy for the visitor to exchange his car for alternate, unmechanized means of transportation, which do not dilute the pleasure of discovering a (wilderness) experience for one's self."

Bicycles, cross-country skis, horses, canoes, and feet were suggested.

Others, not as inclined toward such severe changes in national parks suggested use of shuttle buses, monorails, etc. One report suggested several public transportation demonstration projects to be tried at existing parks.

MOBILE HOMES

When Accidents Happen Prepare For Runaround

By MONTY HOYT
The Christian Science Monitor News Service
(Second of three articles)

CHICAGO — Nicholas de Carlo, a meat wholesaler from Chicago, had wanted to buy a mobile home for some vacation property he owned in Wisconsin for some time. Last Christmas he went out and bought a deluxe model, five-room home for $8,600 — complete with Spanish Mediterranean furnishings.

It lasted five weeks.

The family used the weekend home only twice before it burned to the ground. Fortunately, no one was in it at the time.

A thorough investigation did not pinpoint the cause, although it was suspected that the fire had started around the furnace. Neither the manufacturer nor the dealer would make any restitution, but at least the unit had been insured.

Undaunted, Di Carlo bought an exact replica with the insurance money, thinking that flukes do happen. This model home had early American decor; it lasted one day.

No sooner had the home been set up on the site and the gas installed, than an explosion took place in the furnace. This time a repairman was present installing a telephone and was able to put out the fire.

The gas company blamed the furnace manufacturer; the mobile-home maker and the dealer are blaming everybody else.

Although an extreme case, many other owners complain of warped interiors, sliced flooring, unfinished panels, exposed and unfinished surfaces, electrical shorts, and leaky roofs on new mobile homes that they cannot get repaired even though covered under the warranty.

In spite of the fact that most mobile homes now produced are made under minimum standards established by the American National Standards Institute, the growing number of complaints received by consumer groups and owners associations would indicate that the code is not rigidly enforced. The consumer dictum, "Buyers, beware!" is echoes on many fronts.

"The seal which goes on mobile homes (meeting the minimum standard) is really a farce," injects Mrs. Marge Dixon, secretary for the Michigan Mobile Homes Owners Asociation. "What good is it if you can't get a dealer or manufacturer to honor the warranty if something does go wrong with the home."

The code is not as effective as it should be," agrees Mrs. Jane Conrad, director of the consumer division of the American Mobile Home Association in Denver, "because there is not the necessary tie-in with dealers to carry out warranty work."

But only a handful of manufacturers are turning out "shoddy stuff," she insists.

Manufacturers, spurred by the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association (MHMA) and the Trailer Coach Association, whose members produce 70 per cent of all mobile homes, have been waging a campaign to get all states to accept the minimum standards for mobile homes.

"The industry has given this No. 1 priority," declares Lawrence Baron, legislative director of the MHMA.

The biggest drawback has been that standards are enforced by 14 association inspectors with no control over nonmember manufacturers, who may or may not build to the standard.

Another area of consumer concern, the question of potential fire hazards, has prompted a revision of codes in recent years to limit the danger. Two separate doors are now required on all models to facilitate escape, and units built since 1969 have to be finished with more fire-resistant materials.

The National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) estimates that there were 22,600 fires in mobile homes and trailers in 1970. The NFPA does not break down its statistics for mobile homes as a separate category, nor does it list the number of fatalities. (There are some three million mobile homes in the U.S.)

Comparable figures for one- and two-family homes, compiled by the national census on housing in 1970, show 547,000 fires out of 68 million homes, resulting in 6,500 fatalities.

Statistics carefully gathered by the State of Oregon indicate that mobile homes may be safer: In 1970, the state recorded one fire for every 145 one- and two-family homes, but only one for every 225 mobile homes and trailers.

George Tryon, the MFPA's representative on the national standards committee for mobile homes and recreational vehicles, maintains that there is nothing to indicate that mobile homes are more susceptible to fire than ordinary dwellings. The causes of fire are similar, he reports — primarily faults in heating and cooking equipment. Recently improved standards for interior finishes have greatly cut down the rapidity with which flames can spread in the event of fire, he reports.

However, Lowell Dodge, director of the Center for Auot Safety in Washington, D.C., disputes those assertions. "The incidence of fire may be about the same as conventional homes. But the fatality rate once a fire is started is higher," he claims.

"Fires in homes are usually contained in one room," he argues, whereas a fire in a mobile unit is likely to consume the whole structure.

As for thecomplaint that owners can't find reliable servicing after a sale, retailers argue that consumers have built-in guarantee — marketplace competition among more than 5,000 dealers. But some recommend that buyers be careful to select a dealer with an adequate service department.

"The buyer has to look to the dealer to see that he gets the value he feels he should have," maintains Edward De Young, past president of the Manufactured Housing Associaiton of America, an association of dealers and park operators.

"Dealers are constantly on the firing line.If they have unhappy customers, they lose on future sales," he concludes.

Suspect Held In Bombing Try At Sheriff Substation

Device Burns, Explodes, In A Marin City Grove

A time bomb apparently intended for the nearly-completed Marin City fire house and sheriff's substation exploded harmlessly last night after a deputy sheriff captured a man allegedly attempting to bring the device into the station.

The bomb, moved to a grove of eucalyptus trees about 30 yards from the building, went off about 10:45 p.m. in a series of about 40 pistol-like reports. It was later found to contain a battery, clock parts and .38-calibre pistol shells.

Approximately 70 families were evacuated from two nearby apartment buildings for two hours by sheriff's deputies and California Highway Patrolmen who also set up roadblocks to keep persons away from the bomb location.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of attempting to bomb a public building with an explosive device, armed burglary and possessing a stolen gun was Eddie Lee Griffin, 21, of San Francisco. He was held in lieu of $25,000 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

San Francisco police said that the gun Griffin had was stolen from special policeman Franklin Bartagliotti, who was slugged by two men near Franklin Hospital in San Francisco last Sept. 9.

Police said Griffin matched the description of one of the men who took the gun from Bartagliotti.

Sheriff's officials said the bomb attempt was thwarted by deputy Raymond T. Rhia, who has acted as night security officer for the unoccupied substation since February when county supervisors ordered it guarded in response to a rumor the building would be burned.

EDDIE L. GRIFFIN
Bomb suspect

Rhia said he was on duty in the unlighted station about 9 p.m. when he heard a noise at the south side of the building and then caught Griffin crawlunfinished heater vent near a unfinsihed heater vent near a door, dragging a paper sack with him.

After determining the sack contained some kind of explosive device, Rhia arrested Griffin and made him carry the bag away from the station at 850 Drake Avenue, then notified other deputies.

At approximately 10:45 p.m., as deputies and the Army's armed disposal unit from the Presidio stood by, the package ignited and began to go off in spasmodic bursts of pistol fire which lasted for about 25 minutes.

The only damage caused by the bomb was a small grass fire which Marin County firemen quickly extinguished.

The $110,000 firehouse and substation has been under construction since late February and is scheduled for completion around May 10.

San Francisco police said Griffin has an arrest record in that city, but refused to give details of that record.

N. Viet Troops Nearing Quang Tri

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese troops drove government defenders out of the northernmost outpost of Dong Ha today and pushed their offensive toward the city of Quang Tri, eight miles to the south. Field reports said more than 100 North Vietnamese tanks were seen in the Quang Tri area, 10 miles below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

The Communist troops reported on all sides of Quang Tri eased their stranglehold on the city enough today so tens of thousands of refugees could head southward along Highway 1 toward Hue, 35 miles to the south. Scores of the refugees were killed by landmines along the way.

Heavy clouds and rain allowed some of the tanks to move openly, free of attack by U.S. fighter-bombers. But B52s dropped tons of bombs on the troop concentrations and U.S. Cobra helicopter gunships fought air-to-ground duels with tanks which infiltrated southeast of Quang Tri.

Cobras of the 4th Cavalry Regiment have reported knocking out four Soviet-built PT76 amphibious tanks southeast of Quang Tri, but two Cobras were shot down today and three others were damaged. Two Americans were killed in one of the crashes.

The pilots reported tanks four miles southeast of Quang Tri, which meant the North Vietnamese had been able to breach the Cua Viet River defense line which runs eastward from Dong Ha to the South China Sea. They did once before when they launched their offensive on March 30.

Four U.S. destroyers offshore were firing at the Communists at the rate of 60 rounds of fire per hour per ship. Reports in Hue said they had fired 10,000 rounds, but the U.S. Navy said that was an "ureasonable number."

Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan La, commander of South Vietnamese troops in the northern provinces, told newsmen today the Communist threat to Quang Tri was "serious" but that "we can handle it." He conferred in Da Nang today with Gen. William B. Rosson, former deputy U.S. commander in Vietnam and now the U.S. Army commander in the Pacific.

Dong Ha, reduced to rubble by four weeks of fighting, was declared a free fire zone which meant both planes and ships could pound it at will, trying to slow the flow of North Vietnamese troops through the town. The South Vietnamese meanwhile abandoned fire bases Pedro five hiles west of Quang Tri but heavy fighting was reported at Nancy, eight miles to the south.

There were these other major developments in the Indochina War:

The Communist offensive in the Kontum area of the Central Highlands slowed but UPI Correspondent Matt Franjola reported that thousands of refugees were fleeing southward from both Kontum and Pleiku in expectation of heavy attacks there. He said South Vietnamese air force transports were jammed with wives and children of air force dependents. Others fled by foot.

Radio Hanoi reported more U.S. air raids over North Vietnam today and claimed at least Four F4 Phantoms were shot down in the Vinh Linh district just above the DMZ.

Heavy fighting was reported today at the district capital of Dau Ting, 40 miles northwest of Saigon and that 92 Communists were slain. The government said 133 North Vietnamese were killed there Thursday at a cost of 13 South Vietnamese dead.

UPI correspondent Leon Daniel reported from Highway 13 leading from Saigon northward to An Loc, 60 miles away, that a truck convoy of ammunition was stalled for the fifth day and that North Vietnamese had attacked lead elements of the government troops 38 miles north of Saigon.

Unofficial figures showed today that at least 10 U.S. planes and 40 helicopters have been lost since start of the Communist offensive, six of them today. Conservative casualty figures showed 38 Americans killed, 119 wounded and 48 missing in the first four weeks of the drive.

In Cambodia, the high command said in Phnom Penh that the situation was "still serious" along Highway 1 near the South Vietnamese border where Communist tanks were reported 40 miles northwest of Saigon.

The U.S. Navy said American ships sank seven North Vietnamese supply boats this month between ports in North Vietnam.

Hesitant Return To Paris Table

By COURTNEY R. SHELDON
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON — U.S. officials return hesitantly to the knotted Paris peace talks. They want a pause in the propaganda, but most of all on the South Vietnam battlefield.

The prospect for a permanent Vietnam settlement is still so far away, observers generally believe, that the jockeying over the Paris talks seems mostly atmospherics.

The Paris talks will be watched closely for any impact from the Kissinger-Brezhnev consultations.

The swift journey of Henry Kissinger to the Kremlin was the result of Soviet initiative, diplomatic sources in Moscow report. This disclosure fits into what can be learned here.

In any event, it is evident that the first action which President Nixon took on Kissinger's return was to abruptly change tactics in respect to the Paris negotiations.

Also, the President did suspend further provocative air raids on Hanoi and Haiphong in the period of immediately preceding Kissinger's departure for Moscow.

The accompanying of Kissinger by the Soviet ambassador to the U.S., Anatoly Dobyrynin, on the plane is something the Soviet would be more likely to do if it were the host rather than being asked to be the host.

It has been an everlasting hope of the administration that the Soviet Union would be the leavening force in "promoting an acceptable Vietnam solution — or at least enable the U.S. to withdraw its forces without a Dunkirk.

Convinced anew by the calm response of the Soviets to the damage to Soviet ships in the Haiphong raids, U.S. officials accepted an opportunity to probe how much the Soviet Union wants a big-power detente.

That the May Moscow summit planning continues and Moscow remains quiet in the wake of the Kissinger visit are indications that the Kissinger-

First-Timers Could Be Spared Under Reagan Drug Proposal

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan, in an apparent relaxation of his hard line on drugs, has proposed reform legislation to spare the first-time narcotics offender from jail and give him a second chance.

The provision is a key feature of a massive $14 million program the Republican chief executive sent to the Legislature yesterday. It is designed to roll back the California drug crisis through intensified prevention, treatment and rehabilitation.

"This does not mean we are becoming soft on drug offenders," the governor said. "We will continue to exert every effort to punish the pusher and take the profit out of drugs."

"But we must prevent addiction whenever possible and this can't be done simply by sending the first offender to jail or putting him on probation and allowing him to go back on the streets again with no community help."

Reagan announced his "Comprehensive Narcotics and Drug Abuse Program of 1972" in a special nine-page message to the Legislature and in a privately-financed statewide broadcast carried by 38 television and radio stations.

Under the proposal, the first-time user or possessor of narcotics would be "diverted" out of the criminal justice system by a judge prior to court arraignment and into a community operated drug abuse education, information, treatment or rehabilitation program.

To be eligible, the offender must not have had any prior drug record and must have been "nonviolent." With the prosecutor's consent, the judge could sentence the first-time offender to a local program for six to 24 moths and his criminal record would be wiped clean.

"If he is rearrested, he has blown his second chance," remarked Edwin Meese, the governor's executive secretary.

Reagan's legal adviser, Herb Ellingwood, told newsmen, "What we are doing is showing compassion where we believe there is a chance for success."

Meese denied there was any connection between submission now of the governor's program and a proposed ballot initiative that would remove all criminal penalties and civil liabilities from the personal use of marijuana.

The first offender provision was regarded by some as Reagan's compromise offer to legislation pending on the Assem-

Child-Proof Drug Packages Ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration has ordered 4,300 types of narcotic, depressant and stimulant drugs to be contained in child-proof packages effective six months from now and proposed similar regulations for all other oral prescription drugs.

Earlier this year the agency issued child-proof packaging rules for aspirin, furniture polish containing 10 per cent or more petroleum distillates, and wintergreen liniments.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers will travel to Europe May 2 for meetings with West German Chancellor Willy Brandt, French President Georges Pompidou, British Prime Minster Edward Heath and Pope Paul VI.

Rogers said his talks will be intended to explain to Western allies that President Nixon will be discussing with Soviet leaders during the Moscow summit meetings begining May 22.

Agnew Says Anti-Nixon Un-American

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew Friday labelled Democratic senators who have criticized President Nixon as "defamers of America."

In a speech prepared for the Maine Republican convention, the vice president declared: "Vicious attacks on America have become standard items in the campaign kits of men who aspire —or have aspired —to our nation's highest office."

Among those Agnew placed in this category were Sens. George S. McGovern, Edmund S. Muskie, Edward M. Kennedy and J. William Fulbright.

Of the President's Senate critics, he commented: "They vilify and harass the leaders of the United States, but they can find nothing wrong with the leadership of this country's enemies.

"They have taken the old Stephen Decatur line and twisted it into a grotesque parody of itself. No longer is it 'our country, right or wrong.' To them, it is 'our country, always wrong.'"

Agnew again took issue with Democrats who have assailed Nixon's bombing response to the North Vietnam invasion.

"To the Democrats," he said, "this was a serious escalation

Nixon Reports 105 Women In Top Policy-Making Positions

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon announced today his administration has placed 105 women in policy-making positions in the federal government —the largest number in history.

In a statement, Nixon said the number of women recruited for $28,000 and up posts nearly tripled since April 1971 and added that more than half of the appointees hold positions previously held only by men.

"We reached another milestone with the employment and or advancement of more than 1,000 women in middle-management positions during the past year," Nixon said. "This is particularly noteworthy because it occurred during a time when budget policy required a 5 per cent reduction in the federal work force."

The Chief Executive said "now we must do even better in giving women the equal opportunity they have so long deserved."

He called on private business and state and local governments to follow the administration's lead by taking a close look at employment practices that may be discriminatory against women.

Nixon commented: "In this era of great challenges and potentials, the nation —in the private sector as well as in government at all levels — needs the capabilities and brainpower of every single American. The full and equal participation of women is crucial to the strength of our country."

The statement was issued at a joint press conference at the White House held by Jayne Baker Spain, vice chairman of the Civil Service Commission, and Nixon's chief female recruiter Barbara Franklin. It also was issued at the Florida White House by Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

Mrs. Franklin said that 27 women were appointed to high level positions during the Johnson administration and 18 in the Kennedy administration.

She also said that Nixon had seriously considered a woman for appointment to the Supreme Court during its last vacancy. She acknowledged that "we would like to see a breakthrough" in the appointment of a woman to the Cabinet if Nixon is re-elected. Women served in the Cabinet in the Roosevelt and Eisenhower administrations.

First Woman Admiral Named

HOLGATE, Ohio (UPI)— Navy nurse Alene Bertha Duerk was driving along the Ohio Turnpike listening to a radio newscast Thursday.

"The announcer said: 'The first woman admiral...' and I thought,'This is it,'" she said. Then she learned that President Nixon had nominated her to be the first Navy woman of klag rank.

"I just kept right on driving," Miss Duerk, 52, and a 29-year veteran of the Navy, said Thursday. "If someone would have been there, I probably would have gotten excited, but you just can't get excited by yourself."

The brown-haired captain, one of 47 women of that rank who were under consideration for promotion to rear admiral, was named head of the Navy Nurse corps in 1970. Confirmation by the Senate will make her the highest ranking woman in the armed forces.

General Motors Says Profits Are In Step

DETROIT (UPI)—Although first-quarter profits soared to the highest level in any quarter in its 64-year history and a major competitor has announced substantial price reductions, General Motors Thursday said profits were within government guidelines and no price reductions would be made on 1972 model vehicles.

GM Chairman Richard C. Gerstenberg and President Edward N. Cole said first-quarter earnings totaled $651 million, up 6.7 per cent from the same period last year. The $2.26-a-share earnings also topped the old record of $638 million, or $2.23 per share, set in the second quarter of 1965.

However, the nation's largest automaker said worldwide factory sales were down 8.5 per cent during this year's period compared with the first three months of last year when production was increased to replenish dealer inventories depleted or Co., which reported a record-breaking first-quarter profit of $252 million Wednesday and said it would cut prices from $16 to $50 on some of its cars and trucks to stay within profit guidelines set by the Federal Price Commission, GM announced no similar move.

Bobby Baker To Leave Prison

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, who as a former protege of Lyndon B. Johnson used his influential Senate staff position to become a millionaire, will be released from federal prison June 1.

The U.S. Parole Board approved Baker's parole application yesterday. He will have served almost 18 months in the Lewisburg, Pa., penitentiary when he is released.

Baker, 43, was sentenced to three years after he was convicted of attempting to evade taxes, grand larceny, interstate transportation of stolen money and fraud.

Peace Proposal

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Romanian leaders will inform Prime Minister Golda Meir in her visit to Bucharest that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat is prepared to meet Israel in direct peace negotiations, the newspaper Maariv said today.

Mrs. Meir will visit Bucharest in the beginning of May at the invitation of her Romanian counterpart, Ion Gheorge Maurer. Romanian diplomats said today in Vienna she will leave next Wednesday for Bucharest.

Quoting sources "close to the Romanian Government," Maariv said President Nicolae Ceausescu will tell Mrs. Meir that Sadat asked the Romanian leader to inform her that the Egyptians are ready for direct talks on a peaceful settlement of the Middle East dispute.

Brandt Fails

BONN (UPI) — Chancellor Willy Brandt failed to muster a parliamentary majority on a test of his budget today, renewing the possibility of general parliamentary elections to break the deadlock.

Brandt won a vote of confidence by only two votes Thursday. Today the vote on a second reading of the budget for the chancellor's own office was a tie. 247 to 247, with one abstention.

The opposition Social Democrats called for new elections as the only way to break the tie, but Brandt rushed to the rostrum and said he still hoped to squeak through without dissolving Parliament.

Belfast Booming

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Bombs exploded in booby-trapped autos in shopping areas of Belfast and Newry today, sending crowds fleeing and hospitalizing several persons for shock.

In Belfast, a bomb-laden car blew up and ripped paint and decorator shops and smashed the facades of a two-block stretch of stores and offices in the Roman Catholic Lower Falls district.

A bomb blast in a car parked outside a pub in Newry injured a civilian and a policeman.

Racism Ended

ATLANTA (UPI) — The United Methodist General Conference voted Thursday to end racially structured regional conferences, taking a stand it had avoided in past years, and approved a $191.2 million budget over the next four years.

A mandatory date of July 1, 1973, was set for the remaining four all-black conferences with seven geographically overlapping all-white conferences in Mississippi, Alabama, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

MOSCOW (UPI) — President Anwar Sadat of Egypt today began Kremlin talks on the Soviet role in his new timetable for reclaiming Israeli-occupied land, Arab sources said.

Stores Get Price Board Cut Orders

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Price Commission has ordered four more companies—all in the supermarket and drug store fields—to cut back prices because their profit margins have risen past government standards.

The rollbacks brought to 13 the number of firms the commission has directed to turn down their prices because of excess profits or because they raised their prices without permission.

The four involved in Thursday's action included Scrivner-Boogaart Inc., an Oklahoma City wholesale grocery firm; Bruno's Food Stores, Birmingham, Ala.; Godfrey Co., Waukesha, Wis., a wholesale and retail food company; and Eckerd Drugs Inc., Charlotte, N.C., which has 123 stores in the South.

The commission also turned down two price increase requests, for air pumps and other equipment from Studebaker-Worthington Inc., Pyroyl Co. Inc., Master Specialty Division, and for cotton fibre and air dried paper produced by Nekoosa Edwards Paper Co., a part of the Great Northern Nekoosa Corp.

The Pay Board meanwhile announced it will hold a public hearing May 9 on whether professional athletes should be granted an exemption from its pay increase guidelines. Pay Board Chairman George H. Boldt, in announcing the hearings, indicated such an exemption might be possible, saying:

"Even though the field of professional sports is already covered by our pay guidelines, it may be necessary to make some changes because of the unique nature of payments to athletes for their services."

Apollo 16 Steaming Towards Honolulu

ABOARD USS TICONDEROGA (UPI)—Three Apollo adventurers and a spacecraft jammed with treasures steamed at full speed toward Hawaii today, their lunar mission perhaps signaling the start of a new era of moon science.

Apollo 16 astronauts John W. Young, Thomas K. Mattingly and Charles M. Duke, in excellent shape after 11 days in space, are due to reach Honolulu Saturday afternoon and fly on to the Manned Spacecaft Center in Houston late that day.

Their record 245-pound haul of moon samples and mapping pictures will be divided and flown to Houston on two planes Saturday. Impatient scientists at the Lunar Receiving Laboratory expect to open the first rock box Monday in a sterile, nitrogen-filled cabinet.

The astronauts Thursday made one of the smoothest and most accurate landings of the Apollo series, and cleared the way for the flight of Apollo 17 on Dec. 6, the final expedition of the $25.5 billion U. S. lunar exploration program.

They received a telephone call of congratulations from President Nixon in Key Biscayne, Fla. The President promoted Mattingly to commander and Duke to colonel. Navy regulations fixing promotions prevent Young from being an admiral for awhile. Nixon invited the astronauts to dinner at the White House in mid-June, and said he would use the occasion to present some moon rocks to Mexico's president, Luis Echeverria.

"Apollo 16 has written another glorious chapter in the history of man's exploration of the unknown," said Apollo program director Rocco Petrone, who watched Thursday's televised splashdown at the Mission Control Center in Houston.

Despite its close brush with failure just before the moon landing and several minor but irritating problems, Petrone predicted the mission "will go down in history as one of man's greatest moments in exploration."

Young, four times in space, was unusually talkative when he stepped on the deck of this fighting ship Thursday and called the flight "a mission of discovery."

"There are secrets in that vehicle right now," he said, referring to the command module which still was bobbing in the Pacific 1,519 miles south of Honolulu. "There's some basic knowledge and understanding in that vehicle right now.

Growing Beard No Reason For Cutting Benefits

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A man fired because he grew a beard is still eligible for unemployment benefits, an appellate court ruled Thursday.

The State Court of Appeal said the wearing of whiskers is "personal action which is constitutionally protected" by the First and Fourteenth Amendments of the U.S. Constitution.

The ruling was in the case of Hugh King, an office-machine service technician employed by Dictaphone Corp. He was fired after refusing to shave off a beard the company considered offensive to its customers.

Consumer Credit Bill Is Passed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate has passed legislaton designed to help consumers resolve credit billing disputes and protect them against unfair interest charges.

The bill, which passed 51 to 15 Thursday, would require creditors to acknowledge customer billing disputes within 30 days and settle the matter witnin 90 days.

Under its terms, creditors who failed to meet the time requirements in any credit dispute with a customer would have to forfeit the amount up to $50, regardless of whether the bill was in error.

Moreover, the measure would prohibit creditors from sending dunning letters, taking other collection action, or reporting the amount delinquent to a credit agency, before satisfactorily explaining to the customer why the bill is correct.

Also, before reporting the disputed amount to a credit reporting agency, the creditor would be first required to notify the consumer of the dispute and the agency to which the report was being sent. The creditor must also report to the agency when the question involved is settled.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chief sponsor of the original bill, which now faces House action, said the measure had been "radically weakened" in committee.

Harris Edits Angela 'Diary'

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—An 18-page "diary" Angela Davis sent to "Soledad Brother" George Jackson was edited down to seven pages Thursday by the prosecutor, who said it was vital to the state's case in the murder, kidnap and conspiracy trial.

Judge Richard E. Arnason, who on Tuesday ruled the document inadmissible as evidence on grounds much of it was "irrelevant," said he would spend the three-day weekend studying the pared-down version.

He met behind closed doors for three hours Thursday with attorneys for both sides after dismissing the jury for the week on Wednesday. The panel was excused after Assistant State Attorney General Albert W. Harris Jr. reopened arguments on having the diary-type communication entered as evidence.

Harris said the document was of "critical importance" in proving the state's contention that Miss Davis was so in love with the black revolutionaryauthor that she helped plot the Marin County shootings of 1970.

The 28-year-old former UCLA philosophy instructor and avowed Communist is specifically charged with supplying some of the guns used by Jackson's younger brother, Jonathan, when he entered the courtroom of Superior Judge Harold J. Haley, released three convicts, and took the judge and four others hostage. Jackson, the judge and two kidnapers died in an escape van outside the courthouse.

The state claims the hostages were taken to gain release of George Jackson and two other "Soledad Brothers" charged with the killing of a prison guard. The elder Jackson was killed last August during an alleged escape attempt from San Quentin prison in which five others died.

Judge Arnason was expected to rule on the "diary," found in George Jackson's bloody cell after he was killed, on Monday or Tuesday.

He will also rule next week on the legality of attorney John Thorne's refusal to answer questions concerning Jackson, who was his client.

HUEY NEWTON
Released on bail

Newton Is Arrested For Assault

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Black Panther leader Huey P. Newton was arrested with his bodyguard late Thursday on misdemeanor charges involving assault.

The 30-year-old Panther party co-founder was arrested along with Robert L. Bay, 28, in the garage at Newton's plush apartment building overlooking Lake Merritt.

They were arrested on a warrant sworn out by Marlon Scott, a disc jockey for radio station KDIA. Scott said Newton and Bay beat him April 16 during an argument at the Rainbow Lounge.

Newton, leaving the city jail after posting $750 bail, said 15 policemen "pushed me around," when the arrest was made. He said he was "outraged" at the Police Department, which he said had a "personal vendetta" against him. Bay was released on $1,250 bail.

"None of this was necessary," said Newton, who was tried three times for the slaying of Oakland policeman John Frey in 1967.

Two Men Arrested In High-Speed Chase

Two men were arrested yesterday after a chase with speeds up to 100 miles per hour on Highway 101 and 80 miles per hour on streets through Petaluma.

Jack Virgil Almquist, 30, of 61 Straub Lane, Petaluma, was arrested on suspicion of felony hit and run driving and assault with a deadly weapon. His passenger, Ned Harold Coffee, 31, of San Francisco, was arrested on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. Both posted $2,500 bail to appear May 8 in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Police said the chase began at 2:49 a.m. when the car was stopped for speeding at East Washington and Edith Streets. Before officers could reach the car it sped onto the freeway southbound and was chased at speeds up to 110 miles per hour.

Officers said the driver swerved off and on Frontage roads and at one point attempted to force the patrol car into the path of an on-coming truck. After serveral U-turns on the freeway, officers said the car exited at Petaluma Boulevard South to Mountain View Avenue.

The car eluded roadblocks at Grant and I streets and at Sixth Street. Speeds around residential streets on the southside of Petaluma were clocked at 80 miles per hour.

Officers said that at one point the driver stopped suddenly forcing the patrol car to strike the rear of the car. Damage to the three-week-old patrol car was estimated at $700.

Finally the car under pursuit went out of control on a small crest in the road on Mountain View Avenue, struck a parked pickup truck and several trees and rolled into the porch of a house at 88 Sixth Street.

The driver fled on foot, but passenger Coffee was apprehended. He was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for a forehead cut.

The car was later traced to Almquist and he was arrested at his home.

Two-Week Freeze On Taxes Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., has introduced legislation which would direct the government to stop withholding income taxes from everyone's paycheck for two weeks this summer to correct the overwithholding problem.

The Treasury has urged wage earners to file for extra exemptions so less money will be taken out, but Allen said that tactic is not working. He said overwithholding, caused by changes in the tax laws, is hurting the economy.

Panthers In Support Of Shirley Chisholm

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Standing behind a "Chisholm for President" poster, the Black Panther party Thursday moved into "establishment" politics by saying they have "one of the best machines in the country" for getting out the black vote.

The party, in a statement read for co-founder Huey P. Newton, endorsed New York Rep. Shirley Chisholm's candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination and called on "every black, poor and progressive" person to help elect her.

Rep. Chisholm issued a statement in Los Angeles saying the Panthers "apparently came to the conclusion that in terms of their own hopes and aspirations I could be the best candidate."

"What has happened to them as an oppressed group in America, being used to the meaningless platforms and empty promises, has led them to come to the conclusion that perhaps with me there is hope," she said.

Bobby Seale, national chairman of the Panther Party, issued a statement by Newton at a news conference and added, "We have one of the best machines in the country and some people just might get the win fever."

Cycle Stolen

20-Year-Old Cotati Girl Is Missing

A 20-year-old Cotati girl has been missing since Tuesday when she hitchhiked to classes at Santaosa Junior College.

The Sonoma County sheriff's department said Jeannette Kamahele left her home at 951 Sierra Avenue, Cotati, at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday and has not been seen since.

Her roommate, Nora Morales, said the girl normally hitchhiked at the Cotati entrance to Highway 101.

Deputies said the co-ed was described as very stable and rarely missed classes.

She was described as five feet, five inches tall, 120 pounds with black hair and brown eyes. She was last seen wearing blue denim pants, a dark sweater or blouse and sandals.

Inormation about the girl should be reported to the sheriff's department.

Overseas Offices Of Investment Firm Shut

The overseas offices of five firms operated by United Financial Group Inc., a Novato-based international investment firm charged with violating federal securities laws, have been closed.

Shut are offices of United Investment Services Ltd., United States Investment Plan Ltd., United Growth Fund Inc., USI Management Ltd. and United Income and Growth Fund Inc., according to Lee Rashedi, local representative for Portland attorney William E. Tassock, court-appointed receiver.

"The intent was to advise all investors to stop communicating with these offices," Rashedi said. "Nothing can be done there."

The firm headed by Robert W. Pollock of Black Point was charged by the Securities Exchange Commission in January with deceit and fraud, an injunction to halt operations was granted in February and it was placed in receivership.

Pollock, seeking to keep the companies operating, is appealing the injunction.

Pollock also faces suits totaling $1.5 million filed by European investors who claim their investments weren't handled properly.

TALKS

Brezhnev conversations were "satisfactory" as Kissinger says.

Until the White House announced its latest decision, American officials had said that North Vietnam was interested in negotiating only if it thought it had a pistol at the backs of the U.S. and South Vietnam.

That Washington conclusion has not changed. Nevertheless, President Nixon, although he felt amply justified in being suspicious of Communist efforts to renew the talks, was beginning to be placed more on the defensive. The French government, abandoning its neutrality on questions concerning the talks, urged they be resumed.

There was increasing talk by war critics and political opponents of Mr. Nixon that it was his desire for a military solution in Vietnam, a victory, that prevented sober negotiations.

The public attitude of U.S. officials is that if the North Vietnamese have something more to say at Paris than abusive propaganda, they must demonstrate it quickly.

Well before the surprise Kissinger maneuver, the North Vietnamese had indicated a willingness to resume the Paris talks. They were apparently not radically upset by the Hanoi-Haiphong raid or by the continued raids on other parts of the north.

There also had been an expressed willingness by the North Vietnamese negotiators to talk in private.

During the Johnson administration they declined to start any negotiations until after all bombing of the north ceased.

That they take an opposite position now could be mostly a sign that they feel they have a stronger military and political club (in view of the coming U.S. elections) than they had then.

Or they may have some new offers in mind which they hope could lead to fresh and larger concessions on the part of the U.S.and South Vietnam.

Despite all this there seems little visible that changes the overall judgments here that the U.S. eventually will have to get out of Vietnam by strengthening the South Vietnamese and not by the negotiating process.

Publication of the confidential survey of opinion of government officials in early 1969 sheds some light on official attitudes toward the Soviet role in the Vietnam war.

At that time, Nixon was trying to develop a policy — eventually called Vietnamization. In a summary of the memorandum, published in the Washington Post, it was stated:

"Peking opposes negotiations while Moscow prefers an early negotiated settlement on terms as favorable as possible to Hanoi."

Neither Peking nor Moscow has exerted heavy pressure on Hanoi and for various reasons they are unlikely to do so.

Development Information Is Sought

The Fairfax Planning Commission last night asked the Gentry Development Co. for more details before giving approval to a master plan for a 19-unit apartment project to be known as Village West No. 2.

The project is planned for two acres adjacent to the company's 68-unit apartment complex, Village West No. 1, now under construction in west Fairfax between Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Olema Road.

The commission asked the company to furnish a survey, show where sewer lines are to be located, provide information about the effect of the project on a natural mound off Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and present legal documents in connection with dedication of open space.

Commission Secretary Ernestine Healy said that the company has volunteered to dedicate as open space about a quarter-acre next to a creek.

The commission postponed further discussion of the project to the May 25 meeting.

Also put off to that meeting was discussion of a resolution concerning preservation of ridge tops in Central Marin as open space. The town of Corte Madera and the City of Larkspur already have adopted such resolutions, and Hugh O. Winn, elected last night as planning commission chairman, plans to combine the two municipalities' resolutions for presentation to the Fairfax City Council, Mrs. Healy said.

In other action last night, the commission approved a conditional zoning permit for Mary Unanawich to allow her to conduct a palm reading business at 17 Bolinas Road.

REAGAN

bly floor that would reduce the penalty for possession of marijuana from a felony to a misdemeanor. Reagan opposes both the initiative and the bill.

"Of all the categories of people who engage in drug abuse, our chance for successful rehabilitation is the best with the first-time drug abusers," Reagan said.

Reagan submitted the massive plan as the lawmakers rushed toward a proposed June 30 adjournment and long after the March 15 deadline for unrestricted introduction of bills. Its chances for swift enactment were rated at less than good.

The program took the form of amendments to a bill carried by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach.

The legislation proposes spending $2.5 million in federal funds and $11.5 million in state funds, most of which would be funneled to communities through the Short-Doyle local mental health program for drug abuse projects. Officials said the state funds resulted from savings made by reforms in welfare and Medi-Cal programs.

Other features of the legislation, to be formally presented to the legislature Monday, included these:

Installation of "drug specialists" in every county welfare department to refer addicts seeking aid to proper agencies.

Requiring teachers to enroll in drug abuse education programs before they could be licensed to teach.

AGNEW

of the war and in their Alice in Wonderland world, it was not the attackers who escalated the war but the defenders. It was not the invaders, but those who tried to stop the invasion. It was not the armored columns from North Vietnam rolling into South Vietnam, but the American airplanes sent out to halt those columns."

Agnew told his audience "we now live in a curious era when the national spotlight is forever focused on the paranoid and the masochist and the smear-America cheap shot artist. We live in an era that panders to those darlings of the left who delight in denouncing this country ...

He described the latter as "cicerones of self-hate" and added: "It isn't just the hard-core left that shrills the refrain. You find condemnations of America on the editorial pages of some of our most influential newspapers and magazines. You hear diatribes against America on nationally broadcast TV and radio programs. You encounter anti-American philippics in our classrooms and our churches and our corporate board rooms —even in the halls of Congress."

Hayakawa On Speaking Tour

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—S. I. Hayakawa, president of San Francisco State College, is off on a speaking tour that will take him to Florida and then to Wisconsin and other Midwestern points.

The semantics expert has been a popular speaker on the lecture circuit since he took the helm of the 18,000-student college during the height of 1969 disorders with a "no-nonsense" approach.

A college spokesman said Hayakawa left Wednesday and would return to the West Coast about next Thursday for a meeting in Los Angeles. He returns to San Francisco on Friday before leaving that weekend on a 10-day visit to Monrovia, the capital of Liberia in Africa.

Trustees Seek Budget Balance

Trustees of the Bolinas-Stinson School District last night studied the district's preliminary budget and tried to find ways to pare an estimated $258,000 in expenditures to meet $246,500 in expected revenue.

The board took no action, said Supt. Lester M. Horning, but he said at the May 8 meeting he would deliver recommendations on how to balance the budget. Some cutbacks in the classroom aide program appeared to be the most likely way to save money, he said.

The district has a tax rate of $2.115 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Charges For Oakland Man

An Oakland man and woman were arrested by California Highway Patrol officers early today and booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of a variety of offenses ranging from lane straddling, a traffic violation, to possession of a loaded concealed weapon.

The woman was also held for the Federal Bureau of Investigation on a warrant charging her with parole violation, agents said.

Officers said the car was stopped while traveling northbound on Highway 101 near Lucas Valley Road about 3:30 a.m. because it was weaving.

While questioning the driver, Donald F. Stumpf, and Sylvia J. Nielsen, both 22, officers said they discovered the loaded pistol, a packet of ammunition, and some drugs.

Stumpf was held to appear in Marin Municipal Court today on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs, carrying a loaded weapon, lane straddling, possession of stolen property (the pistol), having an open container of an alcoholic beverage and possession of dangerous drugs for sale.

Miss Nielsen, also set to appear in court today, was booked on suspicion of being incapable of caring for herself due to the influence of a drug and possession of dangerous drugs for sale.

Outstanding Teacher From San Anselmo

Christine Anderson of San Anselmo, mathematics and English teacher at Sir Francis Drake High School, was named last night as Central Marin's outstanding young high school teacher.

The award was made at a San Rafael Jaycees dinner at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, honoring two teachers from each of four high schools in the Jaycee chapter's area who were chosen at their schools as nominees for the award.

CHRISTINE ANDERSON
Outstanding teacher

Mrs. Anderson, who has taught at Drake since 1965, this year heads the "school within a school" conducted as an alternative program. Last year she was head of the mathematics department. She also is a Young Men's Christian Association teen-age group adviser.

Judges for the award were Margaret Greene of College of Marin, John S. Hadsel of San Francisco Theological Seminary, and Charles Lavaroni of Dominican College.

Nominees, besides Mrs. Anderson, were Susan Dohrman of Drake High, Donald Ritchie and William C. Ciabattari of Marin Catholic High School, Arnold Risen and Sally Markey of San Rafael High School, and Berth Clawson and Sister M. Dorothea O'Donnell of San Domenico School. Redwood High School declined to participate, and Terra Linda High School failed to submit a nomination.

Marin Audience Advised Literacy Deteriorating

"A progressively deteriorating condition of literacy in or society" threatens the civilization that man has striven so long to create, Prof. John H. Edwards of San Francisco State College told a Marin audience last night.

Edwards, professor of English and executive vice president of the college, was speaker at the San Rafael Jaycees' awards dinner honoring outstanding young high school teachers at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant. He titled his talk, "The Literate Man and the Naked Emperor."

"The 'now generation,'" said Edwards, "has firmly proclaimed its discovery that the emperor has no clothes." But "they have not learned — and they appear not to wish to learn — that the emperor has always been naked."

For "the emperor," he went on, is mankind: a poor, almost helpless creature who has battled through the ages, often repeating his mistakes — but with moments of lasting accomplishment.

"The emperor is not naked to those whose care has clothed man in those gowns of dignity in which he has walked through all his history," concluded the speaker.

Essential to that dignity, he held, is literacy, for "the essence of self is bound up in the language one uses," and "we are in very many ways the exact consequence of . . . our mastery of language."

It is here, said Edwards, that the "now generation, a product of imagery — not words" symbolized by the television tube and the violence of rock music, has lost its way.

"Imagery cannot replace the word as a tribal structure of sufficient precision," he contended.

"Without language we are inhuman . . . Without literacy, we are literally on the road to ruin . . . Without language you cannot have law . . . Without law you are not free . . . Without literacy we are reduced to the barbaric grunts of the brute fact that we have abandoned our civilization."

Citing the signs that literacy is deteriorating at the same time education, so called, is proliferating, he declared:

"If this is true, we are in a state of severe decadence and you might as well kiss this civilization goodbye."

Crafty Fish

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)— The American Fisheries Society says largemouth bass are among the craftiest of fish when it comes to avoiding a fisherman's lure.

Prop. 9 Challenge To Sierra Club

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, today challenged the Sierra Club to take a stand against Proposition 9, the Environment Initiative on the June ballot.

"Every responsilble group every responsible newspaper, every responsible office holder has expressed opposition to this deceptive and destructive proposition," Bagley declared.

"But the Sierra Club, otherwise responsible, has not taken a position. It is time they joined in the fight against the environmental idiocy proposed by Proposition 9, to help defeat it and also, frankly, to maintain their own credibility in this field," the assemblyman said.

Environmental control, he said in a speech prepared for delivery at a lunch meeting of the Marin Property Owners Association at Dominic's in San Rafael, "is a delicate field requiring finely-honed governmental tools and not the meat-axe and torture-rack instruments contained in Proposition 9."

Bagley said the proposition's "unworkable and unchangeable restrictions" would cause the loss of 150,000 jobs and the immediate shutdown of major industries, cut tax revenues by $1 billion a year, cause power shortages, create chaos in the transportation network and hamstring progress in "real pollution prevention."

Its passage also would force construction of more power plants using polluting fossil fuels instead of nuclear fuel, as well as force construction of more river-damming power plants, Bagley said.

He contrasted the proposition with the Legislature's record of adopting what he termed "the most rigid antismog standards in the nation and the most far-reaching water quality control system."

(Marin's other state legislator, Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, also has condemned Proposition 9, and urged its defeat on June 6.)

The proposition sharply limits polluting elements in fuel, authorizes shutting down polluting industry, bars new oil and gas drilling in stage tidelands, prohibits construction of nuclear power plants for five years, restricts the use of pesticides and prohibits pollution enforcement officials from having conflicting private financial interests.

Chou In Pledge

HONG KONG (UPI)—Chinese Premier Chou En-lai Thursday reassured North Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos that China will support their war against U.S. "aggression," the New China News Agency said today.

FIRST LADY'S EMBLEM

The Congressional Club, made up of wives of members of Congress, has presented this emblem to Mrs. Richard Nixon. It is to be used by her and future first ladies. The emblem includes the head of the American Eagle turned toward peace and plenty. Below the eagle is the first lady's star of leadership. The star is enclosed by a circle of C's showing the club's support. It was presented yesterday at a breakfast meeting of the club.

'No Interest' In Conventions

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The president of the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau says he isn't interested in having either major political party hold their 1972 conventions in his city.

"We just wanted them one time to show that San Diego is a major convention city," Robert N. Gadbois said Thursday.

"And 84 per cent of that objective has been reached," he said.

He said publicity has made the people realize that San Diego is a big city with a lot of modern motels.

Laser Beam Is Put To Key Medical Test

CINCINNATI (UPI) — A University of Cincinnati researcher revealed Thursday he burned one of his own eyes 30 times with laser beams to determine how safely the rays can be used for medical purposes.

Dr. Kenneth Rowe Jr. said he suffered no loss of vision and had no sight complications as a result.

Rowe, an associate professor of ophthalmology at the UC Medical Center, pursued the unusual research in a study on treating diabetics with lasers.

He placed the beam on a minute area of his right eye 30 times, with varying intensity for one-tenth of a second.

Some diabetics develop abnormal blood vessels, susceptible to hemorrhage, in the retinas of their eyes, and the laser has been used to prevent hemorrhaging.

Heroin Charges Are Dismissed

A charge of possessing heroin against David Charles McReynolds, 21, of San Rafael, has been dismissed by Marin Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire.

The judge dismissed the charge after ruling he had been illegally arrested on private property for what appeared to be an instance of drunkenness in public.

After he was led off the Fairfax hill Sept. 24 by an off-duty policeman, nine balloons of heroin allegedly fell from his clothing. He was arrested on a warrant after the contents of the balloons were tested.

The payments aren't very big, either.

Just a $294. cash down payment and $62.06 a month for 36 months. (If you're not too good at math, that works out to a deferred payment price of $2528.16 which includes a finance charge at an ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE of 9.31%)

Along the way, you get a little financial help from the car.

It uses about 5 pints of oil instead of 5 quarts.

It doesn't need antifreeze because the engine's air-cooled.

And although it does need gas, it doesn't need much of it 'usually a gallon every 25 miles or so.

Of course, you might be the kind that likes to pay cash for everything. In that case, the cash price is $2236.70.

WORD-A-DAY

Tentative Budget By Fire Board

A tentative budget of $780,817 for 1972-73 has been submitted to the Novato Fire Protection District board for review at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the main fire station.

The tentative budget, up $166,172 from the current budget, probably will increase the tax rate, now 48 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Fire Chief Jack Kidder said that since figures on assessed valuation aren't yet "sound," he couldn't estimate the tax rate increase.

The major budget categories are salaries, $562,589; maintenance, $103,728, and capital outlay, $114,500.

The salary costs have increased since the department hired four additional men as the result of negotiations with the Novato Professional Firemen's Association, the chief said.

The capital outlay budget includes $50,000 in the building fund toward a fire station at the Atherton Avenue drill tower, which would b the fourth station in the district, replacement of a fire engine and purchase of two four-wheel drive vehicles for grass fires, the chief said.

Directors, meeting Wednesday night, also authorized Capt. James Berthinier and Capt. Walter J. Nolan to attend a fire training workshop in Fresno, May 1-5, at a cost of $360.

Baroque Consort Will Perform In Sunday Concert

The Baroque Consort, directed by Dr. S. Drummond Wolff, will present its last recital Sunday at 4 p.m. at the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

This is the final program in a series of recitals performed over the last four years. Wolff is returning to England after two College of Marin concerts, one on May 20 and the last on June 4.

Guest artist Sunday will be guitarist Anthony Kaye. Members of the consort are Michael Gerling and Harris Elvebak, violins; Joan Lundblac, viola; Patricia Elvebak, cello; Douglas Delaney, flute, and Wolff, harpsichord.

The program will include works by Vivaldi, Faure, Ibert, Matiegka, Kreutzer, Albinoni and Handel.

Flood Control Plan Disfavored

A major flood control project which would increase taxes in Rafael Meadows flood control zone was largely ruled out Wednesday night during a meeting of concerned residents and their county supervisor.

That consensus was reached by 89 residents and Supervisor John F. McInnis, according to James R. Blum, zone advisory board chairman.

Worrying 156 signers of a petition suggesting the dissolution of the district was a $700,000 estimate for flood control work to alleviate rain runoff problems.

Whether or not the district is dissolved now rests with supervisors, "who will act on what McInnis suggests to them," Blum said.

Kleindienst Is Finally Cleared By Senate Panel

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Richard G. Kleindienst has finally cleared the hurdle of the Senate Judiciary Committee in his attempt to win confirmation as attorney general, but a bitter debate on the Senate floor may delay final approval for weeks.

The Judiciary Committee approved the nomination in an 11-4 vote Thursday, designating Kleindienst as the replacement for former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, who resigned to run President Nixon's reelection campaign.

The committee action followed one of the longest confirmation hearings in history. The nomination originally was approved Feb. 29 after two days of perfunctory hearings, but it was reopened after printed allegations that Kleindienst was involved in settlement of an antitrust case against the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. There also were charges the settlement was linked to a pledge of financial support for the Republican National Convention.

Kleindienst insisted he was innocent of exerting any undue influence in settling the $1 billion suit. But he acknowledged he "set in motion" a series of meetings that led the antitrust division to change its mind and settle the case out of court.

Voting against Kleindienst's confirmation in the committee were Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; John V. Tunney, D-Calif.; Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D.

Kennedy and Tunney predicted that when the nomination reaches the Senate floor there will be a long debate, a term which often is a euphemism for a filibuster.

But Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., predicted Kleindienst would be confirmed. He said if necessary he would vote for cloture—a parliamentary device requiring a two-thirds majority to shut off debate and bring an issue to a vote.

The nomination is not expected to come up for debate before May 15. It may be later, because Senate leaders may want to schedule other business ahead of the Kleindienst appointment, including debates on end-the-war resolutions.

Some Republicans have suggested that the Democrats might purposely delay the Senate debate on the nomination to make political mileage in the presidential election by rehashing the entire ITT affair on the Senate floor.

ANNOUNCES DECISION — Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, announces to the press that his panel has confirmed Richard G. Kleindienst to be attorney general. The vote came yesterday afternoon.

Now Miami Uncertain About GOP

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—When Miami Beach last year sought the Republican National Convention, city fathers had a hard time even talking to top GOP officials.

Now the Republicans want Miami Beach but the city is not so sure it wants the convention.

Miami Beach already is committed to hosting the Democrats in July and community leaders have expressed reluctance to have another political convention the following month.

BID ASKED

"I openly ask the City Council to tender the Republican party a bid for the Republican National Convention," said Richard Herman, vice chairman of the convention arrangements committee, at a gathering Thursday of about 200 officials from city and county agencies.

Herman, seeking a substitute site for San Diego, asked the City Council to make its bid for the convention by 5 p.m. today to permit the party to proceed with its plans. He assured council members the GOP would work to overcome any problems and help the city host two successful conventions.

Mayor Chuck Hall did not jump to meet the deadline.

"Last year when we were trying to get the convention, we had difficulty even seeing the top Republicans," Hall said. "Now, they are on their knees begging."

Hall said the City Council would not meet until it got answers to some questions about federal help with law enforcement. That probably would take several days, he said.

SECURITY

The main obstacle cited at Thursday's 3½-hour meeting was whether Miami Beach, with the help from Dade County and other communities, is ready to provide the necessary security. The meeting was called by Gov. Reubin Askew, a Democrat.

Speakers were particularly concerned about the five-week period between conventions when antiestablishment demonstrators might remain in town.

The Democratic national convention opens July 10 and the GOP is scheduled to open its convention Aug. 21.

Ribicoff Joins McGovern

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Sen. George S. McGovern collected an early political dividend from the withdrawal of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie today when Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., endorsed him for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"Once Muskie's campaign collapsed, there was no question for me but that George McGovern was the man," Ribicoff told a news conference.

In addition, Julian Bond, the first black to be elected to the Georgia state legislature, announced for McGovern.

Ribicoff said he no longer believes that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., can emerge as a compromise presidential nominee from a deadlocked convention. Ribicoff said he informed Kennedy of his decision to back McGovern and the younger brother of President John F. Kennedy commented "that's fine."

"I would hope that he also would see that McGovern is the best candidate for the Democratic party and would endorse him," said Ribicoff, the Kennedy administration's secretary of health, education and welfare.

The Connecticut senator said McGovern's present chief rival, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, was overly "past oriented" and predicted McGovern would win key primaries in New York and California.

Muskie, who announced Thursday he was withdrawing from all of the remaining primaries but would continue as a candidate at the convention, said he felt he still would be the nominee.

In an interview on public television Thursday night, he smmarized: "The point is that the battle is going to be won for the nomination in the convention in July ... I intend to fight until I get to July and I think Ed Muskie's going to win the nomination."

Kennedy's name figured in revived speculation that he might be drafted by the delegates at the convention at Miami Beach in July. But he again promptly discounted it.

After speaking to a steelworkers meeting, Kennnedy told newsmen that he would not be available for the nomination. "Absolutely no change," Kennedy said. "I am not a candidate and I am not available.'

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., an early Muskie backer, said he believed that Kennedy did not want the nomination "and would not lift a finger to get it."

But Eagleton said he would not rule out the possibility that Kennedy could be the choice of the delegates at Miami Beach if none of the eclared candidates wins in the early balloting at the convention.

Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago was more direct. He said that Muskie had apparently "gotten the message" and suggested that Kennedy would find it difficult to refuse a draft.

Daley, leader of the powerful Illinois Democratic organization, had earlier praised Muskie's candidacy without endorsing it. Thursday he called a news conference in Chicago to express his views only three hours after Muskie announced in Washington that he would not continue and freed the delegates committed to him.

Daley disclosed that Kennedy would be the speaker at the May 24 Cook County Democratic dinner. Last week ennedy was warmly greeted by Democrats in Indiana at a fundraising dinner.

As Muskie withdrew from the primaries, Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, George S. McGovern and Henry M. Jackson each said it would help their campaigns. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace said Muskie's withdrawl should be a warning to the Democratic leadership.

"We are tired of some of your leadership and we're tired of you telling us how to vote," said Wallace in Winston-Salem, N.C.

Heart Attack Solution Working, Mexicans Say

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mexican cardiologists reported today that their controversial "polarization treatment" of a kind of heart attack has cut the fatality rate in half. The kind—myocardial infarction — kills 600,000 annually in the United States.

The treatment has been developed over the last 12 years at the Mexican National Institute of Cardiology. The research had been done largely on dogs, and only recently has the treatment been given to a large number of humans.

In the United States, the method has been criticized as unproven, although some Americans have been experimenting with it. The Mexican conclusions were reported at the Interamerican Congress of Cardiology.

Myocardial infarction — the main cause of coronary death—is the death or damaging of a part of the heart muscle caused by a reduction in the blood supply to the area. An abnormal heart beat can result, and then death is swift.

Dr. Abdo Bisteni of the Mexican Institute said that of those with infarction who reach a coronary care unit, 12 to 15 per cent die. The number who die of this cause without reaching a hospital is unknown.

The Mexicans, who have tried their treatment on 2,000 dogs, announced that in the last two years it has been given to 250 patients. Only 6 per cent died.

What the Mexicans do is to restore injured heart tissue to health with "a polarization solution" injected in the patient inlravenously.

Man Is Facing Only Pot Count

Only a misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana has been filed in Marin Municipal Court against Charles M. Tackett, 24, of San Rafael, who was arrested a week ago on suspicion of having stolen property as well as marijuana.

The district attorney's office said the stolen property aspect is still under investigation.

Tackett was arrested after a meter maid in San Rafael noticed a license plate that had been reported stolen on his car and called officers. Tackett told police he had borrowed the plates from a friend.

Nixon's Arrival In Texas Private

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Randolph Air Force Base will be closed to the public for the arrival Sunday of President Nixon, who plans to attend a dinner and spend the night at Treasury Secretary John Connally's Texas ranch.

Base officials said only military personnel, their dependents and reporters would be allowed on the installation.

University Of Kansas Students Boo Dole's Vietnam Reasoning

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI)—GOP National Chairman Robert Dole, who was booed, jeered and laughed at last week at Tulane University when he defended the stepped-up bombing in Vietnam, gave the same speech Thursday night at Kansas University and got the same response.

Students on the front rows greeted Dole, the Republican senator from Kansas, with Nazi salutes and shouts of "Sieg Heil!"

When he tried to give the Nixon logic on bombing, the students laughed and hooted.

"If you want to stand their laughing, I'm leaving," Dole said at one point. But he did not leave. He stayed and engaged in a shouting exchange with the heckling students among the audience of 1,000.

Fifty of the students attended the speech with their faces painted blue on one side. They said it was their way to make a "visual protest" of the bombing.

"I don't have to be defensive about Mr. Nixon," Dole said. "He is winding down the war, casualties are down, costs are down."

"But what about the bombing!" students shouted.

Dole said that without the bombing, invading North Vietnamese divisions could have "slaughtered" the remaining American troops.

The crowd responded with catcalls and shouts for complete withdrawal.

Dole shouted back, "Sure, we could accept the North Vietnamese peace proposal. We could watch the south defeated. We could lose credibility in the face of the world."

The students answered with cheers and mock laughter.

Although Dole halted at times, waiting for a break in the steady flow of heckling, only once did he threaten t leave.

One conspicuous sign of Republican support appeared in the center of the crowd. A girl held up a printed sign: "Reelect the President."

Fair Queen Selected In Novato

The queen of the 1972 Novato Rodeo and Western Weekend Country Fair has been selected by a panel of judges, but she won't be identified until fair opening ceremonies May 25, according to Carol Loftus of the Novato Horsemen, co-chairman of the contest.

The queen is among the following seven entrants, who recently competed for the title on the basis of horsemanship, appearance, poise and neatness of horse, tack and rider:

Lois Jones, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Jones, 607 McClay Road.

Bambi Anderson, 16, last year's queen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, 680 McClay Road.

Jill Kimbell, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Kimbell, 588 Atherton Avenue.

Jean Robb, 16, daughter of Rhea Robb of San Rafael.

Nancy Bulfinch, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kent R. Bulfinch, 3 Carmel Drive.

Binky Pinckney, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pinckney, 664 Hancock Street.

Karen Middendorf, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Middendorf, 2557 Topaz Drive.

In past years the contest was announced in advance, but this year because the fair is being held earlier than usual, the contest had to be held hurriedly, Mrs. Loftus explained. This year, the country fair is being held several weeks before the rodeo.

McGovern Rally Will Be Sunday

The Marin McGovern for President Committee erred in a press release when it announced a rally this weekend at Olney Hall, College of Marin.

The rally will be held at 1 p.m. Sunday, not Saturday, as the press release said.

Committee Suggests Child's Bus Fare Cut

Children's fares aboard buses between Marin or Sonoma and San Francisco should be cut to 25 cents, a committee of Golden Gate Bridge District directors recommended by split vote yesterday.

Children ages 6 through 12 now pay half the one-way cash fares, rounded up to the nearest nickel, thus paying 40, 50, 65 and 75 cents for the various transbay routes.

The finance-auditing committee also recommended that children under 6 years of age ride free on the Sausalito ferry as they already do on district buses. Each adult is allowed a maximum of two free riders in this age group.

The staff initially had recommended a standard 50-cent intercounty fare, but Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring then said either proposal would meet the aim of simplifying fare structures to speed ticket sales, transfers and information service.

The cut to the 25-cent fare — approved by a 5-3 vote — was led by Marin County Supervisor Michael Wornum. District staff said the fare reduction would reduce annual revenues by $27,000, according to staff estimates. Eliminating fares for children under 6 would cut revenues by $15,000 a year, they estimated.

The fare cuts, which would be effective June 1, were set for ratification today by the full board of directors.

The cut was resisted by director E. J. Guidotti of Sonoma County, who argued the aim of transit was to reduce the number of motorists on the congested bridge. "How many 12-year-olds drive?" he asked.

The committee postponed action on a $910,600 budget for the Sausalito ferry next fiscal year, up from $865,000 this year, largely for payroll increases. The budget showed a net deficit of $133,600 before depreciation and overhead, and $397,000 after depreciation and overhead.

Several directors objected that the budget unfairly included $188,000 for overhead that would be incurred even if the district had no ferry. The staff was asked to draft two budgets, one for the Sausalito ferry and one for future expanded ferry operations that could account for special expenses such as legal fees in applying for a federal grant for the expanded operations.

Park Dedication Buses Planned

Bus transportation will be available to transport persons to dedication ceremonies at Stafford Lake Park, west of Novato, tomorrow, according to Marin Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste.

Golden Gate Bridge District buses will provide hourly service from Southern Marin to San Marin High School from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., and a shuttle service from the high school to the park, he said.

The dedication program will start at 12:30 p.m.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Despite Rising Costs, Sabella's Has Dinners At Nominal Tab

It is hardly a very startling discovery that the cost of eating out has gone up considerably in the past 10 years.

Everything else has, including eating at home. You have only to look at the price of meat and produce in your supermarket to realize that you are living in 1972 — not 1962 — and will have to pay for the privilege. Don't blame the restaurateur for changing the figures on his menu. He is faced with the same problem you have.

There is no exemption for seafood. Lobster, crab and abalone command wholesale prices you wouldn't have believed possible a few years ago. These are now luxury seafoods. And now salmon may go the same route.

But you can still get a fine seafood dinner at nominal cost if you choose the right items. Witness the menu at Sabella's in Mill Valley.

This restaurant has a terrific amount of buying power because of its size and food consumption. But Lou Sabella admits he is caught in the same spiraling squeeze like anyone else.

His introduction of a family dinner at $3.95 about a year ago was a good move. Very popular during the week, it includes both choices of seafoods and fowl. But look also at the upper left hand corner of the menu at the shore dinners at $3.95. Choices are sanddabs, filet of sole, rex sole, Farallon Island rock bass — all appetizing foods and in the moderate range. Have you ever ordered sand dabs? Delicious.

Read the menu a little further and you'll discover in the $3.95 a la carte range both turbot and mahi mahi and for even less such items as red snapper, rock cod and halibut — all fresh. If in doubt as to the best catch of the day, ask any one of Sabella family who may be on duty or the waitress.

Bob Stewart, the organist at Sabella's, celebrated a birthday this week. I don't know if Lou had this in mind when he brought in a new Baldwin "Phantom Fingers" console for him to play — but I do know that Bob has to be one of the best liked cocktail lounge musicians in the county.

The lounge was crowded to the gunwales by fans to help him celebrate last Tuesday night. It was a beautiful testimony of affection for a fine entertainer — now in his eighth year at Sabella's.

SOMETIME IN JUNE you can look for a new restaurant and billiards operation in San Rafael.

This will be the Jess Coleman Restaurant and Recreation Center to be located in the 6,400-square foot building at the southwest corner of Third Street and Lincoln Avenue formerly occupied by National Auto Parts.

Principals are Donald de Surville, who has operated Town and Country Billiards in Kentfield for the past six years, and Jess Coleman, who opened the Charcoal Pit in Kentfield five years ago. The same business names will be used in San Rafael.

The recreation center will have 16 tables and will be partitioned from the restaurant which will feature "open exhibition cooking" and offer such viands as a $2 steak, along with Jess' famous steakburgers, cheeseburgers and pineapple burgers. Beers and wines will be served.

Hours will be from 11 a.m. to 3 a.m. seven days a week.

AND PERHAPS even before that, another food operation may open across the street at the northwest corner of Third and Lincoln — Jack's Hof Brau, which got bogged down several months ago before it started. As I understand it, there is some fine equipment there.

There are two new principals involved — John Kelly and Robert Muldoon. I hope they will be successful in going ahead with their plans.

FRED ZELINSKY, who owns tha properties of several Tiburon restaurants, has contended for years that this community can support at least one additional food establishment — perhaps more. So far, I haven't heard of anyone arguing the point, for Main Street has become a rather successful restaurant row.

Apparently the time is getting close — Fred now has his architect, Mario Gaidano, working on it.

I HAVE IT on the authority of Newton Gregg of Kentfield that one of the best purveyors of North China cuisine around here is the Hsin Hsin Restaurant at 1559 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Gregg and his wife, who have traveled extensively in the Orient, hold that North China cooking is different from the usual Cantonese cooking and more varied. They credit the Hsin Hsin brother and sister team, illiam Duann and Esther Wu, with several exceptional dishes. Among them are listed Three Ingredient Soup, hot spiced bean curd, tan tan noodles and fish flavored pork — also a fine braised cabbage (which isn't on the menu, so you'll have to ask for it).

Hsin Hsin also offers Cantonese cooking, but according to Gregg, even this has North China overtones. Open for both lunches and dinners. Closed Mondays.

THE BARBECUE SECRET of Chris Gartman at the Hick'ry Pit in Strawberry Town and Country Village is said to have originated as a result of the discovery of the New World by Columbus.

According to Chris (Gartman — not Columbus), the explorer introduced a number of young pigs in the Western Hemisphere. Early settlers did the same and eventually many of the pigs escaped and became wild. Then the American Indians discovered them. They developed their own system of barbecuing, which gave the meat a distinctive flavor. The Hick'ry Pit basting formula and open fire barbecue are claimed to follow closely the Indian procedure of cooking.

NEXT DINNER CONCERT of the Kensington Trio and Tamal Food Service, closing the present spring season, will be held Saturday, May 13, at 7:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall, 48 Kensington Road, San Anselmo.

Price is $4.75 per person. Stephen Golden, John Bodo and Wilbur Russell provide the music and Tamal provides the food. Reservations must be made in advance with Tamal Food Service.

ON A TRIP to the Mendocino coast last weekend I found former Corte Madera restaurateur Gregory Seubert more serious than ever about opening his own place at Albion.

This is where he and his wife Mary Alyce live — on about 13 acres on the bluff overlooking the ocean. There is a magnificent view. Though Greg is manager and a co-owner in the Noyo River Inn at Fort Bragg, he has never given up his dream of locating a small restaurant on his own property at Albion.

Now he has jumped one hurdle — the property has been rezoned for this purpose. I don't say that anything is going to happen here soon, but one day you may find another Gregory's on the north coast.

And now I know why he still drives that same paneled van with Gregory's on it that he had in Corte Madera. All he will need to do is change the telephone number.

IT SEEMS that my recent statement that the only exclusively Persian restaurant in the Bay Area could be the newly opened Persian Room on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile already has an exception.

This is Zand's Persian Room at 442 Geary Street, San Francisco. However, it opened for business only a few days before the San Anselmo spot. Anyway, owner Michael Bey is open seven days a week from 4 to 11 p.m. (11 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Sundays). Dinners are under $4.

Just thought I'd set the records straight.

Gallinas CSD Renting Vans For Summer Rec

In an effort to "be more mobile," the Gallinas Village Community Services District board has decided to rent a pair of 10-passenger vans for the district's two-month summer recreation program.

The vans, each renting for $200 a month, will be used instead of charter buses, which cost up to $80 a day, according to Marguerite F. Clark, board secretary.

"This way we can take the kids on swimming and camping excursions on a daily basis," Mrs. Clark said. "We'll be more mobile."

The board also met with new summer recreation director Carolyn E. Jauch at its Wednesday night meeting and held preliminary discussions about the program. Further talks are scheduled at the board's May 4 meeting, Mrs. Clark said.

The board hired Diane Belben on a part-time basis to assist Mrs. Jauch, and announced it it seeking a male to round out the three-member recreation staff, Mrs. Clark said.

Miss Belben's pay was not established by the board, the secretary said.

Innocent Plea To Bad Check

Reed John Murphy, 58, of San Francisco, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of passing a bad check drawn on the account of a defunct lodge near Donner Lake.

A preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday.

Murphy is charged with writing a $750 check Jan. 4 on the account of the Ram's Head Lodge, which was torn down last year. The check disappeared during the demolition, according to the district attorney's officer.

Hospital Is Previewed In Petaluma

Plans for a new hospital received a generally favorable response last night at the Petaluma Hospital District board meeting.

Board president Dr. Frederick K. Groverman reviewed studies indicating it would be more practical to build a new hospital than to enlarge Hillcrest Hospital where hilly topography would greatly increase costs.

He said the board has received offers of two free sites for the hospital. Qantas Development Corp. has offered 20 acres on North McDowell Boulevard near Lucchesi Park and Land Investors Research has offered 20 acres on West Washington Street at Adobe Road.

District Administrator Joseph Horner said that Hillcrest will not be abandoned when the new hospital is built. He said its future use has not been decided, but that it will not be closed as some have suggested.

Horner also showed slides on changes that have been made to make Hillcrest more efficient and also showed crowded conditions. He said that in the past 21 months, out-patient emergency services have increased by 90 per cent; out-patient X-ray services by 81 per cent and out-patient laboratory services by 237 per cent.

Representatives of the Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association endorsed the building plans.

The board approved the purchase of $4,050 in new laboratory equipment, and heard that a public hearing on the new hospital application will be held May 31 at 7:30 p.m. at Kenilworth Junior High School by the Bay Area Comprehensive Health Facilities Planning Council.

Drawing May Decide Deadlocked Election

Unless another recount changes the outcome of the Corte Madera Town Council election, the matter of who gets the second council seat will be decided by lot, according to Town Atty. Albert Bianchi.

A recount completed Wednesday left a tie between incumbent Robert P. Simmons and Herber C. Leney, with 833 votes for each.

In the original count, Simmons polled 833 to Leney's 829, and Simmons was seated for his second term on the council April 18. A recount was requested by Leney, however, which produced the tie result.

Bianchi said that Simmons now has until Monday to ask for another recount if he wishes.

If he does not, according to the attorney, the law provides that lots be cast to determine the winner. He said the law does specify what type of a gamble be used —flipping a coin, drawing straws or other such methods may be chosen.

If the loser is still not satisfied, Bianchi said, he may appeal to the superior court for a ruling.

In the April 11 election, two council seats were up for grabs. The top vote getter was Robert J. Flahive, a newcomer who unseated incumbent Byron D. White. Flahive received 923 votes.

Assembly Lowers Voter Residency

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly has unanimously passed legislation reducing the state voter residency requirement from one year to 90 days.

The measure by Assemblyman Henry Waxman, D-Los Angeles, was sent to the Senate Thursday on a 64-0 vote.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled all lengthy state and local residency requirements unconstitutional and suggested that 30 days should be enough.

Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. has urged the legislature to adopt 30-day requirements to prevent "possible election chaos."

Rohnert Park Planners Approve Housing Units

Plans for four four-unit apartments were approved last night by the Rohnert Park Planning Commission after neighboring homes were assured privacy.

Young America Homes Inc. received approval for the development on Bridgit Drive. Previous plans were rejected when residents on Adrian Drive complained they would lose the privacy of their backyards.

Commission secretary Sandra Nelson said the homeowners and commission were satisfied that the new plan would assure them privacy.

Rohnert Park Planning Commission Also:

APARTMENTS — Approved plans by Patrick Taylor and Olaf Gross for a 36-unit apartment on Avram Avenue.

INDUSTRY — Asked Codding Enterprises to redraw plans for a 36,000 square foot industrial building to assemble modular and mobile homes on five acres on the westside of South Santa Rosa Avenue. The commission said it hoped a more attractive design could be submitted.

STORE — Approved plans for a three-phase addition to the Home Appliance Co. on south Santa Rosa Avenue as submitted by Norman Francisco.

APARTMENTS — Approved plans by the Nelson Construction Co. for two four-unit apartments on the northwest corner of Beverly Drive and East Cotati Avenue.

Cartagena, once completely walled and a gathering point for Spanish treasure, was founded in Colombia by Pedro de Hereda Heredia in 1533.

Trio Held On Stolen Property

Three young Petaluma men were arrested yesterday on suspicion of possession of stolen property.

Booked into city jail were Stanley Louis DeMartinis, 23, of 15 Seventh Street; Paul Gary Chaney, 22, of 328 Post Street, and Victor N. Fenske, 20, of 15 Seventh Street. They were scheduled for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Fenske was also charged with carrying a concealed weapon. Officers said a loaded .32-caliber pistol was found in one of his boots.

Police said the car driven by DeMartinis was stopped and items found that had been reported stolen from the home of Stanley Mitchell, 416 Petaluma Boulevard South, Petaluma.

New Label Put On Marijuana

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly has approved legislation classifying marijuana as a drug rather than a narcotic.

The bill by Assemblyman William Campbell, R-Hacienda Heights, was passed Thursday on a 44-9 vote and sent to the Senate. The measure would conform California's definitions of drugs and narcotics to present federal law.

Assemblyman Henry Waxman, D-Los Angeles, opposed the bill on the grounds it retained the present penalty provisions for possession of the weed.

Waxman, who unsuccessfully carried a bill to remove all penalties for possession of pot, said the current law is not "rational."

Try this quiz on the April 28 94th birthday of the late Lionel Barrymore (1878-1954), American actor:

T F 1. This blue-eyed baby boy, who was born into a theatrical family at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, made his debut on stage with his parents as an infant.

T F 2. Educated in New York schools, Lionel joined a road company as a young actor but left the stage for three years to try the life of an artist in Paris.

T F 3. When he finally tried out for the movies, director D. W. Griffith laughed at his inept performance, saying, "You'll never become an actor, young man. Try something else."

T F 4. Barrymore, who became a great stage, screen, and radio star, was one of the first to win an Academy Award, being honored in 1931 for his role in "A Free Soul."

WINNING BRIDGE

Don't Look For Happy Endings In These Daily Tragic Reports

If you want stories with happy endings, don't look for them in bridge columns. In these daily tragic reports, suits never break and finesses never work. The hero of a bridge column wears not only suspenders and a belt but also two pairs of pants.

TYPICAL PESSIMIST

The average player would go down at four spades on this hand. Only the typical pessimistic bridge hero would make the contract.

South's only problem is to limit the trump loss to two tricks. He ruffs the second diamond and leads a trump. Which trump?

The average player would lead the king of spades from force of habit. West would capture the king of spades with the ace. East would later get two additional trump tricks.

LOW LEAD WORKS

The correct play is to begin the trumps by leading a low card. As it happens, this knocks out the singleton ace. South can later draw two more trumps with the king and queen, after which his contract is safe.

South doesn't know that his first low trump will knock out the ace. If a low trump wins the trick, South expects to regain the lead and return the king of spades. This will work whenever the trumps break 3-2 (with one unlikely exception).

WORRY LATER

The only 4-1 break South can provide against is that in which an opponent has the singleton ace. South should provide for that first and worry later about the 3-2 breaks.

If you're wondering about the exception, here it is: West has three trumps. When South leads a low trump, West wins and leads a low diamond for his partner to ruff. This "uppercut" play defeats South. However, this type of play would defeat South even if he led the king or queen of spades first.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with two no-trumps, and the next player passes. You hold:
♠ - J 10 9 8
♡ - J 10 5 4
◇ - 7 2
♣ - J 10 7.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to bid a major suit of four or more cards.

You plan to raise to four if partner bids three spades or three hearts. If he bids three diamonds, you will go to three no-trump. It is unusual to be so ambitious with only three points, but your three tens should also be very useful.

Concert Time

Series Of Nature Walks Scheduled

A series of guided nature walks will be offered by Point Reyes National Seashore rangers.

The first walk will start at 9 a.m. tomorrow at the amphitheater near the seashore information center at Bear Valley and will take in the ecology of Inverness Ridge. It will take hikers to elevations of 1,400 feet.

Good walking shoes and a canteen are suggested. The walk will be over by noon, so lunch is not necessary. Walkers may return on the same route or continue on their own.

The number of guided walks — planned each Saturday indefinitely — will depend on attendance.

$2.6 Million Increase In Retirement Unit's Assets

An audit of the Marin County Employees' Retirement Association shows its assets grew more than $2.6 million during 1971 to a total of $16.8 million.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said yesterday the association's liabilities, meantime, totaled $6.3 million, an increase of $1.2 million from the previous year.

As a result, he said, members' equity totals $10.5 million which is up $1.4 million from 1970.

During 1971, Mitchell continued, more than $525,000 was paid in retirement, survivors' and deceased members' benefits.

"From a fiscal standpoint the retirement system is in an excellent fiscal status," he said.

The county's retirement association has 1,595 members, most of whom are still working. About 219 are receiving benefits.

SAILING RACES

Lifetime Chance For Miss Elder

By PAT BALMES

A summer of sailboat racing to Bermuda, across the Atlantic Ocean and in a regatta in Norway is ahead for Anne Elder.

A systems analyst for the Naval Air Station in Alameda, Miss Elder lives in San Francisco and sails her Rhodes 19 out of San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere.

The young woman has been invited to crew aboard the 68-foot schooner New World in the Bermuda Race and the Trans-Atlantic Race. She will leave the ocean racer in Spain and travel to Norway to participate in the International Knarr Regatta.

"I'm going as crew on New World, not cook," said Anne. "I'll stand a watch."

The schooner, owned by George Kiskaddon of San Francisco, has just been built in New Zealand and is now on a freighter bound for Baltimore, Md.

"It was designed with the idea that there would be girls in the crew," said Anne, mentioning that the skipper's wife, Lillian, will crew with her on the Bermuda Race and his daughter, Ruth, will crew on the Trans-Atlantic Race.

Starting point on June 16 for the Bermuda Race is Newport, R.I., Anne's native state.

"WHEN I was growing up I hoped someday I would sail in it, but I did not expect to go 3,000 miles to be invited. I never raced in big boats until I got out here; I did not know people who owned them," said Anne.

She'll have a week's vacation in Bermuda before embarking on the Trans-Atlantic Race aboard New World on June 26.

The schooner will be the third largest yacht in the Trans-Atlantic Race, exceeded only by Black Finn out of St. Francis Yacht Club and Windward Passage from Honolulu.

Anne anticipates continuous hard work, but fun besides, on the 21-day race to the northern coast of Spain. The crew is 10 plus the cook. Five yachtsmen will stand each watch. On one day Anne will stand a six-hour daylight watch and two four-hour night watches. On the alternate day she will have a six-hour daylight watch and one four-hour night watch.

Asked what she will do in a heavy wind, Anne said, "I do not have the strength for heavy work. But I can furl or stop sails and lead sheets (put ropes through winches to pulleys).

"I will get to steer some and I can let off sheets in light air."

HER LONGEST ocean race to date was the four-day San Francisco to Newport Beach Race. She has never been across the ocean before, "sailing or any other way either."

"It's an opportunity of a lifetime," said Anne. "Nobody could talk me out of it."

Depending on wind, New World will finish in Spain about July 15. Anne plans to stay a week and visit Madrid. Then she will travel through Europe, visiting Paris and London, on her way to Bergen, Norway, where the International Knarr Regatta will be held from Aug. 7 to 12.

There she will be the house-guest of Knarr yachtsmen who were housed by San Francisco Yacht Club members last summer when the Knarr regatta was held on San Francisco Bay. She plans to tour Scandinavian countries for several weeks and return home on Sept. 11.

ANNE BEGAN sailing at 10 years old in the junior sailing program at Bristol Yacht Club in Bristol, R.I. She took lessons for three or four years and then taught sailing in the summers.

She has crewed four times in the finals of the North American Women's Sailing Championship sponsored by the North American Yacht Racing Union.

Last year Anne was the only woman crew member in the Congressional Cup, sailed off Long Beach. The trophy is given by the Congress of the United States.

Parents Of Nursery School Elect Slate

Novato Parents Nursery School members have elected Mrs. Robert MacInnes president. She served as secretary during her first year as a member last year.

MRS. ROBERT MacINNES
School president

Anita MacInnes said that the purpose of the organization is "to provide an atmosphere in which a child is accepted for himself. It is a place where members may realize their own developmental capacities. Also to further their education in the principles of child guidance through their observations of children as well as participation in the daily program and attendance at educational meetings."

Projects planned for the year include a fund raising event in October and continued sales of a booklet composed by club members entitled "Fun Places for Marin Families." An updated and enlarged edition is now available from members or at the Amber-Griffin book store in Novato.

Any parent with a child between the ages of 3 and 5½ years old is eligible to join.

HELEN HELP US!

Don't Take The Attitude That A 'Bigot' Can Never Reform

DEAR HELEN:
My doctors says that when married people grow in different directions, sometimes divorce is the only answer. After 20 year invested, surely there must be a better solution than this!

Helen, I'm married to a bigot! My husband is a hard-hat, rightwing, back-to-the-good-old-dayser. He watches "All in the Family" and cheers for Archie. What's more, half of his friends agree with him.

They feel threatened when I don't get upset by 1. "Modern depravity" (vastly exaggerated, say I). 2. The new morality (no worse than the "old," but considerably more honest and with fewer hang-ups). 3. Homosexuality between consenting adults (whose business is it but theirs?) 4. Sex education in schools (much needed!) 5. Long-haired boys. 6. Interracial friendships.

It's got so I clam up and seldom express an opinion because I know it will be the opposite of what my husband thinks. . .which is exactly what he thought 25 years ago. The children and I don't argue with him — he may even believe he's convinced us.

But what does a wife do when she is ready to explode because she's — MARRIED TO A "RIGHT" WHO IS WRONG

DEAR MARRIED:
Un-stifle yourself, for heaven's sake!

You'd be surprised how many "good old daysers" have turned middle-of-the-road-liberal just through the clever ministrations of a wife and kids. This doesn't mean pistols at 20 paces, but a gradual education process, backed by the realization that men feel more threatened by change than do women.

I've an idea that even Archie Bunker might dip his toes into the 20th Century if Edith unwrapped her brains. (But then we'd lose a great TV show.)

Anyhow, don't clam up at home on the supposition that "bigots never reform." Look back 25 years and remember that you felt then as your husband feels now. But you moved with the times. Give him a hand and perhaps he'll catch up with you. — H.

DEAR HELEN:
We women work in an office with a fellow who we hear is a homosexual, though he doesn't look it or act it. He's very interesting and intelligent. The young attractive married girls don't have to fight him off.

Because of the (probably authentic) rumor, he's not exactly an eligible bachelor. Yet he's been hanging around with us, just like "one of the gals."

Granted, he's good company, but we're a little afraid to associate with him. Should we avoid him in the lunchroom and otherwise get him to flake off? — APPREHENSIVE

DEAR AP:
Why not judge this man on his obvious merits: He's interesting, intelligent, good company, and no threat to husbands.

You can't "catch" homosexuality like the measles, so I'd guess your only fear is "office gossip." Don't you think he's been hurt by this enough already? Accept him as a friend. — H.

League Officers To Attend Convention

The president and the vice president of the League of Women Voters of Central Marin will attend the national league convention in Atlanta, Ga., Monday through Friday. They are Mmes. Richard Batman of San Rafael, president, and Bruce Duncan of Fairfax, vice president.

Featured at the convention will be a talk, "Women as a Political Force," by Gloria Steinem, a luncheon panel on corporate responsibility, and addresses by Richard Salant, CBS news president, and Tom Winship, editor of the Boston Globe, on "Media's Role in an Election Year."

The Daring Dresser

Some fashion authorities say that wearing something daring —at least, every so often—helps one get rid of pent-up feelings. Others say such clothes are designed for play-acting. Either way, what happens sounds beneficial, doesn't it?

ON BEING BLACK

The Strong Sisterhood Bond In Today's Society

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
Los Angeles Times Syndicate

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This first installment of a weekly four-part series by noted black columnist Sandra Haggerty examines the strong undercurrent of sisterhood that has always united black women and which manifests itself today in strong social, religious and community bonds.)

"I don't hestitate even a minute to go out of my way to help a sister. Why? Because I understand. To bring it on down home, I ain't no virgin. I've been there. I'm 78 years old — got seven children, 18 grandchildren and a slew of great grandchildren. So you see where I'm comin' from. I know the pain, the use and misues that's been heaped upon her over the years."

This was Miss Lulu talking a kindly grandmother type to look at her, but sharp as a tack as she made her feelings known to an audience of smart, sophisticated black women.

"Now don't misunderstand me. I don't see black women as long and on-suffering martyrs. Heaven knows we ain't got no time to beat a dead horse. But because the black woman has suffered great injustices and survived, she simply represents a very special woman.

"Our ability to keep on moving and growing will determine our success. We all know growing pains hurt, so we've gotta support one another during these trying periods. And we have to be careful not to come down with a bad case of the timmes. There are many things we blacks must do ourselves.

"I'm an old, old woman, arthritis and all, but I'm pleased to walk with you in today's black sisterhood.

"We always existed, you know, but today you young people are able to speak up about what's going on. You are using the sisterhood in positive ways — ways that are making important changes in our communities."

Miss Lulu's words left the group of black women — younger, better educated and more articulate than herself — speechless.

History is filled with accounts of famous and infamous sisterhoods. The term generally signifies a group of women joined together in a co-operative effort and/or ideology. It's nothing new, nothing to fear.

Religious orders — Catholics, for example — have their nuns, women united in a spiritual sisterhood.

The black church sisters of the Southern Baptists and other Protestant faiths are joined together in an effort to "live good Christian lives and herald the praises of God."

How well I remember religious services in the country school house that doubled as a church on Sundays:

"Sister Lawrence is ailing today. Pray for her."

"Sister Washington will now read the 23rd Psalm."

"Sister Thomas, our own, who speaks in tongues, is today sharing her gift with the church folks over at Nicodemus."

"Sister Holly has lost her dear, devoted husband of 35 years. Pray for her that she has plenty of home cookin' to see her through these difficult days."

"Amen, Sister, Amen!"

The college sisterhoods of the Greek sororities have traditionally assisted their new members in all campus endeavors.

But this is one sisterhood we black women were initially excluded from, discriminated against. So we formed our own fraternities and sororities. In my college days, the AKAs and the Deltas were THE black sororities.

It's not chic to say so, but I remember how we discriminated against each other. The local AKAs rushed the lighter and brighter black girls, and the Deltas rushed the darker girls. Such nonsensical distinctions have since been laid to rest.

A very personal sisterhood is the real sisterhood of a large or poor family. Under adverse conditions, the older sister becomes responsible for the well-being of the entire family.

Within the black society, the word sister is often used jokingly, but simultaneously with love and respect.

Most black women like being referred to as sisters and take their membership in the black sisterhood seriously.

Black sisterhood indicates that we have in common our black ethnic heritage and the resultant effects — a fact that ideally should not exist but does.

In addition to our common denominator of blackness, we are united in our contemporary attitudes toward helping and liking one another. We are united in an illumination and, more than that, a celebration of our likenesses and differences.. (NEXT: SOM and The Panther Women.)

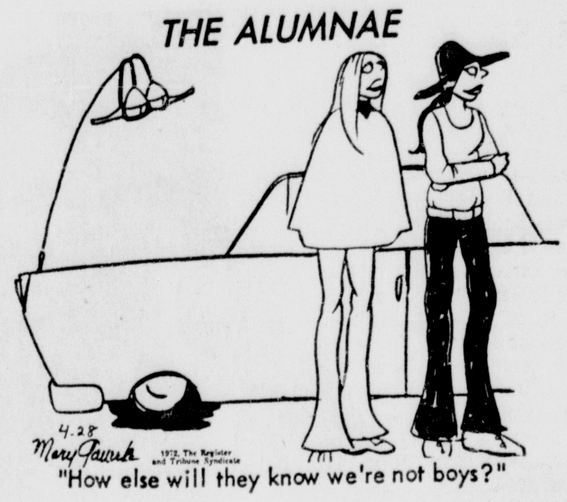
Straight Skirts With Sweaters On Fall Scene

Straight skirts for fall will be worn with sweaters, soft shirt jackets or heavier jackets to make a suit, according to Women's Wear Daily.

Betsey Johnson, who designs for Alley Cat, had done a straight skirt in pastel striped wool, flecked to make it tweedy. She topped it with a matching shirt that doubles as jacket in the same salmon, light blue, natural, lilac and pale turquoise striped tweed.

Mary Alice Orito, Hang Ups' designer, has revived the classic front-pleated straight skirt and teamed it with a matching boat neck cardigan in angora mixed with wool ribs for her fall collection.

THE ALUMNAE



"How else will they know we're not boys?"

Fitzgerald Scholarship For Nursing

A scholarship, named for singer Ella Fitzgerald, has been started at Redwood High School in Larkspur for licensed vocational nurses training by the College of California Medical Affiliates in San Francisco.

The scholarship amounts to $2,500 in tuition and expenses at the college, said Richard Frakes, vice president of the school's scholarship foundation. A committee from the foundation will select the scholarship winner, he said.

The singer, in addition to lending her name to the scholarship, will visit the student and attend her graduation, Sims said.

Costs Of Crime On The Society

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. said Thursday that the gross national product would increase by $50 billion if it included the market value of goods and services such as heroin, marijuana and illegal gambling.

"It is becoming increasingly difficult for anyone to ignore the fact that crime is imposing heavy costs on U.S. society," the bank said in its monthly survey.

However, it said state lotteries, legal off-track betting and the Nixon's administration's declared fight on drug traffic were having their effect.

Heath To Host Without Hostess

LONDON (UPI)—There will be no official hostess for Britain's bachelor prime minister.

Alternative Urges Park District

Formation of a countywide park district run by a directly elected board, with a moratorium on construction in open areas targeted for possible preservation, has been urged by Marin Alternative.

The organization also endorsed the proposed Golden Gate National Recreation Area, which would link the Golden Gate Headlands and Point Reyes National Seashore. The recreation area should include the Olema Valley, Tiburon Net Depot and open space on Wolfback Ridge and in Tamalpais Valley, the organization agreed.

The building moratorium should be imposed until it can be determined whether open spaces somehow can be acquired, according to the position adopted by the organization.

About 50 members attended the Wednesday night meeting in the Corte Madera Library, reported chairman Thomas Thorner of Kentfield.

The organization also took a position on Proposition 9, the Environment Initiative on the June ballot, but Thorner refused to disclose the position until reasons for the stand can be drafted. The measure is "too complex" for a stand to be taken on it unless the reasons are clearly stated, he said."

The organization also endorsed Dr. Ronald T. Stafford, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 5 seat, and Joan Seminario and Roger Bockrath, candidates in the Ross Valley Sanitary District. Mrs. Seminario is chairman of Marin Alternative's water task force.

The next membership meeting was set on May 10 to consider endorsements of supervisorial and presidential candidates. The meeting will be held after the supervisorial candidates forum to be held the same night at 8 p.m. at the College of Marin.

Youth To Aid Cancer Drive

Youth Against Cancer, a group with aims of helping the American Cancer Society, will stage a 24-mile "bike-a-thon" May 20 from Terra Linda High School to Rancho Nicasio and back.

Registration at Terra Linda will be at 8:30 a.m., according to Pamela Jean Lister. Youth Against Cancer spokesman. A brown-bag picnic lunch i planned at Rancho Nicasio.

Ride cards can be obtained at high schools or at the American Cancer Society office, 18 Mary Street, San Rafael. Riders will be sponsored on a money-per-mile-traveled basis. Funds collected will be donated to the society, Miss Lister said.

Bay Crusade Distributes $15.1 Million—12% Cut

Distribution to member agencies, including those in Marin, of $15,182,607 by the United Bay Area Crusade for the groups' 1972 operations has been announced.

Crusade Pres. Peter E. Haas said that the amounts represented a 12 per cent decrease from last year, because the Crusade raised $16,095,000 for 1972 as compared to $17,038,000 for 1971.

Although the Crusade itself took a 12 per cent cut in its operating budget, officials still were forced to "overallocate in excess of $87,000 to the agencies."

The deficit will be covered by interest earnings.

Marin agencies sharing in the distribution include:

Marin City Boys' Club, $19,500; Family Service Agency of Marin County, $53,000; Legal Aid Society of Marin County, $3,000; St. Vincent's School for Boys, $40,000 for 1972 and $11,500 since reinstatement in October 1971, and Sunny Hills, $55,000.

In addition a number of agencies which have branches or chapters in Bay Area counties were given amounts of money, some of which will be allocated to Marin.

These include:

American National Red Cross, $2,077,839 to be divided among seven chapters; Boy Scouts of America, $578,110, to be divided among five counties; Camp Fire Girls Golden Gate Council (including Marin), $70,400; Catholic Social Service of the Archdiocese of San Francisco, $631,500 to be divided among three counties; Girl Scouts — San Francisco Bay Council (includes Marin), $378,300; Jewish Welfare Federation of San Francisco, Marin County and the Peninsula, $385,440; Mental Health associations, $217,829, to be divided among five counties.

Salvation Army, $386,668, to be divided among five counties Volunteer Bureaus, $118,680, to be divided among five counties, and Young Men's Christian Association, $628,350, to be divided among five counties.

In addition, several other agencies received allocations.

Woman Sentenced In Court On Monday Returns On Thursday

A Fairfax woman — who on Monday had been granted a stay of execution from jail in a forgery conviction — was arraigned yesterday with her husband on a charge of possessing stolen property.

Pamela M. Wilson, 20, of 145 Domingo Avenue, was scheduled to plead next Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court and her husband, Charles A. Wilson, 22, to plead Thursday. Bail was set at $5,000 for Mrs. Wilson, $10,000 for her husband.

They were arrested at 9:00 a.m. Wednesday on suspicion of possession of property stolen the day before from a home in San Anselmo.

Fairfax police stopped the couple's car on Tuesday at about noon after an informant had given police "probable cause to believe" there was stolen property inside the Wilsons' car. Officers confiscated a stereo system and color television set, valued at $580, and later identified them as taken from the Spruce Street home of George K. Norman in San Anselmo. Police arrested the Wilsons the following morning at their home.

Mrs. Wilson, believed to be a heroin addict, was sentenced Monday in Marin Superior Court to stay in county jail until she is old enough to begin methadone treatment. She also was placed on two years probation for two felony counts of forging checks and a misdemeanor count of forging a signature of a credit card slip.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, however, allowed a two-day stay of execution in the sentence so that Mrs. Wilson might help move furniture in the family home to another residence.

The Only Part

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI)—Puerto Rico is the only part of the United States on which Christopher Columbus set foot. He landed here on his second voyage in 1493. Aboard his ship was Juan Ponce de Leon, who became the island's first governor and later searched for the fountain of youth in Florida, where he died.

Stamps Are More Than Just Pretty

By Lucia Johnson Leith

The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — You don't have to be a collector to appreciate a pretty stamp. But there is more to stamps than that important facet, beauty.

"Stamps are a powerful communications tool," says Gordon C. Morison, manager of the U.S. Postal Service's philatelic affairs division.

"The subjects stamps portray contribute significantly to telling about a country's culture, history, and achievements, and stamps like ours portraying planned parenthood and drug abuse alert the country to matters of national interest." He adds: "Overseas, stamps are kind of ambassadors."

Choosing stamp subjects which will help portray the U.S. at home and abroad can be a weighty and delicate business.

The postmaster general, by law, has final say on stamp subject and design. He is advised by a Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee, appointed by him and serving at his pleasure.

Anyone can send an idea for a stamp to the postmaster general. Postal Service files bulge with 4,000 such suggestions. Some 500 different stamp ideas pour into the service from individuals and organizations every year.

Yet only about 15 commemorative issues — honoring individuals and historic anniversaries, for instance — appear each year. The Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee culls the piles of suggestions and recommends what those 15 issues should be. A commemorative issue can be one stamp or a set of stamps on one theme. And usually 130 million of each commemorative stamp are issued.

Philatelists (stamp collectors), artists, and those connected with museums — and men (currently only one woman is a member) — make up the bulk of the present 13-member committee. Historians and the director of the U.S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing which produces the country's stamps (27 billion) last year are also members.

Connecticut artist Stevan Dohanos, present committee chairman, explains: "The philatelists are watchdogs to keep us from repeating what we've done in the past. The historians are watchdogs on what is important historically and what isn't.

Dohanos has designed some 15 stamps, including the eight-cent flag stamp.

Art members keep tabs on artists familiar with the demanding skill of designing for the small stamp size or artists who may be especially equipped to do a particular subject.

The committee meets privately in Washington, generally four times a year for one or two days. Members who are not federal employees are paid $98 a day during meetings. Artists, except when serving as committee members, receive $1,000 for accepted work.

Commemoratives consume most of the time of the committee, which is already looking ahead to the 1973 and 1974 commemorative programs. (Ideas should be submitted 18 months ahead of the event to be commemorated.)

But the committee advises on regular stamps too. Unlike commemoratives issued for limited periods of time, regular stamps — like the 8-cent Eisenhower and 25-cent Frederick Douglas — are kept in constant supply in post offices across the country. Subjects for regular issues are usually changed every 10 years. We'll probably have a new regular-issue series for the U.S. bicentennial celebration.

Commemorative standards were set by the first Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee about 15 years ago. No living person is honored on a stamp. Historical events honored must usually have attained at least the 50th anniversary.

Individual towns, cities, schools, colleges are not honored, since there are so many of them. But a statehood anniversary automatically becomes a part of the year's commemorative program.

"In reaching a decision, the committee is not above going outside its own group for opinion," says Franklin R. Bruns Jr., associate curator of the Smithsonian Institution's division of postal history. A current committee member, avid collector, and author of a weekly stamp column, Bruns was the first Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee chairman.

"Suppose it came to a choice between two poets," he continues. "If we were divided on which was greater and no specific anniversary dates were involved, we would go out and seek the opinion of people acknowledged as authorities in poetry."

The committee must weigh whether stamp subjects could be considered controversial or as propaganda. It took some time, for instance, before English-born American revolutionary patriot Thomas Paine (now on the 40c regular stamp) made it to stamphood. He was considered too controversial.

Sets and series of stamps — like the American painting, folklore, and poet series — which have been increasing during recent years, will continue.

"We're trying to make our stamps tell a story," explains Morison. "Once, we would have issued a single stamp for Yellowstone National Park, for instance — 100 years old this year. Instead, we're issuing a set of eight National Park stamps to show the diversity of the parks."

The coming look for stamps also includes even more multicolored ones. The Bureau of Engraving and Printing has four types of stamp presses, one capable of printing up to nine colors at a time.

On the tiny stamp size, color alignment is critical.

"The more colors you use, the more carefully you have to align them to avoid overlap," says Robert R. Rausch, the bureau's superintendent of product control. "And the alignment has to be achieved when paper is running through the presses at high speed."

The bureau's highly skilled engravers transform original stamp artwork into engravings from which press plates or cylinders are made.

Commemoratives cost more to produce than regular issues. The 8c regular issue flat stamp costs 36c per 1,000 stamps to produce. The 11c stamp commemorating Hawaii's City of Refuge National Park costs $1.42 per 1,000.

But when a stamp is saved by philatelists and not used to pay for mail delivery, the Postal Service makes money. And the public collects and saves enough stamps each year to pay for the cost of manufacturing all postage stamps for a year, the service feels.

"Why not have a single stamp design?" some sugges.

"It would have to be awfully good to stand up under the monotony," comments Dohanos.

The Postal Service and its advisory committee hope people notice stamps and learn from them.

Says Dohanos: "They're looking at a showcase of accomplishments, struggles, and goals."

Hub School Panel Takes Budget Look

The San Anselmo School District board last night reviewed a preliminary 1972-73 budget calling for a cutback in 11 staff positions and elimination of transportation for pupils in kindergarten through third grades.

Board member Eugene E. Jacks said the board scheduled further discussion of the budget for next Tuesday's regular meeting.

The budget, showing income of $1,972,309 and expenditures of $1,952,837, calls for reductions in teaching staff amounting to $88,000, Jacks said. A $9,000 contract for two buses used for transporting students also would be eliminated, but the district "will retain its own 25-passenger bus for transportation of educationally handicapped and some kindergarten through third-grade students," Jacks said.

The 11 staff positions would include the head librarian and 10 teachers in kindergarten through eighth grade, he said.

In explaining the proposed cutbacks, Jacks cited "inflation and the rise of many school costs," and $45,000 in teacher salary step increase scheduled for next year.

Jacks said six teachers in kindergarten through sixth grades and four in seventh and eighth grades would be those eliminated by the new budget. He said the average salary of the 11 positions is $8,000.

The 1971-72 budget showed income of $2,009,116 and expenditures of $1,982,798, he said.

Pay Increase Is Sought By Hospital Workers

A salary increase asked by 12 Marin Hospital District employees would cost $3,000 if granted next year, according to Ray K. Bolinger, district administrator.

He said members of Stationary Engineers Union Local 39 have requested a 2.7 per cent increase, and if the salary hike is granted to all 12 engineering department members, the district would pay out an additional $3,000.

The request has been referred to the federal wage and price board.

Details of the pay request's impact on the district were not available to the Independent-Journal after the board's Tuesday night meeting.

Tam District Hit On Hiring Decision

A state hearing officer found yesterday that Tamalpais High School District officials didn't give proper grounds in notifying a group of teachers that it might not be rehired for next year.

Hearing officer Harold Furst said the district failed to show in tentative layoff notices to the equivalent of 39 full-time teachers that either the district had undergone an enrollment drop over a two-year period or that specific program cuts had necessitated the action.

Of the original 39, Dist. Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins said today, all but 18 have been assured jobs for next year because of resignations and leaves. And most of the 18, he said, are expected to be taken on for the 1972-73 school year as permanent substitutes.

Hawkins said Furst's finding was in the form of a proposed decision to the district board of trustees.

Affected teachers had asked for a hearing, conducted last Friday by Furst, after notices of possible layoff went out in March. The district maintained it was attempting to fix a certain teacher-pupil ratio through the cutbacks.

Winners In Sausalito List Funds

The candidate who captured the most votes in the April 11 Sausalito City Council election has reported he spent less than half the amount of campaign costs reported by the two other winners in the 10-man contest.

And an unsuccessful candidate spent more than any of the successful contenders.

City Clerk Miriam K. Ansell said Evert H. Heynneman, who received 913 votes, reported expenditures and contributions totalling $400. Councilman Robin Sweeny, reelected in the race with 759 ballots, received and spent $1,134 during the campaign. Councilman Sally Stanford, who ran second with 810 votes, reported $1,250 in campaign donations (including a $1,000 anonymous contribution) and $1,458 in campaign costs.

Robert D. Bauerle, unsuccessful in his second bid for the council, listed expenses of $1,752 and contributions of $1,456.

Six other candidates — W. Daniel O'Connor, Howard Chadd, Robert C. Martin, Leonard F. Rappa, Serge Trubach and Helen K. Armstrong — have not yet filed expense and donation reports, Mrs. Ansell said.

Candidates for public office are required by law to file declarations of expense and donations within 35 days after an election or they become ineligible to run again for public office, according to the county elections office.

Ruins Believed To Be Russian

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The possible remains of a Russian colonist dating back to an 1812 settlement has been discovered in Sonoma County.

Officials of the state Department of Parks and Recreation said Thursday archeologists found what may be an early Russian structure and a grave with the possible remains of the colonist during excavations by the department along the new right-of-way of California 1 near Fort Ross State Park.

The highway is being rerouted around the fort.

The find could date to the period of an original Russian settlement in the county, officials said. A University of California anthropologist and a department archeologist will study the remains.

Magazines and Parent's Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael City Library.

FAMILY

"Song of the South" — Reissue of Disney's 1946 rendition of the Uncle Remus tales.

"Wild Country" — Pleasantly familiar formula of pioneer family's move to the West. A Disney film with plenty of action.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Airport" — Absorbing and gripping drama of action in a blizzard paralyzed airport with a huge plane blocking a runway and another passenger loaded jet with a bomb aboard is trying to land.

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" — A legendary pair of bank robbers that never shot anyone and steal only from those that can afford it are forced to flee to Bolivia where they continue their trade till recognized. Very violent ending.

"Concert For Bangladesh" — Filmed at Madison Square Garden this documentary of the benefit rock concert has George Harrison, Ravi Shankar, Ringo Starr, Bob Dylan to mention just a few stars. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"Hot Rock" — Set in Brooklyn the hilarious experiences of four accident prone thieves who steal a fabulous diamond from a museum provides many laughs.

"Mary, Queen of Scots" — Mary Stuart's ill-fated struggle to remain queen of Scotland while pressing her claim to succeed Elizabeth on the throne of England is theme of this opulent production. For the most part picture is historically correct and sites authentically reproduced. Costuming is elaborate.

"The Omega Man" — The omega man is supposed to be the last man to survive a world bacteriological war (1975), but a group of ghoulish psychotics outwit and thus outlive him.

"Red Sky at Morning" — A compassionate, engrossing study of a family's struggle to build a life in new surroundings when the father goes off to war. The cursing, sex and nudity are handled tastefully within the context of the story.

"They Might Be Giants" — A chaotic tragic-comic fantasy about a former judge turned paranoic and believes he is Sherlock Holmes. His psychiatrist, Dr. Mildred Watson, instead of curing him, joins him in his search for Prof. Moriarty.

borderline

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Fist Full of Dollars" — Two powerful families are carrying on a deadly feud when a stranger appears who plays off one family against the other, deceiving both and getting his toll from each of them. Unusual amount of raw brutality and carnage.

"French Connection" — An exciting suspense thriller about two relentless narcotics detectives trying to crack an international heroin smuggling ring. Extremely violent and bloody.

"Hang 'em High" — A western story of vengeance, morbid sadism and explicit violence.

ADULTS ONLY

"Blood and Lace" — Another zealous exploitation of gore. A pretty teen-ager is sent to an orphanage after her mother was killed by an axe wielder. Punishment a the orphanage for attempting to run away is to be frozen to death in a freezer. Need more be said.

"Dirty Harry" — Police thriller is an exercise in violence. A case against the pampering of criminals and justification of sadistic, illegal police techniques. Tension is excruciating and violence is shocking.

"For a Few Dollars More" — A savage, Italian made western very violent and bloody about a bounty hunter who shoots or stabs anyone with a price on his head.

"Fritz, The Cat" — A tasteless and vulgar X-rated full length feature cartoon about a cat who by fadeout has used up eight of his nine lives investigating the drug scene, radical politics and experimenting with sex. A potpourri of soul, rock and pop music provides an audio backdrop.

"The Godfather" — Gripping epic gangster film filled with excessive violence. Head of Mafia leads two lives, as a kindly head of a family and then as leader of a mob whose business is killing.

"Good, Bad and the Ugly" — Another Italian made western, this time set at the time of the Civil War. A gunfighter, a Mexican outlaw and a homicidal criminal are all in search of the hiding place of a stolen army cash box. A succession of tortures, killings and sadistic incidents are part of the struggle to outwit each other. Unsparing photographs accentuates brutality.

"Hospital" — An aging doctor who postpones his suicide in order to investigate the mysterious deaths of two interns and a nurse. Scathing episodes are sometimes humorously presented. Strong language, sex, excellent acting and cast.

"Last Picture Show" — The moral degeneration of a small Texas town is graphically shown through the eyes of an 18-year-old boy. The pattern of life seems to evolve around nudity, sex and cursing, all explicitly shown.

"Mark of the Devil" — Set in Austria in 1700 at a time when superstition and religious persecution runs high, a peasant-turned-witchfinder terrorizes the countryside by raping, burning and killing until the townspeople rebel. For those who enjoy violence enough to make you ill. (Boxoffice Magazine)

Supervisor Hopefuls Eye Issues

By DICK SMULLEN

Eight of nine supervisorial candidates in the June 6 election, but only one incumbent, discussed issues last night at a candidate forum sponsored by the Irate Taxpayers of Marin.

Included were Second District candidates William J. Filante, 42, a Greenbrae eye specialist and Barbara Boxer, 31, a former stock broker.

Second District incumbent Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., a 40-year-old stockbroker, was absent. Winifred S. Frederick, program chairman of the taxpayers group, said he canceled to go to another meeting.

Both Third District opponents appeared, incumbent Michael Wornum, 47, an architect-city planner and challenger Rev. Samuel J. Banks Jr., 44, pastor of the Village Baptist Church in Marin City.

All four candidates for the Fourth District seat to be vacated by Louis H. Baar were also present, including Gary T. Giacomini, 32, an attorney; Patricia T. Maginnis, 43, a laboratory technician; James Dougan, 49, an insurance agent, and Michael R. Peevey, 34, research director for the California Labor Federation and a Sacramento lobbyist.

The candidates were asked to give their opinions on five issues — reducing security at the Marin County Civic Center, the proposed countywide general plan, agricultural preserves being created in west Marin, the countywide park district and participation in regional governmental bodies — and for suggestions on cutting county taxes.

Mrs. Boxer and Filante agreed that security should be cut back at the Civic Center, backed regional governmental bodies and favored the proposed countywide general plan, although noting it was weak and without guarantee that development would follow that course.

They differed on the open space questions, agricultural preserves and the countywide park district.

Mrs. Boxer said she was in favor of the agricultural zoning in West Marin calling for 60-acre minimum lots, but Filante said it would have the effect of raising the price of all other land in the county.

Where Mrs. Boxer favored the park district as "a priority" Filante said it presented "great problems" and would create another layer of government.

Mrs. Boxer made these suggestions for cutting taxes: putting surplus funds from any account back into the general fund, instead ofwtransferring and spending the money; exercising more control over departmental spending.

Filante recommended the supervisors save money by bypassing the county administrator's department "whenever possible" and dealing directly with department heads.

He also suggested cutting down on travel and convention expenses, and avoiding state and federal funding of projects.

Both Third District incumbent Wornum and challenger Banks expressed support for the five issues, differing mainly in degree.

Where Wornum favored the proposed countywide general plan, but said it needed teeth for implementation, Banks said he "encouraged" people to look into it.

Banks said agricultural preserves should be "retained and expanded," and Wornum pointed out the economic advantages of such an arrangement, that the land costs little in services for the tax revenues t generates.

Both favored the county park district, Banks pointing out the "rape of Shelter Ridge" as a situation to avoid. Wornum said parks were needed "where the people live", in the eastern section.

Wornum opposed purchase of open space by bond issue, because too much money goes into interest payments, and said parks district control should remain with the board of supervisors, where zoning and condemnation powers are concentrated.

Both advocated participation in regional governmental bodies.

On cutting taxes, Wornum pleaded the supervisors' case to the taxpayers group. He said they try to cut every year, and at present Marin has the second lowest tax rate in the Bay Area, above only San Mateo County.

Banks suggested forming a budget advisory group to make recommendations and suggest redirection of priorities.

Among Fourth District candidates Dougan represented the opposition, criticizing the countywide general plan as "too restrictive", opposing agricultural preserves by zoning "without the property owner's permission", rejecting the park district because "these bureaus have a way of spending money we don't have to spend" and opposing regional governmental bodies as "a firm believer in home rule."

Dougan prefaced his remarks by saying he was seeking office because "no conservative has decided to run."

He did join his three opponents in favoring a reduction in security at the Civic Center.

For saving tax dollars, Dougan suggested abolishing the county administrator's office, to make the supervisors more responsive to the people.

Giacomini, Miss Maginnis and Peevey united in favoring the proposed countywide general plan, creation of agricultural preserves and involvement in regional government.

Giacomini said initiatives may be needed in some cities, specificially mentioning San Rafael, to force implementation of the proposed countywide plan.

To save tax money, he suggested full-time supervisors, or the creation of "very well paid administrative assistants" who, he said, could save "tenfold" what they were paid.

Miss Maginnis said the proposed countywide plan was a "good start" but should provide for solid waste disposal. She said West Marin has serious problems now, and "is not going to be that way forever," while supporting the agriculture preservation zoning.

She recommended child care centers for cutting taxes, citing a Campbell, Santa Clara County, study showing $100 saved in welfare for each $10 spent on child care centers.

Peevey recounted what he said was his "strong" interest in preserving open space, and differed with Dougan in the inclusion of the Olema Valley as open space. Dougan had said the area could be developed without danger to the ecology.

Peevey recommended state legislation as the best way to alleviate property taxes, through implementation of the state Supreme Court's ruling that education should not be funded from property taxes. Miss Fredericks pointed out that the county has nothing to do with that school funding, but Peevey replied the supervisors could go to Sacramento and make their wishes known.

No Solutions Reached At Second Session On Water

By DAVID DIETZ

The audience was larger and the proceedings were livelier last night as Marin Municipal Water District officials conducted the second in a series of community meetings on the agency's water supply dilemma.

About 60 persons turned out for the nearly four-hour session at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley, and antigrowth sentiment ran high.

As at the first meeting held last week in San Anselmo, numerous remedial proposals were made. And, as at San Anselmo, no simple solution was found.

With charts, maps and diagrams, district officials outlined the problem: Present water sources are inadequate to meet future demands, B. G. Grant, special studies engineer for the district, said that because of low rainfall this season, the total reservoir level is expected to plummet to 16,000-acre feet by fall, far below the 52,000 capacity.

The officials listed water requirements until 1985, based on varying growth rate and conslumption. They also offerec new supply choices, ranging from a $300,000 program to raise the level of Kent and Nicasio lakes to construction of a dam on Upper Walker Creek that would cost $18.7 million.

Cost estimates and expected yield of a system for reclaimed water also were noted, and desalinization was touched on, though it was deemed too costly.

Except for a plea by Mill Valley City Councilman Robert E. Burton that serious consideration be given to the reclaimed water concept,there was little discussion of the alternate plans themselves. Speakers instead took the opportunity to criticize indiscriminate use of water and to remind district officials that their first obligation was to current users, not future developments.

One member of the audience wondered whether the district, as a supplier of water, wasn't, in effect, a planning agency.

Robert G. Anderson, chairman of the district board, believed that "natural resources never should be a controlling factor. . .in the level of population. That should be in the hands of the county and city planning commissions."

Board member John M. MacPhail Jr. said district officials have told the county board of supervisors that the district would develop supply for whatever growth rate the county planning commission adopts. (The countywide master plan under consideration envisions an annual Marin growth of 3,300 persons.)

As for water conservation, William R. Seeger, district manager and chief engineer, said a recommendation for a voluntary rationing program this summer would be offered to the board at its next meeting.

The audience had its own water-saving suggestions, ranging from "going back to the rain barrel" to increased reliance by gardeners on organic growing methods.

Many seemed in favor of a change in the district rate structure, which entitles large consumers to lower fees, but virtually no one thought a 25 per cent across-the-board boost in residential rates would discourage poor consumer habits.

However, it was pointed out, stoppage of leaks in the system could save up to a million gallons a day.

The next meeting in the series of four sessions will be at 8 p.m. Thursday at San Rafael High School.

Salvation Army's Drive Starts May 7

The annual drive for funds will be held during Salvation Army week, May 7 through 13, according to Barbara Henderson, Marin county treasurer for the Salvation Army.

Donations to the organization may be made to Mrs. Henderson at the Crocker-Citizens bank in San Rafael.

Beer, Wine License Appeal Hearing Ends

A state hearing officer took under submission yesterday an appeal of the state Alcoholic Beverage Control's refusal to grant a beer and wine license to operators of the Civic Center cafeteria.

Paul A. Winton, who has presided over four all-day hearings on the appeal, will announce his decision within 30 days. The ABC board will then have 60 days to either accept or reject the decision.

During yesterday's session at the Civic Center, two key county officials testified before Winton, but differed sharply over whether a beer and wine license should be issued.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos questioned the propriety of serving alcohol in the Hall of Justice where the cafeteria is located.

He said he would have no objection to serving wine and beer if the cafeteria were located in the administration wing but not where the "sanctity and dignity of the courts" would be violated.

Mountanos was one of about 20 witnesses called by the ABC to testify during the four hearings against the appeal which was requested by Civic Center Caterers, operators of the cafeteria.

The appeal stems from an administrative decision by the ABC staff denying the license because the cafeteria is too close to the courts and county jail.

The sheriff was followed on the stand by Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste who noted that twice the board of supervisors had approved selling wine and beer with meals.

(The board's approval came on 4-1 votes with Supervisor Louis H. Baar dissenting both times.)

Baptiste said he could foresee no law enforcement problems with the sale of liquor at the cafeteria despite the ABC's concern.

In fact, said Baptiste, it might even reduce law enforcement problems since it would enable employees and visitors to enjoy a glass of wine with lunch rather than driving to nearby restaurants.

Others testifying yesterday included Donald A. Giovanoni, a partner in the cafeteria operation; Robert A. Danse of Kentfield, who spoke against the license, and Mario Balestrieri, deputy director of public works, who gave technical information on the layout of the civic center.

Hongisto Stands By His Guns Despite Grumblings

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Richard D. Hongisto may be the nearest thing to a "counter-culture" sheriff any big American city has ever seen.

Last November, he tacked up election posters showing a peace sign inside a sheriff's star and was elected San Francisco County sheriff on a tide of votes from those normally most hostile to law enforcement-blacks, activists, homosexuals and "street people."

Since then, the 35-year-old Hongisto has had his setbacks but his moments of triumph, too. Despite an almost constant underculrrent of controversy some of it from his own deputies, the professorial, pipe-smoking former policeman feels he is on his way toward helping make law enforcement more humane and understanding.

Hongisto concedes that his innovations are made easier by the fact that his 182 deputy sheriffs do not patrol the streets. Under San Francisco's city-county setup, the police department does that. The sheriff'u main concern is operation of the county jails and furnishing bailiffs for the courts.

"I'm different from the conventional people in law enforcement who consistently villainize, stereotype, label and stigmatize inmates," he says.

"The difference between me and them is something more than the fact that I'm twice as imaginative and twice as energetic and a lot smarter.

"It goes back to the fact that really I'm operating from a different political position."

NEW SHERIFF — Richard D. Hongisto, who used a campaign poster with a peace sign within a sheriff's star, scored a victory as sheriff of San Francisco County last November. Since his election he has been the center of many controversies, but he claims he is on his way toward helping make law enforcement more humane and understanding.

(UPI Telephoto)

Hongisto has had a varied career in which to sort out a "different political position."

A graduate of San Francisco State College, he is presently working on a doctorate in criminology at the University of California at Berkeley. He served 10 years on the San Francisco police force before resigning to become an television newsman.

What makes his political position different, Hongisto says, is that he believes there should be a "more equal distribution of wealth" in this country.

Hongisto doesn't advocate any "isms" but he does say the distribution of wealth is the central problem.

"Never in this country have I read or heard said by any law enforcement official the phrase, 'distribution of wealth'." Nor have I heard anyone get down to the fundamental problems of the economics of this society and the role they play in aggravating problems of social justice - which is the same as criminal justice."

Hongisto said he would like his deputies to show more "understanding" and a larger perspective of the reasons inmates are in jail. "The inmates have very real complaints. If they know you're trying to help solve the problems . . . that you're concerned about their welfare, their humanity, the way they're treated, then you're not going to have a lot of problems."

What about the four messy food protests that have occurred recently at the jails? "As soon as I walk in, they stop because they know that I'm doing everything I can to deal with the problems" he said. "And they appreciate it. If you let the inmates know you understand their problems and are pushing for the kinds of activities they themselves are pushing for, you will go a long way towards turning a violent demonstration into a peaceful one."

Hongisto feels he and his staff have "done a great deal" in the three and a half months he's been in office. He named some of his accomplishments:

A rock music concert which netted $14,000 to go towards inmate projects.

Increasing in jail class hours from eight to 75.

Instituting four doctors and five dentists for what they used to pay one of each.

Establishing a volunteer center partially funded by the $750 a month Hongisto says he is taking out of his salary to give to endeavors such as this.

Instituting state-funded training for sheriff's deputies.

Instituting venereal disease and tuberculosis checkups.

Hongisto remains a controversial figure to many.

His deputies have criticized him for subjecting them to ridicule by his public appearances with members of the gay community. "They're just doing a little crying," the sheriff responded.

Others have been surprised by his outspoken views favoring the abolition of laws against "non-victim" crimes. "There is some slight deterrent value to incarceration," Hongisto said, "probably in the case that it has a little slowdown effect. But it is not effective for rehabilitating alcoholics, prostitutes, drug addicts and so on. In the area of non-victim crimes we shouldn't bother - we should think of something else."

Assembly Stalls Highway Fund Bill

SACRAMENTO (QUPI) — With an Assemblyman declaring it was "one of the most dangerous pieces of legislation ever to come out on this floor," a bill giving the legislature control over the $900 million state highway construction budget has stalled in the Assembly.

The measure by Assemblyman Wadie P. Deddeh, D-Chula Vista, would require that money in the state highway account would be available for highway purposes only when the legislature specifically appropriates the funds.

Currently, the budget of the Department of Public Works is continuously appropriated and is not subject to annual appropriation and legislative review. The state Highway Commission determines how much will be spent on highways and where they will be located.

After heated opposition to the bill, Deddeh put off a vote on the measure Thursday but later told newsmen not enough of his supporters were on the floor and expressed confidence it would be passed later.

Assemblyman Gordon W. Duffy, R-Hanford, declared the measure was "one of the most dangerous pieces of legislation ever to come out on this floor.

Warning that it was a "pork barrel," Duffy said the bill would mean "legislators who have the most political muscle will get highways in their districts."

Another opponent of the measure, Assemblyman Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento, told his colleagues, "If it's not a pork barrel, it's sure as hell one long-handled fork."

Assemblywoman Pauline Davis, D-Portola, also warned the bill was a "very clever attempt to come through the back door" and give Southern California a greater share of highway funds.

Deddeh said the proposal would insure that highway funds are "wisely spent."

However, opponents of the measure by Assemblyman Bob Wood, R-Greenfield, said it would not benefit farmworkers because it would leave the enforcement up to the Department of Agriculture, which they say is industry oriented.

The bill was sent to the Senate Thursday on a 49-11 vote.

VENUE STUDY

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly Rules Committee has approved legislation requiring an investigation into the court-ordered decision to change the location of the Juan Corona trial and other similar change of venue rulings.

The resolution was unanimously approved Thursday and sent to the floor after its author, Assemblyman Ray Johnson, R-Chico, told the panel it was becoming so that "even a drunk could ask for a change of trial."

Johnson introduced the measure earlier this week, sharply criticizing a ruling by the 3rd District Court of Appeal ordering Corona's trial moved out of Sutter County.

ANTI-OBSCENITY

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A Republican senator has proposed legislation designed to tighten the state's anti-obscenity laws and to protect young persons from smut merchants.

Sen. John Harmer of Glendale proposed the package Thursday and said enactment of one bill "would go a long way toward protecting our youth from the dangers of the porno-peddler."

He was referring to a measure making it a public nuisance to distribute material which may be harmful to minors within a one-mile radius of a school or public park.

Another Harmer bill eliminates the "social value test for obscenity and replaces it with a standard stating that a material is obscene if to an average person, "applying contemporary community standards, the dominant theme of the material taken as a whole appeals to the prurient interest."

PESTICIDES

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill supporters say would provide "maximum safe working conditions" for farmworkers in fields where pesticides had been used has been passed by the Assembly.

Hearing Set In Drug Case

A preliminary hearing has been set for Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court for Connie Lucilee Fitzpatrick, 22, who is charged with possessing four different drugs.

She was originally arrested by Sausalito police March 9, 1971, but failed to appear for further proceedings after pleading innocent to possessing heroin, cocaine, marijuana and LSD.

She was rearrested by Sausalito police April 6.

She was originally arrested along with Dana William Hope, 23, when police went to a residence at 216 Glen Drive looking for another person and saw what they thought were drugs.

A warrant is out for the arrest of Hope, who reportedly went to Oregon instead of making court appearances.

A Woman's Backache Often Gets Start During Pregnancy

Backache, a common complaint among women, often begins during pregnancy. The weight of the enlarging uterus weakens the spinal ligaments and back muscles. Care of the young baby often creates fatigue which in time aggravates the distress. Back pain may also stem from kidney disease, inflammation of the pancreas, or disorders of the genital or pelvic organs.

EXERCISES that strengthen the muscles of the trunk are the best preventive. Studies show that women who were active in physical education or sports during their high school or college days are less likely to develop backache during or after pregnancy. This is not true of women who avoided exercises during their teens.

Exercise is a must for the mother-to-be. Not only does it help the back, but improves the circulation, digestion, and elimination. It promotes restful sleep and peace of mind. Women with other children and many household duties do not require as much exercise as those leading a "sit down" life. Athletic types accustomed to strenuous sports, such as swimming, riding horseback, tennis, or golfing may continue unless the exertion causes discomfort.

WALKING is one of the best forms of exercise for most pregnant women. High-heeled shoes should not be worn because they create additional strain on the back and make the woman more susceptible to falls. A mile or two is ample, except on a hot, humid day. Avoid crowds and take it easy. Never push yourself when tired.

Continue to take walks on returning home with the new baby. For the next six weeks, it is well to avoid strenous exercise. The same time limit applies to exercises to restore the tone of the abdominal muscles.

CAUSES OF HEART ATTACK

W. L. writes: Are there any other causes of heart attack besides hardening of the arteries?

REPLY

Yes, but less than one per cent stem from causes other than arteriosclerosis of the coronary arteries. In children and young adults, fibrous changes in the arteries lead to coronary thrombosis. A sudden heart attack with collapse is frequently caused by an irregularity of the beat or failure of the heart to contract. The victim has arteriosclerosis, but there is no blockage of the coronary artery. In the remainder, an occlusion of the artery is noted.

ERSATZ DESSERTS

A. B. writes: I have developed a heart ailment. Will I have to give up whole milk and ice cream, of which I am most fond?

REPLY

There are two schools of thought on this subject. The answer is no, if life is not worth living without milk and ice cream. Yes, if your blood cholesterol is high and your physician believes lowering the level will improve the heart condition. There are many substitutes for milk and ice cream. Among these are skim milk, ice milk, sherbets, gelatin desserts, and dozens of fruit beverages.

No, but life has been extended by the use of chemotherapeutic drugs.

FBI Chief Sees No End To Violence

WASHINGTON (UPI) —FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says disorders in public schools indicate racial discord continues despite a decline in mob violence in the streets.

Hoover also reported in congressional testimony released Thursday that the number of assaults on police was swollen to 6,000 a month with 126 officers killed in the line of duty during 1971.

There were 109 incidents involving mob violence in the streets in 1971 compared with 159 in 1970, Hoover said. But the FBI chief said, "Disorders in the nation's secondary schools continue to provide strong evidence that racial discord is far from being at an end.

Hoover told a House Appropriations subcommittee that he believed there were hopeful signs for crime fighters.

"Basically I think there is a general improvement in the country as a whole. I think our present Supreme Court shows some indication of a change in its philosophy. I'm glad to see it," he said.

Troubled Giants Lose, 7-6; Little Help In Sight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants are in trouble and there is no forseeable help in sight.

Thursday's 7-6 loss to the light-hitting Philadelphia Phillies served to illustrate the Giants' problems — basically lack of pitching.

The 1947 Giants, then based in New York, hit a record 221 homers and finished fifth in an eight-team league. The 1972 Giants won't even come close to hitting 200 homers and with a similar lack of pitching, it's almost sure they won't be a factor in the National League West race, unless there is a sudden turnabout in their pitching or they pick up a helpful hand or two by trade.

John Cumberland, counted on as the club's No. 3 pitcher behind Juan Marichal and Sam McDowell, can't seem to go much beyond five innings. Thursday the Giants staked him to a 3-1 lead and he frittered it away by the middle of the sixth. A three-run homer by Deron Johnson and a pair of bases-empty blasts by Don Money—one off reliever Don McMahon—did the damage.

Ron Byrant, who has been trying to prove himself a big league pitcher for four years, was given a chance to get the six final outs after the Giants got up off the floor to tie the score at 6-6 in the seventh, but he didn't measure up as Greg Luzinski reached him for a 420-foot homer leading off the ninth. That turned out to be the winning run.

"You've got to win when you get six runs," moaned Giants skipper Charlie Fox. "The name of the game still is pitching."

Asked if there was anyone in Phoenix who could help, Fox shook his head sadly.

"Frank Reberger pitched a shutout the other day for Phoenix," Fox said, "but he gave up 11 hits and walked nine guys. He's never get a shutout in the big leagues by giving up 11 hits. No, we don't have a guy in Phoenix who can help us."

Fox added the club is still trying to swing a trade but he has little hope of success.

"No one gives away a pitcher and everybody we talk with wants more than we can afford to give up," he said.

Thus, as things stand now, if the Giants are to gain any success the present 10-man pitching staff is going to have to produce.

Wednesday, Giants pitching gave up 15 hits but the team beat the Phillies on extra base hits and five double plays. In Thursday's loss, Dave Kingman and Tito Fuentes continued their hot hitting but it wasn't enough.

Young Kingman drove in three runs with a single, his fifth homer and an infield out while Fuentes banged out four singles in five at bats. The three RBI's gave Kingman a major league leading total of 15, but since he's been hitting the Giants have won only five and lost seven. They already have fallen quite a ways behind the Los Angeles Dodgers and

SPORT NOTES

Quiet Scoreboard At Candlestick

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Keeping pace with the Giants' pitching staff, the million dollar scoreboard at Candlestick Park broke down yesterday and in terms of witty messages it was speechless. Oh, it let you know who was at bat and balls and strikes, the basic things, but the OLD scoreboard did that.

Art Santo Domingo, Giants' press relations director, has been given the extra duty of coming up with the messages for the scoreboard, but the actual operation of it is being carried out by Joe Agnese of Petaluma and Roberto Heckscher of Daly City. They were trying to get the thing fixed yesterday but no luck — no messages.

"I've got 36 letters per line and six lines to work with," said Santo Domingo. "We'll have it fixed in no time." I waited, but no luck. It remained speechless. There was no "Bye, Bye, Baby!" in remembrance of the late Russ Hodges when Dave Kingman blasted a home run far over the left field screen. But then again, there as nothing to say when the Philadelphia Phillies crashed four home runs, the last one by left fielder Greg Luzinski winning the game in the ninth inning, 7-6.

The Giants' pitching staff has given up a horrible total of 16 home runs in 12 games. It's dreadful. Despite the power being displayed by big Dave Kingman, without pitching help the Giants are going to be in serious trouble. Yesterday southpaw John Cumberland came apart at the seams in the sixth inning, after going into it with a 3-2 lead.

With two runners on base in that ugly inning, Cumberland put one right down the pipe to first baseman Deron Johnson and he hit it about 400 feet but luckily for John, Johnson pulled it foul. Two pitches later another one came down the middle and this time Johnson hit it fair and one of the fans in the left field bleachers had himself a souvenir.

It is sad to see Willie Mays slowing down after so many great years in baseball, but at 40 how many more games can he be expected to play? In the first inning, with Tito Fuentes on first base, Mays hit a ground ball to Phil shortstop Larry Bowa who fielded the ball, fell down, got up and threw to second baseman Terry Harmon for the force on Fuentes. And then Harmon's relay throw to first got Mays by a step. It was a slow double play, and wouldn't have had a chance in Mays' younger days. He's lost that extra step.

Well, such is life. The weather was fine at Candlestick, the completed rim around the stadium cut down the wind, and with only 3,671 spectators present, there was enough leg room for all. And heck, I went to see the scoreboard, not the game.

WELL DESERVED honors will go to Vernon (Lefty) Gomez of Fairfax, new member of the Hall of Fame, tonight when he and Joe DiMaggio are feted by the San Francisco Press Club. The two baseball greats were on the same Yankee teams in six of their baseball years.

THREE MEMBERS of the Katharine Branson School (Ross) tennis team are competing in what is billed as the world's largest tennis tournament, the Ojai Invitational in Southern California this weekend. Randi Strong will be entered in the girls 16 singles and Jane Maushardt and Susan Phelps will team in the girls 16 doubles. The Ojai is the largest and oldest amateur tennis tourney in the world, drawing a thousand players in its 73rd year.

LEE WORKS OUT — Golfer Lee Trevino lifted weights at the President's Spa in Dallas yesterday after rain washed out the opening round of the $125,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic. Trevino was one of the favorites as the tourney was set to begin today with a double round in making up for the day lost from rain. (UPI Telephoto)

Play Finally Begins In Nelson Golf Tournament

DALLAS (UPI)—The $125,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic, plagued for the seventh straight year by violent spring rains, finally began its first round today, a full 24 hours behind schedule.

Skies were partly cloudy as golfers took to the tees. The weather bureau predicted mild temperatures, clearing skies and light winds, conditions not expected to fully dry soggy greens.

The heavy rains stopped Thursday but the normally long and tortuous Preston Trail Golf Club's 7,086-yard, par 35-35—70 layout remained soggy and its lightning fast greens were braked down to a walk by a 12-hour, 2.5-inch rain, more than the course had received for the past four months.

But, that was nothing new for this tournament, which has had four postponements and been the target of numerous storms over the last seven of its 17 previous starts.

With clear crisp weather forecast, however, there was high hope the $125,000 affair could wind up on schedule by playing 36 holes Sunday, just as it was forced to do in 1970 when Jack Nicklaus started his current string of Nelson triumphs by beating Arnold Palmer in a sudden death playoff after the two had staged a 36-hole battle.

That was the same year a windstorm ripped up the course and left it littered with trees, tents and televsiion towers, torrential rains left the course in such sorry shape the par-4 479-yard 10th hole had to be played at par-5 and the 357-yard, par 4 17th hole was shortened to a par-3 by moving the tee forward to dry, playable ground.

But, back when the rain streak started — in 1966 when it was still known as the Dallas Open and played at Oak Cliff Country Club — the rains came and came until the tournament wasn't completed until a Tuesday — two days late — with Roberto Devicenzo's 276 earning him the first prize of $15,000 or 2,850,000 Argentine pesos.

The following year, still at the Oak Cliff layout, it took the field until Monday for Bert Yancey to post a 274 winning score.

Then, the tourney moved to Preston Trail and the rains followed. They held off that first year, despite threats, until 30 minutes after Miller Barber won with a record 10-under-par 270 that barely squeezed him home in front of Kermit Zarleys tremendous final round 62.

A rainout marred 1969 play when Bruce Devlin's 277 took it all, then Nicklaus started his domination in the stormy 1970 event.

Nicklaus won again last year with his second six-under-par 274 when it only rained at night.

Before Thursday's downpours forced this year's delay, the Greens were slick and the fairways solid — just to Nicklaus' taste. But Nicklaus, after a practice round and eyeing the weather forecasts, had commented:

"If anyone breaks 280, they'll do it with a pencil."

Weather permitting, it remains to be determined if Nicklaus is as good a prophet as he is at playing Preston Trail.

Tars Wipe Out 9-Run Deficit

The way things have been going lately, nobody would have blamed the College of Marin Tars baseball team if it had turned around and gone home after the first inning against Solano College in Suisun yesterday.

The Tars gave up nine runs to trail, 9-0, and appeared well on their way to their fifth straight loss and 13th in 17 Camino Norte Conference games. Instead, they rallied dramatically and pulled out a 12-10 victory.

"Everybody had a little piece of the pie," said elated coach John Panagakis. "I've got to give credit to the bench. It was a real team victory."

Tom Olson, who was stationed in right field and had not pitched in more than a month because of a sore shoulder, was summoned to the mound in the first inning. He gave up only one unearned run the rest of the way, and won his own game with a two-run homer in the sixth.

The Tars picked up six runs in that frame. Mike Dito knocked in one with a single, then Bob Sutherland plated two more with a pinch-hit triple, and Olson followed with his homer.

Larry Brazda drove in four runs with a double and single for the Tars, while Jim Thompson went two for four with one RBI in a substitute role.

Blue Meets Kuhn; A's In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (UPI) —All of the Oakland Athletics, including Vida Blue, were busy today along the shores of Lake Michigan.

Blue, the team's superlative lefthanded pitcher, and his agent, attorney Robert Gerst of Los Angeles, were meeting at an undisclosed Chicago location with baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn and A's owner Charles O. Finley. They are trying to find a way that the holdout pitcher can come to terms with Finley for the 1972 season so the entire American League may benefit.

A few miles north in Milwaukee manager Dick Williams is getting his Athletics ready for tonight's opener of a three-game series with the Brewers.

Newly acquired lefty Ken Holtzman (1-1) of the A's is slated to go against righthander Jim Slaton (1-1) of the Brewers.

Farrar Of San Rafael Jumps 6-4

Mark Farrar of San Rafael High School recorded the second best high jump in Marin County history yesterday when he cleared a bar set at six feet, four inches while San Rafael was losing a dual meet to visiting Drake.

Farrar's leap leaves him behind only Gerald Robertson of Tamalpais, who did 6-5¼ last year.

Staub Spoils Debut By Manager Zimmer

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Don Zimmer and Rusty Staub got pretty friendly last season when they were both with the Montreal Expos.

Staub, now with the New York Mets, spoiled Zimmer's debut as San Diego manager by hitting a homer. Jerry Grote also belted a homer, the deciding tally, and a runscoring triple in a 4-3 win by the Mets, their sixth straight including three over the Padres.

Zimmer, a third base coach with the Mets, had a similar job with the Padres until Thursday when manager Preston Gomez was fired. Zimmer moved up to headman.

"That's Staub, my buddy," said Zimmer after the loss.

Zimmer, 41, known as "Popeye" because of his forearm development when he played with the Dodgers some years back, said, "Well, you can't win 'em all."

Long Wait Is Over For Stream Anglers

By AL GIDDINGS

Tomorrow trout season opens in many streams and rivers in the central coastal region, but anglers should check the general trout season regulations. Most of the north coastal streams will not open until May 27. The north coast streams are in parts of Mendocino County, and in Humboldt, Trinity, Siskiyou and Del Norte Counties.

The reason for the late opening on these streams is to be sure that the yearling salmon and steelhead have already migrated to sea, otherwise, these fish would be taken as trout. Instead, they go to sea and upon their return make up the adult steelhead and salmon fisheries for which these streams are noted.

I HOPE the 30,000 yearling silver salmon and the 10,000 yearling steelhead planted in Papermill Creek last month have gone to sea. If they haven't, and are caught as trout, then the real reason for the plants will be lost. If you are a steelhead or salmon fisherman you might not want to fish Papermill for fear of catching some of these plants, but let's hope they have all migrated. I plan to take a creel check in the planted areas tomorrow to see just what happens.

All the streams except Devil's Gulch Creek in Marin County will be open with the limit being 10 trout per day and 10 in possession. Devil's Gulch Creek is closed the year around as it is considered a prime nursery area for salmon and steelhead fingerlings.

ALL OF THE LAKES and reservoirs of Marin County will also remain open as now under current regulations they are open the year around. The bag limit regulations are somewhat confusing. In the planted lakes of the county which includes Lagunitas, Bon Tempe, Phoenix and Rodeo Lagoon, the trout limit stays at five. In Alpine, Kent and other lakes of the county, the limit will be 10 to coincide with the stream limits. The special limit of five on the lakes listed above is to relieve some of the heavy pressure there.

Bon Tempe, Lagunitas and Phoenix are scheduled for plants this week. Other reservoirs and lakes scheduled for plants this week include Atascadero Lake, Oceano Lagoon, Laguna Lake and Lopez Reservoir in San Luis Obispo County; Loch Lomond Reservoir in Santa Cruz County; Arroyo del Valle Reservoir in Alameda County; Lake Merced in San Francisco County; Lake Chabot in Solano County; Hennessey Lake Impoundment in Napa County; Upper Blue Lake and Pillsbury Lake in Lake County, and Cleone Lake in Mendocino County.

OTHER STATEWIDE hot spots that are now open and producing are Eagle Lake near Susanville where limits of large fish, some running to eight pounds are being taken by shore anglers. In Modoc County, Duncan, Reservoir "F" and James Reservoirs are top prospects. Outstanding waters in the northern Sierra region include Stampede, near Truckee, where limit catches are now falling to shore line bait duckers. Prosser is also producing right now. Davis Lake, near Portola and Frenchman Reservoir, near Chilcoot, are also top producers at this time. (On Davis Lake the year around trout limit is five.) Antelope Lake in Placer County will be stocked, if possible, by tomorrow. Letts Lake in Colusa County will also be planted.

Spokesmen for the California Fish and Game Commission and the Department of Fish and Game reminded anglers today that the special fly fishing season on the Trinity River will open May 27 rather than June 3. The date was fixed because of an apparent discrepancy in the 1972 sport fishing regulations booklet. As is usually the case, spokesmen said, the more liberal date is the one used. The special season, which will close Sept. 15, applies to a stretch of the river from the Old Lewiston Bridge to a point 250 feet below the Lewiston Dam. The limit is three trout.

DON'T FORGET to get your 1972 angling license and the two stamps if you haven't already done so. Kids under 16 don't need a license.

Stafford Lake near Novato opens tomorrow with 500 to 1,000 anglers expected there. Last year bluegill and black bass made up most of the catches, but catfish and even striped bass were sometimes in the overall catch. Opening day there is usually a successful affair for everyone, but you better get there early. Fishing time starts countywide at one hour before sunrise which is 4:16 a.m. It ends at one hour after sunset which is 8:01 p.m. Now aren't those nice hours for the game wardens? Poor devils! On Sunday add one hour — it's daylight saving time.

NICE GOING — Philadelphia left fielder Greg Luzinski (19) received congratulations from manager Frank Lucchesi (1) and Larry Bowa (10) after belting a game-winning home run in the ninth inning yesterday at Candlestick Park. Coach Ray Rippelmeyer (4), Roger Freed (20), and Ron Stone (21) also congratulated Luzinski who made the Phillies a 7-6 winner. (UPI Telephoto)

Qualifying Set For High School Tennis Tourney

A doubles tournament to determine the Marin County Athletic League's tennis representative to the North Coast Sectionals will be held tomorrow at 8:15 a.m. at College of Marin in Kentfield.

Each MCAL school which elects to participate will send one team.

Matches to determine the MCAL's singles representative were to be held this afternoon among Dave Bacon of San Rafael High School, Dan Tierney of Redwood and Bob Goldfien of Terra Linda, at a site which had not been determined at Independent-Journal press time. The players were to draw straws, with short straw getting a bye and eventually meeting the winner of the match between the other two.

The NCS tournament will be held next Saturday at Castro Valley High School.

Marin Car Rally Set In Corte Madera

The Marin Rally Association will present a Sagittarius Aardvark car rally Saturday, May 6, 6:15 p.m., at the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

A $3 per carload fee will be taken for this third rally in the MRA "Pot of Gold" series.

Reds Turn On Speed In Beating Pirates

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

That Big Red Machine of 1970, the National League champion Cincinnati Reds, has a new look this season, and perhaps should be renamed "The Road Runners."

The Reds, who surged to the National League title in 1970 on the strength of big bats, traded for speed and defense last winter after finishing fourth in the Western Division, 11 games behind the San Francisco Giants.

They acquired Joe Morgan and Denis Menke from the Houston Astros in exchange for home run hitter Lee May in their big winter deal and they showed Thursday night why their new look gives them new hope.

Morgan singled, stole second and third and rode home on Ted Ihlaender's single to snap a tie in the ninth inning and pave the way for the Reds' 5-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The victory was the fourth in 10 games this season for the Reds.

The Reds displayed their new kind of basebal to 12,504 fans in Pittsburgh Thursday night when Morgan stole second after leading off the ninth with his single. Morgan's steal forced the Pirates to intentionally walk Bobby Tolan and then Morgan and Tolan executed a double steal.

Johnny Bench popped out but Tony Perez was intentionally walked and Uhlaender, hitless in 11 previous appearances as a National Leaguer, delivered his key hit.

The New York Mets beat the San Diego Padres, 4-3, the Philadelphia Phillies downed the San Francisco Giants, 7-6, and the Montreal Expos topped the Los Angeles Dodgers, 7-5, in Thursday's only other major league games.

Hudson, Weeks Show Customized Autos

Two San Rafael custom car owners will display their vehicles in the sixth annual Reno Rod and Custom Car Show May 19-21 in the Centennial Coliseum, Reno, Nev.

Norman Hudson will show his customized Hudson Hornet, while Bruce Weeks displays his customized Invader G.T. in a field of 200 exhibitors at the International Show Car Association-sanctioned event.

GIANTS

Houston Astros, the teams they have to beat in the N.L. West.

Thursday's loss was the fifth in the last six games for San Francisco and the Giants are closer to the N.L. West cellar than they are to first place.

The Giants begin a four-game weekend series with the Montreal Expos tonight with Don Carrithers (1-1) pitching against Steve Renko (1-1). Saturday afternoon it will be Steve Stone (0-0) against Mike Torrez (0-0) and in a doubleheader Sunday Marichal (1-2) and McDowell (2-0) will pitch against Bill Stoneman (2-1) and Carl Morton (0-1).

Ironically, Stoneman and Morton are two of the pitchers the Giants tried hard to deal for this spring.

Astro Fans Excited About Their Team

In Houston there are two kinds of Astros — the space men who fly to the moon and the baseball earthlings of the Astrodome. The space men have been performing such unbelievable feats during the past decade that it is understandable why the Astrodome's earth men have generally been ignored.

But Houston now is getting excited, very excited, about the Astrodome groundlings who are threatening to go into orbit. Never previously since they joined the National League in 1962 have the baseball Astros been flying so high.

AFTER LOSING their opening games to the Giants in the Dome, the Astros have been on a heady win streak, including their first series sweep of the Giants in Candlestick Park last weekend. It's premature, of course, but Houston is buzzing with World Series talk.

A southern gentleman from Columbus, Ga., is the one man responsible for the transformation of the Astros from an also-ran ball club into a real pennant contender. He is Spec Richardson, a genius in management, not on the ball field but behind the scenes.

Richardson was 23 when he became concessions manager of the ball club in his native Columbus in 1946. In 1948 he moved up as business manager of the Jacksonville ball club in Florida. In 1953 he became Jacksonville's general manager. In 1958 he became general manager of the Houston Buffs, a job he held until Houston joined the major leagues.

JUDGE ROY HOFHEINZ, owner of the Colt .45s as the Astros were known in their formative years, appointed Richardson as his chief aide. Five years ago Hofheinz put Richardson in complete charge of the team as vice president and general manager.

Richardson not only demanded but got results from all of his farm scouts and what his scouts couldn't produce he got from other clubs in some very shrewd trades.

Last winter Richardson made three multi-player deals. From Kansas City he got Jim York and Lance Clemons, a promising rookie southpaw, for John Mayberry and Dave Grangaard. York was Kansas City's bullpen ace last season. He throws a sidearm sinker. He struck out 103 batters in 93 innings last year. His ERA was 2.90.

THE ASTROS COULD afford to trade Mayberry's power bat because in another winter deal they got Lee May from Cincinnati along with Tommy Helms and Jim Stewart for Joe Morgan, Jack Billingham, Denis Menke, Cesar Geronimo and Ed Armbrister.

From the San Diego Padres Richardson got Dave Roberts for Derrel Thomas, Bill Greif and Mark Schaeffer. Roberts won 14 games for the lowly Padres last season with a 2.10 ERA.

Still, Richardson wasn't through dealing. During the opening series between the Giants and Astros in Houston, Richardson announced that he had acquired Jerry Reuss from the Cardinals for Scipio Spinks and Clemons.

NOW, HE HAD starting southpaws in Roberts and Reuss to complement the Astros' starting righthanders, Don Wilson and Larry Dierker. Backing them up is another most capable starter, Ken Forsch. And behind that starting five are George Culver, Wade Blasingame, Jim Ray, York and Fred Gladding.

No team in the National League this year can match the Astros' pitching depth — starters or bullpen. In addition to which they now have a potent hitting ball club and one of the best infield defenses in the league.

Petaluma Track Star Bond Out

Petaluma High School track star Steve Bond will be lost to the Trojans for the remainder of the season due to a stress fracture of the left foot, it was announced Wednesday.

Bond had been running with the injury for three weeks, but doctors weren't sure until Wednesday night that it was a fracture since injuries of this type take a long series of X-rays to determine.

Dallas Cage Coach Picked—McCarthy

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

DALLAS — The dean of the American Basketball Association — James H. "Babe" McCarthy — has been named as head coach of the Dallas Chaparrals.

The 48-year-old McCarthy, head coach and general manager of the floundering Memphis Pros for the past two seasons, will succeed Tom Nissalke who resigned last week to take over the Seattle Supersonics of the rival National Basketball Association.

McCarthy said he had been released from his coaching contract with the Pros to take the new job and that the ABA league office has approved the new pact, the terms of which were not released.

In other singles action, Tom Okker, the third-seeded player, defeated Owen Davidson, 7-5, 6-7, 6-3, and John Newcombe topped Cliff Drysdale, 6-3, 6-7, 7-5.

DENVER — Claude Terry, a 6-foot-5, 195-pound guard who set season and career scoring records at Stanford, signed a contract Thursday with the Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association.

Terry, who scored 1,566 points in three years at Stanford and who averaged a school high 21.2 points per game this year, was Denver's No. 2 draft choice. The Phoenix Suns of the National Basketball Association drafted him in the third round.

Baseball

CHICAGO — Chicago Cubs manager Leo Durocher was released from Wesley Memroial Hospital Thursday after undergoing a series of tests and will resume command of the ball club today.

Dr. Jacob Suker, the Cubs' team physician, said tests performed on the 65-year-old Durocher were negative and that Durocher was feeling good.

He entered the hospital Monday after an examination.

Redwood Crew Loses Close Race

Northgate Shopping Center Gets New Businesses In Fall

Bumbleberry Parlors restaurant, two shoe stores, a hosiery shop and a dress shop will be among the many new businesses moving into The Mall at Northgate Shopping Center this fall.

They will occupy two new buildings now under construction between the existing Mall and the new Sears store.

Bumbleberry Parlors is a small restaurant chain operating in the San Jose and Peninsula areas.

Walter P. Smith, manager of The Mall, has lined up other new tenants for the two new buildings, which are scheduled to be open about September:

Foxmoor Casuals dress shop, Regal Shoes, Parklane Hosiery, Kinney Shoes, Eureka Federal Savings and Loan, Eastport Imports souvenir and gift shop of San Jose, and Clyde de Barcelona's second beauty shop. Chandler's Fabrics, located in another section of The Mall, will move into the new building.

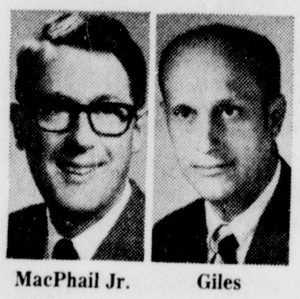
Despite this influx into The Mall, the new buildings are only half filled, leaving about 20,000 square feet still available. These buildings and the Sears-Roebuck complex will occupy the last 15 acres available at Northgate Shopping Center.

All the new stores are expected to be in full swing by Thanksgiving and Christmas.

McPhail's Inc. President David G. Stephens announced that the appointments are part of a corporate reconstructing in preparation for expansion of both facilities and services.

McPhail's Inc., headquartered at 917 C Street, San Rafael, sells major household appliances, fuels, building materials, heating and air conditioning units to customers in Marin and Sonoma Counties. Chairman of the board of directors is Graham McPhail, Sr.

The firm began as a livery stable 88 years ago and became The McPhail Fuel Co. in 1922.



MacPhail Jr. Giles

McPHAIL'S INC. of San Rafael announced the appointment of John MacPhail Jr. as executive vice president; Paul S. Giles as vice president and general sales manager; and Dennis Parsons as vice president, finance and administration.

McPhail was promoted from the position of vice president. Giles was merchandising manager, and Parsons the controller.

Parsons McDaniel

WALTER R. McDANIEL of Novato has been promoted to branch manager of Security Pacific National Bank's Serramonte Plaza branch in Daly City.

Formerly assistant manager, McDaniel now takes administrative charge of the branch, heading a staff of eight. He succeeds John Wilhelm, who is now branch manager of the bank's Palo Alto branch.

McDaniel, a 26-year veteran of the United States Air Force, joined the bank in 1969 and became assistant manager at the Serramonte Plaza branch in 1971.

BETTY'S BRIDGE CLUB, where duplicate bridge is taught and played, opened this month at 920 Sherman Avenue, Novato.

Owner is Betty Krambs, who has been playing duplicate bridge about five years. She will be assisted by life master Betty Marggraf of San Rafael, who will be instructor.

The club will have games on Thursday and Friday at 8 p.m. and Saturday at 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. The Thursday night game is for junior players; the others are open to all players.

CONCEPT OVERSOLD

Degree Not Key To Best Jobs

By LEROY POPE

NEW YORK (UPI)—For two decades it has been accepted as gospel in the United States that a person has little chance to make a good living without a college education.

Now, we are discovering the truth of what many campus rebels have been preaching the past five or six years—that a college education is no guarantee of a satisfactory job.

The U.S. Office of Education is warning young persons that within a few years only about 20 per cent of all the annual job openings will require the equivalent of a college education.

Government officials admit government bureaus seriously miscalculated the educational requirements of industry, commerce and the professions in recent years. Only a few years ago the federal labor department talked of a continuing shortage of teachers. Thousands of youngsters trained to become teachers. Now teaching is a contracting vocation and thousands of these youngsters cannot find jobs.

The St. Louis Regional Industrial Development Corp. has launched a campaign to "unsell" youth on the idea that college is absolutely necessary.

"Far more youngsters need up-to-date vocational or technical training than need college from the standpoint of job careers," said D. Reid Ross, executive vice president of the St. Louis group. "There are about 21,000 job classifications in the United States. By 1980 there will be 30,000 and comparatively few will require even a bachelor's degree."

Ross cited a relatively recent government report saying that, while 10 million American youths are enrolled in vocational or technical schools today, 25 million should be.

He conceded that in persuading young people to enroll for technical and vocational careers, the big problem is to avoid training them for jobs that already are becoming technologically obsolescent.

To avoid this, his organization works with 39,000 employers in the St. Louis metropolitan area and more than 200 private technical schools as well as the public schools to make certain the training programs are geared to the future.

The group has just held a Career Fair at the city's convention hall with more than 100 exhibitors.

The purpose was to demonstrate to youngsters and their parents the range of careers for which college is not necessary. A 125-man volunteer committee, mainly young businessmen and educators, visit public schools to talk to students and teachers.

"We expected to meet opposition from teachers who naturally are college oriented," Ross said. "To our surprise we didn't. The teachers are aware of the realities."

"We are not anti-college," Ross said. "It's fine for kids to go to college for self-fulfillment and many will find their careers there. But the notion that college automatically opens doors to careers is myth that ought to be laid to rest."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Oxford Can Hold; Spencer's Cloudy

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would like your opinion on two stocks which I have held for a few years, Oxford Industries and Spencer Companies, NYSE and ASE, respectively. — J. H.

A. Record high revenues and earnings were posted by Oxford Ind. in its 9-month fiscal 1971 February interim with volume climbing 15 per cent to $138.9 million and net per share spurting 42 per cent to $1.69 from the previous year's $1.20. Contributing to these impressive results were strong apparel orders and a pickup in business products (which the firm distributes). This combination is expected to continue to bolster results for the remainder of the current business year with earnings expected in the $2.00-$2.20 area. Undervalued on these estimates, Oxford shares may be held for additional appreciation potential.

Spencer Companies, also involved in the apparel industry (roughly 30 per cent of 1970-71 operations were derived from the manufacture of women's specialty items), reported flat year-to-year earnings results for the 9-month February interim, as sales rose 13.2 per cent and profits remained level at 71 cents a share. Being involved in the shoe industry as a retailer and manufacturer, Spencer shares are trading under a cloud due to the import competition in the low-priced shoe area — a situation which may continue over the near term.

Q. I notice that Chrysler has a new low of $28 now. Last year's low was $16. How are these lows determined and why are they changed? — R. W.

A. The low on a stock represents the lowest point at which it has traded in a given period. Thus far in 1972, $28 is the low point for Chrysler. The $16 figure was the lowest price at which shares changed hands in 1970. For a few months after the turn of the year, newspapers generally list the previous annual high and low combined with those of the current year. Daily figures are also listed for the highest and lowest trade of that session as well as the opening and closing transactions.

Offered A Hand, He Lost An Ear

LONDON (UPI)—An American had his ear bitten off when he went to the aid of Australian tourists being mugged in the London subway.

A spokesman for Westminister Hospital said John Sharkey, formerly of Philadelphia but now living in London, was resting comfortably following an operation Wednesday night which stitched his ear back on.

Police said Sharkey went to the aid of three Australians being mugged by thieves at the Victoria subway station. One of the thieves bit his ear off.

The ear was lost in the train, but police recovered it seven stations later and rushed it to Westminister hospital where doctors rejoined it to Sharkey.

Car Theft Case To Higher Court

A Marin Municipal Court judge has ruled there is enough evidence to try Charles James Gaines, 18, of San Rafael on a charge of car theft.

Judge Peter Allen Smith ordered him bound over to Marin Superior Court to appear May 11.

Gaines was arrested Feb. 13 after he allegedly abandoned a car in a left-turn lane on Second Street in San Rafael. Police arrested him shortly afterward in the Montecito Shopping Center on suspicion of stealing the vehicle.

Large Assignment Merits Broad Support

Peter C. Meyer, Marin County's elections officer, is both a man of ideas and a man of action — a happy combination too seldom found in one person.

He is also a man with deep faith in and love for his adopted country: the Unitedtates of America. This faith and love is intensified by the contrast he sees between the U.S.A. and East Germany, where he grew up, first under Hitler and then under the Communists.

IT IS EMINENTLY fitting that Meyer has undertaken on his own a project that should have (but hasn't yet) received a very high priority among educators: the education of high school youth in local government.

The need became apparent to Meyer as he began registering 18-year-olds to vote. It didn't take him long to discover that for most of them, the vote means presidential choices, election of senators and governor. While high schools all give courses in American government," these largely concern themselves with government of the United States as a whole. "Grassroots government" — county officialdom, the city council, the school board — are scarcely mentioned in most of the texts.

PERHAPS THE THEORY has been that youth would somehow become aware of and interested in local government after leaving high school — but before reaching the voting age of 21. If so, now that the voting age has been lowered to 18, such a theory no longer has any validity.

It never had much, anyhow. The decline of concern with local government is brought inot sharp focus by comparison of two sets of figures: In the 1910 municipal election in San Anselmo (as reported in the Marin Journal), 310 of 324 registered voters cast ballots. For this month's San Anselmo municipal election, there were 7,004 registered to vote, but only 3,162 of them cast ballots.

FOR PETER MEYER, to see a need is to do something about it. So, assisted by his wife, Patricia, he created an organization called the New Voter, produced the initial issue of its official publication, had articles of incorporation drawn up, and went to work on a tremendous and inspiring project.

That project is to get into California high schools a course of study in local government, to equip the soon-to-be 18-year-olds with what they need to know to exercise their right to vote where it counts most.

Others have seen the need for such a project but it took a naturalized American in the Marin County clerk's office to do something about it.

Meyer has handed himself a large assignment. He deserves full support in it from every organization and individual to whom the rights of free men in a democracy are important. As Meyer knows from experience, the responsibilities that go with those rights must be cultivated, or the rights themselves will be lost.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Stabilization? We Have It Everywhere

I would like to challenge strenuously some of the points raised by Mr. Winters in the April 20 letters to the editor column concerning the IRS scrutiny of private bank transactions.

I object to the implication that the U.S. monetary situation is unstable. The rate of inflation has been remarkably stable.

In regards to the little guy vs. big business, the President has made great efforts to influence the little guy. Look at food price stabilization, at tax stabilization, at Vietnam war stabilization. Furthermore I haven't heard of a single political contribution over $400,000 from a little guy.

Finally as regards requiring a foreign bank account for travel, you don't see Mr. Nixon resorting to foreign bank accounts when he travels outside the U.S.

I think if we all make more constructive use of our president's example everything will finally become perfectly clear despite the tricky going.

EOC Investigation Should Include Board

Your Saturday article on the misuse of EOC funds is most revealing, and a responsible journalistic service to Marin's taxpayers. However, the investigation should not be confined just to the employees of that organization, but should include the activities of the board of directors as well.

For instance, I had the White Panther Party commune as neighbors for almost two years, and their activities were periodically reported in your paper. The president of the EOC board of directors, Mr. Robert P. Simmons, is also a Corte Madera councilman and has expressed his sympathy and support of them with EOC funds. The fact that Mr. Simmons is some sort of bookkeeper makes the misplacing of these funds appear ludicrous enough, but his refusal to answer a certified letter I sent him regarding his statements gives the whole mess a new dimension of suspicion. . .

We Will Always Have Anti-Red Commitment

Readers have come to expect Detroit editor John Knight's warped Vietnam opinions reprinted regularlay in the IJ along with the daily anti-Nixon editorial cartoon. His tired analysis of April 15, as usual, conveniently leaves out many facts unfavorable to his advocacy of Communist appeasement. For example, he fails to mention that the Vietminh that fought the French included many non-Communist southerners and that these were disarmed by the communists in the closing stages of the war; that Ho Chih Minh ordered the wholesale liquidation of all non-Communists in the North that did not escape to the South. (The exchange of refugees incidentally favored the South about 8 to 1.) Partly because of these executions, it was obvious to non-Communist South Vietnamese by 1956 that Ho would not have to get many votes in the South to add to his 99 per cent in the North (the percentage Communists usually claim in "free elections") to win overall. Hence, no elections were held.

Knight cities a Cornell professor's ridiculous statement that the Geneva agreements did not leave two separate states. They were recognized diplomatically as separate states by other powers. And as for Knight's sneering reference to "dire predictions of a bloodbath" if the Communists conquered the South, one need only look at what happened during their occupation of Hue in 1968 to realize the truth of these predictions. Concluding that "we have fulfilled our 'commitment' if indeed we had any," Knight sides with the McGoverns, Humphreys, and Muskies who favor our ending all aid to South Vietnam while the USSR increases its flow of offensive arms to the northern aggressors. We will always have a commitment to support non-Communist victims of invasion and subversion as long as the Reds continue their expansionist policies. The alternative would be to face the type of world that Britain faced after the fall of France in 1940 — only without an ally like America to back us up.

Law Provides Curb On Water Shortage

As a concerned citizen, I appreciate your editorial (April 18), "Needless Confusion About Water Supply." You did an excellent job ot defusing warnings of a "water shortage."

The Marin Municipal Water District should now begin gaining public confidence by vigorously encouraging water conservation as a permanent practice-not as an interiv measure because of an "emergency" situation.

The Marin Municipal Water District and other utilities can easily abuse their power by helping create shortages which often force the public into accepting undesirable solutions (i.e. Sonoma-Marin aqueducts). Pacific Gas and Electric perpetually warns of an energy crisis and at the same time encourages customers to increase electrical consumption by buying new appliances.

In the case of water supply, we are protected by Section 356 of the State Water Code which authorizes water districts to limit new connections if a water shortage threatens. If there is any likelihood of rationing, present users are protected over the right of developers who want to make new hookups. This provision, if enforced, would never allow a water shortage to occur. Voters then would not face the spectre of dry faucets if they voted down an aqueduct.

The electorate is realizing that they do not have to subsidize unreasonable growth by providing new services (in this case, an expansion of water supply). This is illustrated by passage of initiatives against urban growth in Livermore and Pleasanton. If voters do want growth, they should be able to vote on bond issues without public agencies exerting illegal pressure tactics.

Mrs. Hoag Vs. Schools; Is Voucher Plan Answer?

By RUS WALTON

Barbara Jacqueline Hoag of Sacramento has taken on the education establishment. She refuses to send her two daughters, Sasha and Jamie, to public school.

It is no surprise that Mrs. Hoag was hauled into court and found guilty of violating California's compulsory education laws. I mean: the system is more important than what an individual parent thinks best for her children, itsn't it?

But Mrs. Hoag stands firm. She will appeal and the case will probably arrive at the doorstep of the state Supreme Court.

"Schools," says Mrs. Hoag, "are not fit places for kids to be. There is a clear and present danger to all children attending public schools. That danger is widespread drug usage and addiction. And, added to this is the danger of preadolescent sexual experimentation and promiscuity."

MRS. HOAG is no nut. She is a pleasant, quiet, self-educated black lady with an inner strength. She is not out to change the world, she is out to protect her children.

"Sending my two girls to public school today is synonymous with sending them out to play in 'Sunset Strip' or any city's red light district. With one exception: if I permitted my children to play in a red light district, I would be charged with neglect and with corrupting the morals of a minor.

"As a parent," asserts Barbara Hoag, "it is my duty and my obligation to protect my children from dangerous environs."

She says that the Sacramento Unified School District, and in particular the two schools where her daughters would be enrolled, stifle creativity. "I saw what they were doing to them. That's why I took them out."

MRS. HOAG believes in education, and in educating her children. Their father was graduated from Harvard, received his Ph.D from MIT and is a teacher at San Francisco State College.

"I'm all for education," she argues. "But, I intend to teach my children at home as long as the public schools remain the way they are."

State law says that is a no-no. It says that all children under the age of 16 must attend a school that is certified by the state — public or private. That is where the twigs will be bent.

Since Mrs. Hoag is hardly in the position to send her kids to a private school, she is attempting to bend her twigs at home.

This, she feels, is better that the "Look, Dick, See Jane" books which stifle creativity in the local public schools. She points to her 2-year-old son, Kenneth Hoag III, as an example of her own handiwork: he can already read and play the piano.

Her present husband, her third, will be graduated from Sacramento State College in June. He hopes to get a teaching credential so that, if his wife loses her battle, he can keep the children home and teach them himself.

When that day comes, I'll bet the establishment will tell Mr. Hoag that is a no-no, too.

THERE ARE THOUSANDS of parents who share Mrs. Hoag's apprehensions about what is happening in far too many schools, thousands who believe that if the state can compel them to send their offspring to public school, the state should at least be compelled to provide a safe, secure and somewhat enlightening atmosphere for the kids.

But few parents have the courage to do what Mrs. Hoag has done. And that is one of the reasons the schools got into such a mess, in the first place.

It seems to me Mrs. Hoag's case is one more argument for the educational voucher plan — under which she and other parents could "spend" their voucher at a school which meets their standards.

McGovern vs. Nixon Contest Would Offer Real Alternatives

WASHINGTON — Is the 1972 presidential election going to be a bland me-too campaign in which the oratory is sharp and the issues blurred?

Is this going to be a meaningless contest between an Establishment Democrat and an Establishment Republican which many voters feel will decide little or nothing?

If it is, it will be perilous for the democratic process because this is a time when the American voters are demanding an opportunity to affirm or change basic directions in national policy.

Don't forget that in '68, one of the widely visible automobile sticker slogans was: "Thank God Only One Can Be Elected.!"

Such a presidential confrontation just won't be good enough. That's the message of most voters in the Democratic primaries, so far.

What is imperatively needed is a contest between presidential candidates which will permit a meaningful decision, not just on personalities but on policy, purpose, priority and direction.

I AM NOT PRESUMING to say whom the Democrats will or should nominate. But by now it seems objectively evident which Democratic candidate would provide the most significant, decisive, consequential choice on basic issues in the November voting.

None of the Democratic candidates has offered as diametrically opposite positions to those the administration is pursuing as Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D.

A McGovern-Nixon confrontation would be something. It would not mean choosing to do a few things somewhat differently; it would mean doing everything radically differently.

If the message of most of the Democratic voters in the primaries is a demand for change, a protest against policies now prevailing, McGovern is the most thoroughgoing, believable advocate of change among the remaining Democratic hopefuls.

He is the antithesis of Nixon and he would certainly remain so if nominated.

He favors slashing the defense of the nation more than anyone else; at least by $33 billion. Nixon wants to see the United States remain militarily strong.

McGovern wants to withdraw America's military presence from nearly everywhere in the world, including Western Europe. Nixon doesn't.

McGovern is against any antiballistic defense, against any supersonic transport, against the space shuttle. Nixon favors all three.

Nixon wants to continue to help South Vietnam defend itself. McGovern wants to stop helping South Vietnam defend itself. Nixon was "outraged" by the massed invasion of Hanoi's army across the DMZ. McGovern was "outraged" by Nixon's decision to use air power to resist the invasion.

McGovern would carry the Nixon family assistance program to far higher levels of spending. He advocates a minimum guarantee of $4,000 a year for every family in the United States.

McGovern says that all the money needed to pay for the social programs he advocates can easily be obtained by higher taxes on the more affluent. Nixon thinks it can't.

IT SEEMS EVIDENT that McGovern is a most consistent, credible alternative to Nixon. He has been after the nomination for two years and he is expounding the same views now as he did at the beginning. He isn't shifting all over the ideological landscape. He has political staying power. The press generally, including myself, underestimated McGovern. The voters have now proved we were wrong.

George McGovern is an honest, honorable, compassionate man. He doesn't rant; he is tougher than he sounds.

It may be that the voice of protest and radical change is a minority voice among voters. It may be that the voters will want to confirm Nixon's basic policies and reject a sweeping substitution of radically different policy. We ought to find out. A McGovern-Nixon contest could be one way to find out.

Cheap Journalism's Darlings Have No Fear For Own Privacy

WASHINGTON — The justified outcries about invasion of privacy by the government, the insurance and credit companies and whoever else has the use of a computer or an electronic bug all take or a certain quaintness when you open any one of the "hot" magazines these days. Or drop into a newsstand or bookstore. Or just turn on the radio.

A stranger doing any of those things might assume that in 1972 Americans no longer have any concern at all for their privacy. They themselves are violating it voluntarily and wholesale, not just by posing innocently for the centerspread in Playboy or Cosmopolitan. Not using any cover-up, either photographically or in the form of phony names, they are both literally and literarily letting it all hang out for their neighbors and the world to see and read, using their right names and even addresses.

Life magazine, as the latest example, does a cover on marriage experiments. One story is about a collective where four men, three women and four children all play house. Another is about an unmarried couple with a year-old child. The mother is a lovely girl, literally a former homecoming queen. They seem happy without "that piece of paper."

WELL AND GOOD. It's a free country, and if two people want to live together that's their business. Go in peace, my children. But what dictates that the mother should pose for the phogographer nursing her baby? And what if the child, on growing up, has a more conventional view of things? How easy will it be for her to live with the record laid down by a four-page picture spread in a magazine which by latest available figures has a circulation of 8.5 million?

At that, the couple in Life shows more reticence than the heroes of other magazine exposes published lately. Jack Nicholson, star of "Five Easy Pieces" and other films, tells in a Playboy interview the details of all his real-life sexual problems. Cosmopolitan, which drew a lot of laughs by instituting the new institution of the foldout male nude, also runs the diary of a sexually lively reporter for another big-city publication. New York magazine prints the confessions of a Time editor who had difficulties in bed with his wife and ran off to Pago Pago. You will be encouraged to know the magazine merely uses excerpts: Unbelievably, there is still more detail in the castaway editor's book, entitled "A Letter to My Wife."

The list goes on. The New York Times prints a dignified first-person disclosure by a respected writer that he is and has been a homosexual all this time, without most people's suspecting. Late-night and early-morning radio talk shows, where the callers bat around their hang-ups with the eager hosts, enable lonely listeners to drop off to sleep with the assurance that somebody out there has problems worse than their own.

AND WHY NOT? After all, this is not the age of Victoria but of Aquarius. Maybe such confessions are good for both the soul and the body of the confessors. Maybe the actors and editors mentioned above are smarter than they seem at first non-blush; their published confessions may be more beneficial to them than a personal ad in the underground press, for it is well known that some women are irresistibly attracted to men with problems.

Maybe all this in print is a prolix epitaph for hypocrisy in human affairs. Everybody knows everybody either likes sex in some form or doesn't, and if everybody admits it to everybody else, that will make life at last as free and natural as the air used to be.

What all this is instead, however, is an updated confirmation of the old truism that cheap journalism drives out the good; that the slick magazines are having a hard time in competition with the wide-open pornography on the same newsstands, and of Mr. Agnew's favorite contention that most of tha intellectual mischief in the country is played east of 77 deg., 20 min. longitude and north of 38 deg., 50 min. latitude.

For current purposes, I will narrow that to Manhattan Island. For while the editors involved had to go to Massachusetts to find a photogenic and willing unmarried couple with child, and to Hollywood and Berkely and elsewhere for their other subjects, in most cases (Playboy excepted), the initiative to seek them out was taken right there along Madison Avenue, around Rockefeller Center, down in the Village, at a dozen or so favorite midtown waterholes.

IT IS CONCEIVABLE, of course, that those editorial decisions reflect what is really going on in the country. But more likely, they reflect a fairly inbred idea of what will sell magazines.

National Parks Loved Near Frazzle

By DAVID HOLMSTROM
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. — The U.S. National Park System, 100 years after its founding, is on the verge of being loved to a frazzle.

So many people are using and abusing unique parks such as Yosemite, Yellowstone, Lake Mead, and the Everglades that within the next decade visitors may:

1. Face a restriction on numbers that will require making reservations for visiting all parks.

2. Be forced to leave their cars at the park entrances and take alternate transport — bicycles, horses, even their own feet.

So that future generations will know how to get the most out of the parks without abusing them, park educational programs in schools may be as commonplace as basic reading courses.

Last year an understaffed, overworked National Park System — administering nearly 300 acres — staggered under the impact of 186 million visits as comapred with 121 million in 1965. Yet the park system receives less than one-tenth of one per cent of the national budget and has only 7,000 employees.

It struggles manfully to fulfill its purpose to preserve unique natural settings and at the same time provide access to these settings for all the people, who literally "own" the parks.

That takes much care and much innovation.

A hint of the future was seen in March, when Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton announced that "an experiment" to limit visitors will be conducted for the first time at three national parks. Specifically, the experiment will limit the number of backpackers going into the wilderness on foot.

A more comprehensive look at future parks policy was provided recently when more than 200 environmentalists, park officials, and citizens, gathered at Yosemite National Park under the auspices of the Conservation Foundation at a symposium.

Prompted by an invitation from the park service itself, the foundation had prepared five task-force reports dealing with the issues facing the parks. Task-force members spent five months visiting parks and formulating recommendations for action.

With Yosemite's breathtaking waterfalls and sheer canyon walls as backdrop, the discussions and meetings over the task-force reports resulted in general agreement that the unique features of parks must be preserved above all else, that citizens must be made aware of the uniqueness in order to enhance their encounters with parks, and that the park systems must be expanded, particularly in urban areas.

Several task forces wanted new emphasis on research to determine "the physical, ecological, and psychological carrying capacity" of every park. How many trails, roads, and other man-made influences can a park "absorb" and still retain its essence and uniqueness?

"When selecting a campsite becomes a matter of competition between several parties, the perception of wilderness vanishes," said the report.

Paradoxically, there's also a problem of nonuse:

In a discussion on "Who is not using the national parks and why? And what, if anything, should be done about it?" Doris Wilkerson, a sociology professor form Macalester College in Minnesota, siad that studies indicate that the national park users tend to be white suburbanites with better than a high school education and an average or better income.

In effect, low-income groups, including many blacks, seldom use the parks because they are too costly, too far away, and in general these people have a different concept of recreation or no concept at all of using park facilities.

In addition, while there are no statistics on the availability of parks to inner-city residents, only nine per cent of public recreation areas are located in urban areas, while 91 per cent are in nonurban areas.

One task-force report said: 'The urban park, by and large, is still being planned and designed for what is perceived to be recreational preferences and aesthetic tastes of middle- and upper-middle-class users."

One discussion group recommended that the National Park Service be given the responsibility of acquiring, planning, and developing a network of recreation areas within 50 miles of urban centers with more than 250,000 population. Other groups felt the park service should remain separate from federal agencies responsible for recreation in the sense of "play."

How to cope with the millions of automobiles that clog parks in the summer was a problem that was easily dealt with by reports and groups: Ban them, along with hotel-type accommodations inside park areas.

"The objective," said one report, "would be to make it easy for the visitor to exchange his car for alternate, unmechanized means of transportation, which do not dilute the pleasure of discovering a (wilderness) experience for one's self."

Bicycles, cross-country skis, horses, canoes, and feet were suggested.

Others, not as inclined toward such severe changes in national parks suggested use of shuttle buses, monorails, etc. One report suggested several public transportation demonstration projects to be tried at existing parks.

MOBILE HOMES

When Accidents Happen Prepare For Runaround

By MONTY HOYT
The Christian Science Monitor News Service
(Second of three articles)

CHICAGO — Nicholas de Carlo, a meat wholesaler from Chicago, had wanted to buy a mobile home for some vacation property he owned in Wisconsin for some time. Last Christmas he went out and bought a deluxe model, five-room home for $8,600 — complete with Spanish Mediterranean furnishings.

It lasted five weeks.

The family used the weekend home only twice before it burned to the ground. Fortunately, no one was in it at the time.

A thorough investigation did not pinpoint the cause, although it was suspected that the fire had started around the furnace. Neither the manufacturer nor the dealer would make any restitution, but at least the unit had been insured.

Undaunted, Di Carlo bought an exact replica with the insurance money, thinking that flukes do happen. This model home had early American decor; it lasted one day.

No sooner had the home been set up on the site and the gas installed, than an explosion took place in the furnace. This time a repairman was present installing a telephone and was able to put out the fire.

The gas company blamed the furnace manufacturer; the mobile-home maker and the dealer are blaming everybody else.

Although an extreme case, many other owners complain of warped interiors, sliced flooring, unfinished panels, exposed and unfinished surfaces, electrical shorts, and leaky roofs on new mobile homes that they cannot get repaired even though covered under the warranty.

In spite of the fact that most mobile homes now produced are made under minimum standards established by the American National Standards Institute, the growing number of complaints received by consumer groups and owners associations would indicate that the code is not rigidly enforced. The consumer dictum, "Buyers, beware!" is echoes on many fronts.

"The seal which goes on mobile homes (meeting the minimum standard) is really a farce," injects Mrs. Marge Dixon, secretary for the Michigan Mobile Homes Owners Asociation. "What good is it if you can't get a dealer or manufacturer to honor the warranty if something does go wrong with the home."

The code is not as effective as it should be," agrees Mrs. Jane Conrad, director of the consumer division of the American Mobile Home Association in Denver, "because there is not the necessary tie-in with dealers to carry out warranty work."

But only a handful of manufacturers are turning out "shoddy stuff," she insists.

Manufacturers, spurred by the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association (MHMA) and the Trailer Coach Association, whose members produce 70 per cent of all mobile homes, have been waging a campaign to get all states to accept the minimum standards for mobile homes.

"The industry has given this No. 1 priority," declares Lawrence Baron, legislative director of the MHMA.

The biggest drawback has been that standards are enforced by 14 association inspectors with no control over nonmember manufacturers, who may or may not build to the standard.

Another area of consumer concern, the question of potential fire hazards, has prompted a revision of codes in recent years to limit the danger. Two separate doors are now required on all models to facilitate escape, and units built since 1969 have to be finished with more fire-resistant materials.

The National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) estimates that there were 22,600 fires in mobile homes and trailers in 1970. The NFPA does not break down its statistics for mobile homes as a separate category, nor does it list the number of fatalities. (There are some three million mobile homes in the U.S.)

Comparable figures for one- and two-family homes, compiled by the national census on housing in 1970, show 547,000 fires out of 68 million homes, resulting in 6,500 fatalities.

Statistics carefully gathered by the State of Oregon indicate that mobile homes may be safer: In 1970, the state recorded one fire for every 145 one- and two-family homes, but only one for every 225 mobile homes and trailers.

George Tryon, the MFPA's representative on the national standards committee for mobile homes and recreational vehicles, maintains that there is nothing to indicate that mobile homes are more susceptible to fire than ordinary dwellings. The causes of fire are similar, he reports — primarily faults in heating and cooking equipment. Recently improved standards for interior finishes have greatly cut down the rapidity with which flames can spread in the event of fire, he reports.

However, Lowell Dodge, director of the Center for Auot Safety in Washington, D.C., disputes those assertions. "The incidence of fire may be about the same as conventional homes. But the fatality rate once a fire is started is higher," he claims.

"Fires in homes are usually contained in one room," he argues, whereas a fire in a mobile unit is likely to consume the whole structure.

As for thecomplaint that owners can't find reliable servicing after a sale, retailers argue that consumers have built-in guarantee — marketplace competition among more than 5,000 dealers. But some recommend that buyers be careful to select a dealer with an adequate service department.

"The buyer has to look to the dealer to see that he gets the value he feels he should have," maintains Edward De Young, past president of the Manufactured Housing Associaiton of America, an association of dealers and park operators.

"Dealers are constantly on the firing line.If they have unhappy customers, they lose on future sales," he concludes.
